Reds Smash Into Mozhaisk; British Seize Burma Premier

BATTLE RAGES IN STREETS FOR NAZI KEY POINT

Soldiers Fight Amid Spreading Flames.

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 [Monday]—(AP).—Red army forces hurling Adolf Hitler's legions back along the Napoleonic 1812 road of retreat have fought their way into Mozhaisk, highwater mark of the German advance upon Moscow from the west, the army newspaper Red Star announced today.

Bitter hand-to-hand street fighting was reported in progress thru lanes livid with the flames spreading over the entire city.

Mozhaisk, 57 miles southwest of Moscow, has been the last German strongpoint on the Moscow front to hold out against the great soviet offensive. Some 100,000 Nazis were concentrated there.

Just how many of these troops would be able to escape was problematical for giant Red army pincers have been steadily closing in north and south of Mozhaisk.

Smolensk 170 Miles Away.

They must either fight it out there or fall back some 170 miles along the main Minsk-Moscow highway to Smolensk, where suitable defense positions are available. Vyazma is 70 miles west of Mozhaisk.

[Hitler is reported to have established his headquarters at Smolensk in his efforts to direct a successful digging in of the German forces.]

"The break thru of the enemy defense lines in one of the important directions of the front is completely successful," the Red Star correspondent on the Moscow front said. "Our troops are widening the gap and pursuing retreating German units. In two days our troops liberated from the Fascists 142 populated localities."

The Russian offensive charged on along all fronts, Red Star said, and the Red army troops smashed their way to the center of another large town, dislodging German troops methodically. Polotnyany-Zavod was among the towns reoccupied on the Moscow front.

Leave 1,900 Dead in Two Sectors.

Three battlefields west and northwest of Moscow were left littered with burned-out German tanks, tractors, mortars, guns, and trucks.

In guerrilla action along the coast of the Sea of Azov, a German train loaded with trucks, tanks, and munitions was declared to have been wrecked in the neighborhood of Melitopol, 200 miles west of Rostov on the main railway which feeds the Crimea. At least five carloads of shells were exploded, and many of the tanks and trucks were wrecked, the communique said. Guerrillas in the Crimea were said to have killed 1,800 Germans.

New Assaults on Kharkov.

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Dispatches quoting Russian sources today said the Red army had battered its way to Vereya, 13 miles southwest of Mozhaisk, launched new assaults on Kharkov in the Ukraine, fought its way into the suburbs of Orel and punctured German defenses at one point in the Leningrad sector.

The soviet drive to Vereya, which represented a flanking thrust from the south and rear of Mozhaisk, as well as several of the other developments along the entire Russian front, were reported in dispatches from Stockholm quoting Russian sources there.

Take 15 Red Pillboxes.

BERLIN, Jan. 18 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—An attack by élite guard shock troopers near Leningrad in which 15 Red army pillboxes and positions were destroyed, some weapons captured, and heavy casualties inflicted on soviet forces was the only offensive action by German forces on the eastern front reported today in a lengthy high command communique.

It related successful resistance, however, to a Russian onslaught before Sevastopol, in the Crimea, and declared that Russian attacks on the central and northern sectors also were repulsed and, in some cases, answered with counterthrusts.

Norfolk Base Believes Some Sailors Saved

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 18 (AP).—The public relations office of the Norfolk naval operating base announced tonight that a merchant ship had been torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic coast.

The name of the craft, the location of the sinking, and time of the torpedoing were not made public. It was believed by navy officials that some of the crew of the craft had been rescued.

This is the third torpedoing off the United States east coast in five days. The first two ships were tankers. One was sunk Wednesday and the second Thursday.

[The Panamanian tanker Norness was torpedoed off Long Island on Jan. 14 and all but two of its 40 crewmen were rescued. A second ship, the Coimbra, flying the allied flag, was sunk by torpedo in this same general vicinity but the number of survivors has not been disclosed.]

31 Sailors Perish in Attack.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 18 (AP).—A Panamanian freighter was torpedoed in the western Atlantic and survivors, including two Americans, who reached here today said enemy submarines were "almost as thick as catfish" in the waters where they were attacked. Only 7 of the 37 members of the crew arrived on a Canadian rescue ship and one of them died shortly afterward.

Among the survivors were W. J. Finch of New York and Philip Wold of Portland, Me. They said that 12 crewmen perished in their lifeboat which tossed in heavy seas for three days. All the survivors were injured or frostbitten and were hospitalized.

Fire a Second Torpedo.

A torpedo was fired into the ship about 4 a. m. and about 10 minutes later, when the boats had pulled away, a second torpedo struck her and "she went down like a rock."

Survivors said they saw a light on the submarine as they drifted around and signalled it with a flare hoping it would give them some aid.

"They fired a torpedo at us. I heard the swish and saw its wake. It just missed our bow," Wold said.

Finch said that each night they were adrift they saw U-boats within a couple of hundred yards.

Russian Sailors Rescued.

Thirty-four crew members, three of them women, from a Russian merchant vessel sunk in an accident off the coast of Nova Scotia were landed here recently after having been adrift in lifeboats for a period which the captain said was "quite some while." Eleven were taken to a hospital suffering from frostbite, exposure, and injuries.

The accident, described by authorities as a "marine casualty," happened 30 miles from here. The ship was believed to have hit an obstruction. As far as is known, no lives were lost.

The three women, none of whom required hospitalization, attracted particular attention in this port, already host to a dozen or more nationalities as haven for allied seamen.

It was the first time most persons here had seen women sailors of the Russian merchant navy.

Find Carole Lombard Body in Plane Wreck

Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 18 (AP).—The bodies of nine persons, including that of Actress Carole Lombard, among the 22 who were killed Friday night in the crash of a giant air liner against a cliff 35 miles southwest of here, were brought to Las Vegas tonight.

A coroner's jury held that Miss Lombard had died of injuries received in the "crash of a TWA liner en route from Las Vegas to Los Angeles, near Double or Nothing mountain." Her body lay near the plane and was badly burned.

Deputy Coroner Jack Larry earlier had said that the body of Miss Lombard's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Peters, had been identified and brought here, but a check with dental records from Hollywood proved the identification erroneous. It appeared the body erroneously identified was that of Mrs. Lois Hamilton of Lincoln Park, Mich.

Identification of Stewardess Alice Getz was described as positive.

Carole Identified by Hair.

A wisp of blonde hair and check of dental records identified Miss Lombard. The inquest was held so her body could be sent to Glendale, Cal., for burial, but officials indicated this action now would be delayed until her mother's body is identified.

Fifty persons were able to reach the scene of the crash over steep and rocky trails, to find wreckage strewn over a wide area.

Twenty enlisted men under command of Lieuts. W. B. Hunt and S. R. Keddington of the army air corps prepared for at least a two day effort to remove the bodies.

Gable at Las Vegas.

Miss Lombard's grief stricken husband, Clark Gable, who flew here upon learning of the crash, attempted to join the rescue party, but was dissuaded by friends.

Otto Winkler, Miss Lombard's press representative, was one of the victims of the crash. Others killed were 15 army flyers on their way to new assignments in the west, and the the plane's pilot and co-pilot, Capt. Wayne Williams of Reseda, Cal., and Morgan A. Gillette of Los Angeles, Cal.

Special Features

The Tribune today presents these special features:

1. On the back page a painting by James M. Sessions of the Japanese surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. The picture is reproduced in full color from an original in water color, the medium in which Mr. Sessions, a widely known Chicago artist, specializes.

2. On page 4 the first article of a new series by Gail Compton, Tribune agricultural editor, on war gardens—how to lay one out, what to grow in it, how to plant it, and care for it.

3. On page 8 the first pictures of the airplane crash in which Carole Lombard and 21 others died.

U.S. TROOPS IN LUZON BEAT OFF NEW JAP DRIVE

Stop Many Attacks; Down 4 Planes.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—American-Filipino defenders of the Philippines, the war department reported today, have beaten off Japanese assaults in a two day battle, recaptured some positions in counteroffensive skirmishes, and shot down four more enemy planes.

Advising of these successes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said a costly toll had been exacted from the Japanese in each attack and enemy pressure had now lessened.

In yesterday's communique, the war department had reported a hammering enemy offensive, accompanied by heavy bombing and artillery fire, against the right flank of MacArthur's army.

Flank Attack Fails.

Today's news was taken to mean that complete failure had been the result of this attempt to roll back the American-Filipino wing and perhaps cut off defenders from possible eventual withdrawal down the Bataan peninsula to Corregidor, the island fortress at the mouth of Manila bay.

That this attack had forced back the defenders to some extent was indicated by MacArthur's advice that "several sharp skirmishes to reëstablish our positions were successful."

The communique said:

"Enemy pressure on American and Philippine positions in the Bataan peninsula has lessened. Combat operations which have been very active for the last two days have largely subsided. Repeated enemy thrusts have been parried. Several sharp skirmishes to reëstablish our positions were successful. Four hostile planes were shot down by our troops during the past 24 hours.

"Troops Are Now Veterans."

"In his message to the war department Gen. MacArthur warmly praised the troops under his command for their courage and determination. Six weeks of hard fighting have made veterans of the soldiers of the Philippine army. Their training in the difficult school of actual combat and their battle experience have steadied them and developed their initiative and resourcefulness. They exact a costly toll from each Japanese attack.

"Gen. MacArthur reports that all governmental functions in the occupied areas of the Philippines have been taken over by the Japanese. Commonwealth offices have been closed and Filipino judges have been directed not to try cases. Rigid military rule by the invading army has been substituted for the self-government formerly enjoyed by the people of the Philippines."

Turkey Begins Rationing Bread in Several Areas

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 18.—Bread rationing began in Istanbul, Ankara, and the Turkish provinces today. Manual laborers are to receive about 24 ounces of brown bread daily, while professional and office workers will receive about 13 ounces. Children are entitled to about 7 ounces a day.

WHAT'S A FIRE CHIEF WITHOUT A CHIEF'S UNIFORM?

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 18.—Sweden's new garment rationing system has caused Oscar Haggstrom, fire chief of Kungalv, to resign the post he has held for 25 years.

Haggstrom asked the town board to buy him a new uniform, but after a stormy meeting, the officials rejected his request. The fire chief reminded the town he had not missed a fire since he took office, and the municipality had provided him with only two overcoats, wherefore he thought his modest request for a new uniform should be granted.

Kungalv is now without a fire chief, as no member of the volunteer organization is willing to use his clothing ration card to buy the chief a uniform.

HERE'S DIGEST OF NEWS FROM ALL BATTLE FRONTS

American-Filipino defenders of the Philippines not only held their own yesterday—they regained a little of the ground they had lost.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's troops, Washington reported, halted a two day Japanese offensive against their right wing which might have cut off any possibility of ultimate withdrawal down the Bataan peninsula to the island fortress of Corregidor in Manila bay. In addition, they counterattacked successfully in "several sharp skirmishes" to reëstablish lost positions and shot down four more enemy planes.

Slow Up Japs in Malaya.

In Malay a stiffer British defense was slowing up the Japanese drive toward Singapore. A new enemy attack was launched east of Gemas, a midpeninsula city 110 miles north of Singapore, while in the Muar river area on Malacca strait, 90 miles above the British base, invaders admittedly had put the jungles behind them. Mechanized units now can be used more effectively. Japanese bombs fired an oil depot in Singapore.

Continued aerial assaults upon the Dutch East Indies led officials to expect new enemy landing attempts in the Japanese drive to flank the key Island of Java.

Reds Seize Mozhaisk.

In Russia Red army forces were reported to have fought their way into Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow. The entire city was said to be in flames. Mozhaisk, which Russian troops had by-passed on either side, was the farthest key point reached by the Germans in their drive along the main Minsk-Smolensk-Moscow road. Around it 100,000 German troops were concentrated. The Germans claimed to have taken 15 pillboxes on the Leningrad front.

Sea war also took its toll. A merchant ship was torpedoed off the Atlantic coast, an announcement from Norfolk, Va., said. Survivors reaching a Canadian port said 31 out of 37 crewmen were lost in the torpedoing of a Panamanian vessel, somewhere off Canada in the North Atlantic.

Berlin claimed U-boats had sunk four merchant ships totaling 21,000 tons in an Atlantic convoy and destroyed an enemy submarine in the Arctic.

In Africa the RAF still harassed German forces in the El Agheila area.

U SAW ACCUSED OF PLOT TO GIVE LAND TO JAPS

(Picture on page 8.)

U Saw.

A brief announcement from No. 10 Downing street, official residence of Prime Minister Churchill, indicated the British may have nipped an attempt by the bland, skirt wearing Burmese premier to stage a coup d'état and deliver the far eastern bastion with its 14,000,000 people into the hands of the Japanese.

Recent Visitor to England.

U Saw departed from Britain in a huff early in November after what he called a "blunt" interview with Churchill over dominion status for his country.

"From reports received about U Saw's movements after his good will mission to this country it has come to the knowledge of his majesty's government that he has been in contact with Japanese authorities since the outbreak of the Japanese war," the British announcement said.

"This fact has been confirmed by his own admission," the statement added. "His majesty's government accordingly has been compelled to detain him and it will not be possible to permit him to return to Burma."

Whereabouts Kept Secret.

The statement did not say where U Saw was arrested or where his contact with the Japanese took place.

He went from London to Washington, D. C., where he called upon President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull, presumably relative to his demands for a British promise of dominion status for Burma "in accordance with the provisions of the [Roosevelt-Churchill] Atlantic charter." He last was reported in Hawaii, but some London sources say he returned to America after the bombing of Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

After conferring here with Churchill and L. S. Amery, secretary for India, U Saw said his trip "was not satisfactory and not commensurate with the amount of risk I have taken in coming to England."

"We would rather trust the devil we know than the devil we don't," he added.

Brought Gifts; Said He Got None.

U Saw brought presents for Churchill on his London visit but upon departing said:

"When I get back to Burma I shall have to say that Britain has nothing to give you."

Burma, formerly a province of the Indian empire, as constituted since the annexation of upper Burma in 1886 comprises the British territory of upper and lower Burma, the extensive native states known as the Federated Shan states, and Karenni, as well as several tracts of unadministered territory in the more remote parts.

Lower Burma corresponds to the area acquired by the British India government in the two wars of 1826 and 1852, while upper Burma is the former independent kingdom of Burma, annexed on Jan. 1, 1886.

Its importance in the present war lies chiefly in its position as a possible starting place for a flank attack upon the Japanese beating down thru Malaya and as the starting point for the Burma road, supply lifeline for the central Chinese forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Japs Already in Burma.

The Japanese already have made several air raids on British bases in Burma—the "Kipling country"—and have started a land drive in the strategic Tenasserim region between the sea of Adaman and the Thailand borders.

Pitched fighting has developed at Myitta, a village about 25 miles due east of Tavoy and about halfway to the Thai border, 140 miles from Bangkok, capital of Japanese-dominated Thailand.

STIFFER BRITISH DEFENSE SLOWS JAPS IN MALAYA

Enemy Planes Fire Navy Oil at Singapore.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 18 (AP).—Striking with unabated fury behind air attacks which have dealt Singapore its heaviest blow so far, Japanese attackers pressed still closer to this far eastern defense bulwark today. Apparently, however, they were able only to inch ahead against Britain's stiffening defense.

With seeming disregard of the cost, Japanese bombing squadrons roared back at Singapore again today and British headquarters acknowledged they had scored several hits on an oil depot in the naval base area, sowing fires some of which still were blazing when the communique was issued.

Foes Locked in Battle.

The air blow was the sharpest development of the day as constantly reinforced, tank-led Japanese grappled with Britain's augmented defenders in the brewing battle for the southern tip of the Malay peninsula.

An artillery-prepared enemy attack was launched yesterday east of Gemas, the midpeninsula point about 110 miles north of Singapore, and "fighting is still in progress," the war bulletin announced.

One report said that between 800 and 1,000 Japanese—more than at first believed—were killed in their initial encounter with Australian forces on that front.

[A British broadcast heard in New York speculated that persistent Japanese pressure at Gemas indicated that the invaders' next major goal was Kluang, in the heart of Johore state, a bare 55 miles from Singapore and strategically important as the crossroads of the east-west, coast-to-coast highway and the north-south railroad which runs thru Gemas to Singapore.]

British Bombers Strafe Japs.

British bombers, stepping up their assaults on Japanese lines of supply and reënforcement, renewed their heavy attacks at Gemas and on the Muar river, on whose south bank the Japanese have won a foothold, the communique announced.

At Gemas, it said, many freight cars appeared to have caught fire in a heavy bombing attack on railroad yards and motor vehicles were damaged in aerial machine gun attacks on surrounding roads.

"Other aircraft bombed and machine gunned barges laden with supplies in the Muar river," it added.

In the Muar area, near the mouth of the river on Malacca strait about 90 miles from Singapore, the British conceded that the Japanese had gained but gave no details and said only that they had made but "little further progress."

Eight enemy tanks were destroyed, the war bulletin said, and belief grew that the Japanese, having pushed thru the Malayan jungles to the open country in the southern part of the peninsula were now throwing more and more armored forces into the push toward the approaches to Singapore island.

"Fire Foes' Headquarters"—Japs.

TOKIO, Jan. 18 (Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press).—Headquarters of the British far eastern command at Singapore was set to blazing fiercely in a heavy bombing by two waves of Japanese planes today, imperial headquarters announced. Fifteen British aircraft, including four large Sunderland flying boats and 11 fighting planes, were reported destroyed on the ground.

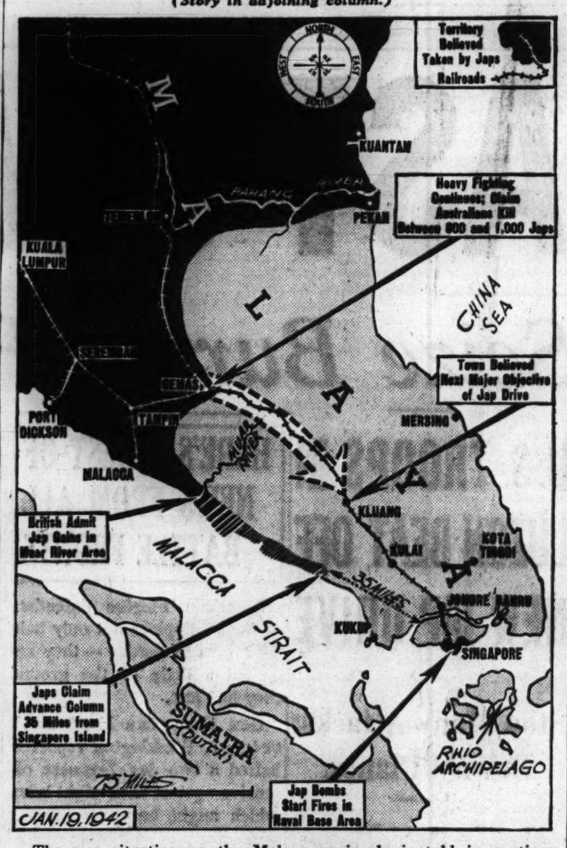
[A Domei broadcast said a mechanized column was within 35 miles of Singapore Island.]

U. S. Aid of Churchill Flies to Canada for Talk

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 18 (AP).—Field Marshal Sir John Greer Dill, Prime Minister Churchill's military representative in the United States, arrived in Ottawa by air today from Washington for conferences with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and defense officials.

British Defense Slows Japs in Malaya

(Story in adjoining column.)



The war situation on the Malaya peninsula is told in captions, which are based on last night's dispatches. The British defenders of Singapore were reported to be slowing the Japanese southward march.

JAPAN REPORTS ARRIVAL OF WAKE ISLAND PRISONERS

Wisconsin Commander on List of 1,235.

TOKIO, Jan. 18 (Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press).—The second group of United States prisoners of war, 1,235 men from the garrison of Wake Island, reached Yokohama today.

Showing little signs of ordeal except overgrown beards and soiled uniforms, the men all indicated they were more worried about the concern of their families back home than about themselves.

The prisoners included Winfred Cunningham, commander of the United States forces on Wake Island, and Nathan Daniel Teters, civilian in charge of 1,050 defense employés on the island.

In Charge Only 25 Days.

Commander Cunningham, from Wisconsin, was in command of his post only 25 days after his arrival from Honolulu Nov. 28.

[The navy department at Washington said it could not confirm the Tokio statement that Commander Cunningham was at Wake. The navy register lists a Commander Winfield Scott Cunningham of Wisconsin. A previous navy department announcement named Maj. James P. S. Devereux as the commander of the garrison which withstood a 15 day siege until Dec. 23. The Berlin radio, broadcasting a report from Tokio, said prisoners taken recently in the Philippines included Franz Weissblatt, United Press correspondent. The United Press in New York said Weissblatt had not been heard from since the fall of Manila Jan. 2.]

The party consisted of 30 officers who wore their uniforms, 423 noncommissioned officers and enlisted naval men, and 782 civilians, most of whom had been employed in defense construction projects.

Many of the prisoners said they were glad to be interviewed in English as they had had difficulty in communicating with the ship's crew during the voyage. Most of them had been allowed to bring their bags containing personal effects.

The first group of American prisoners, 442 persons captured at Guam, arrived at Shikoku Island last Thursday.

Lieut. Com. E. B. Greey, former civil engineer of Princeton, N. J., who was among the prisoners arriving from Wake, said "the war came so suddenly I still can't believe it."

Talked with Jap Envoy.

The youngest prisoner among the naval personnel was Robert J. Mackie, second class seaman from Coleraine, Minn.

Teters, chief of construction, recalled that he chatted with the Japanese special envoy, Saburo Kurusu, when the latter was on his way to Washington before the war started.

GEN. WAVELL SCORNS COVER AS JAP FLYERS 'DIVE BOMB' HIS AUTO

SINGAPORE, Jan. 18 (AP).—Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, supreme commander for the united nations in the southwest Pacific war zone, got a first hand slant on Japanese dive bombing when he visited the Malayan fronts recently before establishing his headquarters in Java.

An announcement of the visit to Malaya, issued by the ministry of information, said that Wavell's car was jacked up for a tire change when the dive bombers attacked.

But Wavell refused to take cover and told escorting officers, "I understand you've been getting a good bit of this recently." He declined a lift from a passing press car, saying he would wait until his own car was repaired.

AN AUSSIE TELLS HOW AIF HALTED JAPS IN MALAYA

Yellow Tricksters Find Foe Is Cannier.

BY SERGT. IAN FITCHETT.
[Official Correspondent with the Australian Imperial Force.]

WITH THE AIF ON THE MALAYAN FRONT, Jan. 17 [Delayed] [Australian Associated Press to Associated Press].—Japanese forces, as expected, are trying to harass newly arrived Australian defenders by flank attacks.

Small Japanese parties succeeded in making coastal landings yesterday but precautions have been taken to make sure that the enemy won't get away with more landing attempts in this district.

In fact, the move of the enemy did not take us unawares and the "Aussies" already have wiped out several Japanese landing parties in the jungle.

The troops from Victoria, who are especially trained in jungle fighting, did good work in these clashes.

The Japanese tried their now familiar tactics of slinking down the coast in inconspicuous barges but the British air force did a good job of destroying many of these craft at sea.

Beat Off Enemy Landing.

At one point where a landing attempt was made AIF gunners dropped their guns right down to the beach, destroyed several enemy craft and dispersed the rest.

The enemy again resorted to the treacherous trick of dressing up his landing troops as natives. But our men were well warned of these tactics and were not taken in.

On the main front direct contact has not been made with the main body of the enemy since Friday night. The Japanese barely had time to draw a breath after the initial blow dealt them by the AIF before the Australian bombers repeated their relentless attacks, bombing many miles of roads jammed with enemy columns.

The results of Wednesday's ambush have now been revealed and they are even more disastrous to the enemy than was first thought. Low flying allied fighters reported that the roads for considerable distance are packed with dead.

Ambushers Return Safely.

Many men at first feared missing from the Australian ambushing party have rejoined their unit after perilous trips back thru enemy held territory.

Among them was a company commander who had made the dangerous trip back together with his men. He described the whole thing today as "a soldier's dream" and said his men alone had killed 600 Japanese. Once when they blew up a bridge they saw 30 Japs go sky high.

A soldier who spent the last few days pitching hand grenades into advance pockets of Japanese troops and following them up with bare steel explained the virtues of the bayonet to me this way:

"My old man always said a bayonet was no good except for opening tins, and he went all thru the last war. But he should have been with us and seen how good it was. We got into them good and proper and I can't say I remember much about it, except that it made me feel pretty good. I reckon that was the way with the rest of the company by the way my pals were yelling all the time."

An officer attests this enthusiasm for fighting. He said he encountered a truck driver with a severe arm wound who insisted upon going back into action.

"I thought he was going to swing on me with his one good arm when I ordered him to the rear," the officer said.

DUTCH FEAR NEW JAP LANDINGS TO FLANK JAVA

Incessant Air Raids Seen as Prelude.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Jan. 18 (AP).—Japan's air force fanned out to attack air and naval bases over a span of 2,200 miles in the Netherlands East Indies archipelago, the Dutch announced today, possibly as a prelude to attempts at seizure of vantage points from which to flank the key island of Java.

The severest of the raids were aimed at Sumatra, the long western wing of the Dutch East Indies which extends along Malacca straits, opposite Malaya and Singapore, and which might offer subsidiary bases from which to attack that British naval base.

Blast Sumatra Airdrome.

Seven Japanese bombers blasted at an airdrome in central Sumatra for an hour Saturday morning, killing some people and injuring 30. While some damage was caused, today's communique said, further details were awaited concerning the attack.

This bombing followed two other raids on Friday against Medan, near the northeastern tip of the island. The first attack on this small town which is a center of the Dutch wrapper tobacco industry, was about noon on Friday, and the second just before 4 p. m. Thirteen bombers came over on the second raid and dropped eight explosives on the golf club. No casualties were reported. It was Medan which the Japanese made their objective in their first thrust at Sumatra several days ago.

Amboina Raided Again.

Amboina, the Dutch island naval and air station northeast of Java and between the Celebes and New Guinea, also was paid another visit by Japanese bombers.

Attacked almost daily for several days, Amboina experienced several air raid alarms today. During one of these four bombers came over the town. They were said to have caused no casualties or damage, however.

Amboina, a 262 square mile island with a population of about 40,000 is in the heart of the Dutch East Indies. It is about 1,500 miles from Batavia and only about 600 miles from Darwin, port and defense station in northern Australia.

"Amboina Occupied"—Berlin.

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—A German broadcast, heard in London today, said the Japanese already had landed at Amboina, and occupied the port and capital "after overcoming brief resistance."

BENNY CALLS OFF RADIO SHOW TO HONOR LOMBARD

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18 (AP).—The show didn't go on for Jack Benny tonight. The comedian who recently appeared with Carole Lombard in the film, "To Be or Not to Be," canceled his radio program out of respect to the actress, killed with 21 other persons in the crash of an air liner near Las Vegas, Nev., Friday night.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR.

BRITISH OFFICIAL TELLS OF ESCAPE UNDER FIRE OF JAPS AT HONGKONG

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 18 (AP).—Britain's gallant garrison at Hongkong fought until it was blind and feeble from exhaustion, an official who escaped just before the crown colony fell to the Japanese said today.

David MacDougall, representative of the ministry of information, said: "I saw 17 men returning from the front line and they were barely able to stand. They were led up to the shelters like blind men."

MacDougall during his perilous escape passed the Japanese headquarters. He said his small boat was sunk by the Japanese, but he and several others swam to a rock and were picked up by a British torpedo boat. MacDougall was wounded.

FIGHT WITH JAP BOMBERS TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

Anti-Aircraft Unit Routs Raider Squadron.

[The following is the first eyewitness account of the epic battle which Gen. Douglas MacArthur's American and Filipino forces are waging for control of Manila bay in the mountainous Bataan peninsula where they have held out for more than two weeks. It is the second dispatch received from Associated Press Correspondent Clark Lee since two days before the fall of Manila on Jan. 2. His first, on Jan. 9, told of the escape to Corregidor of five young American soldiers from southern Luzon, where they had been encircled.]

BY CLARK LEE.

WITH THE 60TH UNITED STATES COAST ARTILLERY ON BATAAN PENINSULA, P. I., Jan. 16 [Delayed] (AP).—The day starts early for the crack anti-aircraft units of the United States armed forces of the far east.

The sun has been up less than 40 minutes when the radiophone in the dugout beneath us crackles.

"Flash, flash, six planes flying from the China sea just above the lower layer of clouds."

Another Outpost Reports.

The motors are now audible.

The second report had come from another of the outposts which ring vital American positions in this area. Corp. Clarence Graham directs the operations of the rangefinder in a quiet voice.

This instrument, together with another which Lieut. L. Peterie operates a few feet away, gives complete data to the gunners, making their work almost automatic. The instruments do everything except tell the enemy pilot's name.

Just as Corp. Graham calls out "on the target!" we see the planes.

They are flying single file and plunge thru the bottom layer of clouds into the clear. They are out of range of our big guns.

Capt. Abston takes over.

"Flash, flash, flash," he says, putting in an extra flash. "Six Japanese dive bombers flying certain direction at 1,850 yards altitude. Leading three diving. Two others flying straight ahead. One winging toward us."

He speaks rapidly in a tone of controled excitement.

Machine Guns Open Fire.

This battery has set a world anti-aircraft record for number of planes downed per number of rounds fired, the officer says. It has shot down a total of 12 and is after its 13th.

In front of us three Japanese planes go into a shallow 45 degree dive, and we hear a series of heavy "whoomphs" as the bombs hit.

The sixth plane is diving straight for us now, too close for the big guns. Capt. Abston grabs the inter-battery phone.

"Machine guns open fire," he orders.

But everybody is too interested to think of safety.

Jap Dumps His Bombs.

Golden tracer fire streaks past the Japanese pilot, and he quickly changes his mind, dumps his entire load of bombs at random, and reaches for the safety of the clouds as the bullets tickle his tail.

The Japanese give us time for an uninterrupted breakfast, but immediately afterward they are back again. A low flying observation plane slips by and Capt. Abston decides to "give him a few, just to keep our hands in."

At his order, "Open fire! . . . [So many] rounds only," we crouch behind the sandbags watching the plane.

The big guns crack, and the shells scream skyward.

Shrapnel in His Tail.

The first shell bursts within 50 yards of the plane, and the pilot does not tarry to do more observing. He has seen enough. He dives sharply and streaks for home.

Says I. MacDaniels, air corps first lieutenant, attached to the battery as an observer: "He's sure as hell got some shrapnel to pick out of his tail."

This battery got one Japanese plane yesterday for sure, and probably another. The confirmed hit blew the plane into infinitesimal pieces.

These anti-aircraftsmen actually pray for enemy planes to come, partly because of the fun of shooting them down, mostly because every plane destroyed is one less to harass the USAFFE [United States Army Forces in the Far East] ground forces.

They realize that pending the arrival of American airplanes, anti-aircraft is the USAFFE's sole means of defense against air attack.

All morning long we get alerts. Once it is a twin engined, twin tailed bomber on an observation mission. Usually the planes are single motored, two seated 97 dive bombers. One of the latter comes close enough for our battery to fire, but another battery opens simultaneously and the pilot dives out of range. So Capt. Abston orders ours to cease fire.

"Quit Wasting Those Shells."

Lieut. J. D. Kwiatkowski reluctantly records the number of rounds fired and gives his mates a friendly bawling out.

"Quit wasting those shells. Think of our average. If you keep missing it will be back to the infantry for you."

All except the observers take shelter from the midmorning sun in the dugout, where we swap the names of our home towns.

Capt. Abston is from Tuscaloosa, Ala., Kwiatkowski from Pittsburgh, Peterie from Kinsley, Kas., MacDaniels from Jackson, N. C., Verdi from Netcong, N. J., Wheeler from Comstock Park, Mich., Wright from Montrose, Minn., Rio from New Britain, Conn., Graham from Lincoln, Neb.

Capt. Abston explains that the remarkable score of anti-aircraft is "90 per cent information, 10 per cent in using information.

Many Motors Heard.

"We are just part of a smooth working anti-aircraft defense organization which supplies us information. We happen to be in a good spot to get a crack at the Japanese."

As he talks he keeps looking at his watch and wondering where "Tojo's big ones" are.

A Promise Is Kept.

Thruout the afternoon Japanese planes fly in the general vicinity, but the big bombers do not appear.

As I leave the post, the gunners extract a promise to revisit them "when something's really popping."

In farewell they call out, "Keep 'em flying," and I reply with the anti-aircraft gunner's slogan, "Keep 'em falling."

They grin, "We sure will."

POSTSCRIPT: WITH THE USAFFE ON LUZON ISLAND, Jan. 17 [Delayed] (AP).—They kept their promise. The official report just received said a Japanese dive bomber plunged in flames a few minutes ago. Capt. Abston's battery downed it with less than a score of shots.

LEPERS' COLONY OFF PHILIPPINES NEAR STARVATION

New York, Jan. 18 [Special].—Lying in Japanese controled waters off the Philippines, the Culion Island leper colony faces starvation because of the war, a cablegram to Dr. Perry Burgess, president of the American Leprosy Foundation, revealed today.

Signed by Dr. H. Windsor Wade, director of the foundation's laboratories on Culion, the message laid careful stress on the limited food supplies there and gave the present population as 6,300—6,000 of them patients and the rest staff members and attendants.

Dr. Burgess said the Japanese government had been asked, via the Swiss government, to buy rice and ship it to Culion. No reply has been received altho the request was made a week ago.

BRITISH EXPECT HOT PARLIAMENT DEBATE ON WAR

Hear Churchill Checks on Own Ministers.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—A debate, lasting two or three sittings and covering the entire conduct of the war will follow Prime Minister Winston Churchill's forthcoming speech in the house of commons, when it reassembles, in the course of which he will review his Washington, D. C., visit, it was learned tonight.

Within a few hours of his arrival in London Saturday afternoon, the prime minister was at work. What amounted to a full cabinet meeting was held Saturday night, and thruout Sunday Churchill was constantly in touch with his colleagues.

Inquiry Is Expected.

Editorial comment in early Monday morning newspapers indicates that Churchill has decided to institute a thoro investigation to determine whether the incompetence of his ministers is responsible for the persistent demand voiced by members of parliament, the press, and the public that changes be effected, or whether the charges are the result of inescapable setbacks caused by the lack of war materials.

Commenting particularly on the reverses in the western Pacific, the Daily Mail states:

"A great deal that happened in Malaya is giving rise to the greatest uneasiness. We look to Churchill for assurance that every resource needed for the defense of Singapore shall immediately and unreservedly be supplied."

Declares Churchill Is Worried.

The Daily Mirror asserts that "Churchill is gravely worried by the situation he has found upon his return," and finds justification for this statement in the fact that the prime minister will undertake a complete investigation before reaching a final decision on outstanding issues.

The Daily Herald's political correspondent, on the other hand, forecasts that some "front rank defense supply and diplomatic officials will be transferred to other posts under new plans for unifying allied war organization."

Intense Activity Noted.

This reshuffle, he intimates, is the first outcome of "intense around the clock activity" which has followed Churchill's return.

With regard to any major changes in the cabinet which the prime minister may make, it may be recalled that War Minister David Margesson was the only cabinet minister who did not meet Churchill on his arrival in Britain.

According to Commander J. C. Kelly Rogers, his pilot, Churchill had taken over the controls during part of his journey over the Atlantic from Bermuda and the United States.

Coast Guard 'Recruit'

Coast Guardsman John Summers with Lucky, new "recruit" and mascot of the Jackson park coast guard station.

The Jackson park coast guard station has a new recruit—Lucky, a female German shepherd dog. A week ago she was rescued from an ice floe in the lake by Stanley Jakuczun, seaman first class, and since then she's adopted the entire crew of the station. Lucky's owner, if he appears, must furnish ironclad proof of ownership, according to Jakuczun.

BRITAIN DENIES DECISION TO END GREEK EMBARGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Reports from Ankara, Turkey, of a British decision to lift the food embargo against Greece were premature, an official of the ministry of economic warfare said today. "We do not know what the decision will be," he added.

Last week, the minister of economic warfare, Hugh Dalton, admitted that as a result of a special appeal by leading Greeks here the government was considering lifting the embargo. But he warned that to do so would establish a dangerous precedent; would violate all principles of economic warfare; and would be impractical, owing to the lack of shipping.

He said that when a similar appeal on behalf of the Belgians was rejected, Germany was forced to feed Belgium, and is able also to feed Greece.

'Union Now' Council Urges Its Program on Churchill

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill will receive a message from the Federal Union National council [union now] expressing the hope his talks in Washington will lead to a constitutional union between the Union States and Britain, it was made known today. Action taken by Greece and Jugo-Slavia and between the Czechs and Poles indicate some form of union among the free peoples of Europe "would not be difficult to achieve," it was said.

Report Norway Educator Gets Month in Dark Cell

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 18.—The Oslo, Norway, correspondent of the Svensktageblatte reports that the chancellor of the Norwegian university, Prof. Dr. Friedrich Seip, who is confined in the Grini concentration camp, has been sentenced to one month's confinement in a darkened cell on a bread and water diet, for an offense committed in the camp.

BRITISH AIR STUDENT DIES IN CRASH.

AMERICAN ARMY TO CALL CITIZENS OF ALLIED LANDS

British and Dutch Among Those Affected.

Citizens of Great Britain, the Netherlands, and other nations allied with the United States in the war against the axis will be called to serve in the American armed forces unless they are entitled to deferment, Col. Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, announced yesterday in a sweeping change of selective service regulations.

Col. Armstrong.

The order, he said, applies to those who have made no effort to acquire American citizenship as well as to those who have already declared their intention to become citizens.

Under certain conditions nationals of neutral countries also are liable to serve in the American army, he said.

Must Share Responsibility.

Col. Armstrong said the new regulation was a "wise and fair revision of regulations because subjects of our allied nations and neutral countries are now enjoying the liberties and advantages of America and have just as much at stake in our ultimate victory."

"They must now share the responsibility of attaining that victory," he said.

"In particular," he continued, "I never could see the fairness of allowing exemption to the subjects of our cobelligerent nations just because they happen to live here when both our citizens and those of their own native countries are making every possible sacrifice and effort to maintain the democratic way of life."

Subjects of Enemy Countries.

Class 4-C, formerly open to aliens who had not declared their intention of becoming American citizens, now will be confined only to subjects of enemy countries and to subjects of neutral nations who forever waive their rights to become American citizens.

"As far as the latter are concerned I confidently expect very few neutral aliens to forego permanently the great privileges and advantages of ultimate American citizenship just so they can shirk their responsibility in helping to reëstablish world peace," Col. Armstrong said.

"Not only would such action on their part be looked upon with the utmost of scorn, but it might even debar them from future possibility of earning their living here or even remaining in this country after the war is over."

MAINTAIN COAL SUPPLY, HOME OWNERS URGED

Charles P. Thompson, president of the Chicago Coal Merchants' association, warned Chicagoans yesterday they should build up and maintain an adequate supply of coal for home use. The warning was given to emphasize a similar admonition to all citizens recently by Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Thompson said no coal shortage is likely, but the demands of defense industries may hamper transportation facilities despite the excellent job the railroads and trucking concerns are doing.

He urged home owners to order more coal when they still have 20 to 30 days' supply. Chicago coal merchants have supplies adequate for 40 days of subzero weather, he said.

3 Axis Nations Sign Pact for Operation Against Foes

BERLIN, Jan. 18 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—A military agreement among Germany, Italy, and Japan was signed in Berlin today, laying down guiding lines for joint operation against those nations' common enemies, it was announced officially. The agreement was signed for Germany by Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of German forces; for Italy by an authorized delegate from the chief of the Italian high command, and for Japan by delegates of the Japanese chiefs of general staff and admiralty.

How to make a WAR GARDEN

BY GAIL COMPTON.

A few ounces of seed, a patch of land in the back yard or nearby vacant lot, and a little spare time can be turned into a vital contribution to the American war effort.

Food will be an invaluable weapon in the war and will help to write the peace that follows. Tens of thousands of city dwellers, suburbanites, and farmers can do their part to help produce that food. The government is urging the cultivation of war gardens everywhere so that the nation can build and maintain its vital reserve of food.

Wartime conditions may make it difficult to ship fresh vegetables, and city people have been urged to produce as much of their own food as they can.

Health Essential for Victory.

Physical well being is one of the nation's first lines of battle. To build and sustain that health requires proper food habits and the greater use of foods which will increase the intake of vitamins and essential minerals.

This can be achieved thru a carefully planned home vegetable garden that will produce enough vegetables to supply the family during the growing season and enough in excess to store for winter use.

Altho there is a scarcity of some vegetable seeds, especially in large commercial quantities, there still is an adequate supply of packet seeds to meet the demands of the home gardener. The cost is low and the crisp, palatable vegetables that finally come to the table will be an ample reward for a little time expended in the mornings and evenings to a war garden.

Daylight Time to Ease Work.

Daylight saving this summer will make it possible for the home owner to devote more time to his garden. Under the act recently passed by congress the amateur gardener will be able to do the work in leisurely fashion after the evening meal. Thus the care of the vegetable patch can be accomplished without interference with the other pursuits of the day.

Unless, however, the garden is intelligently planned and properly worked, the time expended, the money spent, and the waste of fertilizer and seed will become a hindrance rather than an aid to the war program.

A war garden is not a difficult undertaking, but the responsibility should not be accepted lightly. Rightly done it becomes an impressive contribution to the nation within the reach of every one.

[In a series of articles to follow, directions will be given as to selecting a garden spot, choosing the vegetables, treating the soil, laying out the garden, planting, and harvesting, and other information needed to make a war garden.]

NO SUPPRESSION OF WAR FACTS, SAYS U. S. CENSOR

Byron Price to Urge Full Publication.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 [Special].—A promise that newspapers will not only be allowed, but urged, to keep all important war facts before the public was made today by Byron Price, director of censorship. He spoke over a University of Chicago round table, broadcast from the capital, along with two other Chicago experts.

"One of the greatest dangers," said Price, "is that overzealous public officials may make unreasonable requests for the suppression of information. We have requested newspapers and radio stations to refer such requests to us.

Not Dealing in Propaganda.

"We are not dealing in propaganda. We are not telling the newspapers what to print or the radio stations what to broadcast. We originate no news. No one has suggested that we suppress criticism."

Price added, in answer to a question about enforcement, "I assume that the department of justice, which is supposed to do the enforcing, will carry out the provisions of the espionage act, if ever that becomes necessary."

Tells Confidence in Price.

Harold Lasswell, former University of Chicago researcher now director of the war communications research project of the Library of Congress, said:

"I feel that the present censorship will be more successful than the last; partly because Byron Price is biased against censorship enough to be entrusted with the job."

The third speaker was William Benton, vice president of the University of Chicago.

Two Diplomats Expelled by French Honor Legion

VICHY, France, Jan. 18.—Alexis Leger, former secretary general of the French foreign office now in Washington, D. C., and Pierre Comert, former attaché for the Anglo-American press in Paris, who is believed to be in London, have been expelled from the French Legion of Honor, it was disclosed today.

U. S. NEEDS 8 MILLION UNDER ARMS TO WIN WAR, TYDINGS ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], a veteran of the World war, predicted today the United States must have more than 8 million men in the army and the navy before it can hope for victory.

"Barring unforseen events, we must prepare for a war of a least two years, and maybe much longer," he said. "A war that will cost hundreds of billions of dollars, that will transform our economy completely from peace to war—a hard war of tears, toil, blood, sweat, and heroic sacrifice."

Sen. Tydings, who rose from private to lieutenant colonel during the World war, said he believed that "before the end of this year American troops will be engaged in all six continents of the earth." He said the army "eventually will number 6 million men, with 1 million in the air corps alone. We shall have 2 million more in the navy and marine corps. To produce this equipment, train the men, and transport them to the fighting fronts is a matter not of months but of years, before victory is certain."

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson has disclosed plans to increase the army to 3,600,000 men.

U. S. War Entry Enhances Allied Prestige in Near East

JERUSALEM, Jan. 18 (AP).—The United States entry into the war has greatly enhanced allied prestige in the middle and near east, Sir Walter Monckton, British middle east propaganda chief, said today. "The people know that America has done much humane work in the middle east and has no political ambitions here," Sir Walter said in an interview. "America has given much to the near east and has taken nothing."

2 MORE ITALIAN GENERALS TAKEN IN HELLFIRE PASS

79 in British Hands After African Campaigns.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 18 (AP).—Two tired and bedraggled Italian generals and a German major still proudly wearing his iron cross were among the 5,500 captives taken by British imperial and allied forces at Halfaya [Hellfire] Pass, it was announced today in a communique.

Large quantities of war material, including guns of all calibers, also went to the victors after the strategic and strongly fortified Libyan-Egyptian border bastion was surrendered unconditionally.

The British identified the Italians as Gen. Fedele de Georgis, commander of the axis garrison, and Gen. Francisco Buttafuoco, second in command of the 55th Savona division.

Begin Trip to Nile Camp.

The captures brought to 79 the number of Italian generals now in British hands. In the first Libyan drive under Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, 23 were reported taken; 53 were seized in the East African conquests, and three were taken in the present campaign.

The German and Italian soldiers who surrendered in Halfaya pass began the trip to the Nile valley today from war prisoner stockades at Sollum.

Many were in bad condition as they trudged out of the pass to the flat coastal strip at Sollum yesterday afternoon because of the week of heavy shelling from land and sea and the almost continuous air bombing which they had undergone. Some collapsed from delayed shellshock on the short march to Sollum.

The prisoners said the shortage of food, water, and ammunition led to the decision to surrender.

Clear Communications Line.

The fall of Halfaya Pass opened an unbroken communications line to the main imperial forces harrying the axis army of German Gen. Erwin Rommel 300 miles to the west near El Agheila at the base of the Gulf of Sirte.

There the principal German and Italian forces, aided by heavy sandstorms and hard rains, have dug in awaiting the British assault. Action there has been limited to patrol skirmishes and aerial combats for the past few days. But now, with the fall of the Halfaya garrison, a large imperial force is released to reinforce the drive of annihilation against Rommel.

The RAF kept up its harrassing tactics in the El Agheila region yesterday, bombing communication lines and strafing enemy personnel.

MALTA IS BOMBED AGAIN.

The German air force, continuing its daily assaults on Malta, scored hits on harbor facilities and airdromes, an axis communique said.

German submarines were credited by the Nazi high command with destroying a British destroyer off the North African coast east of Sollum and with scoring three torpedo hits on vessels in convoy.

BRITISH SEE DARK INTRIGUE BACK OF REICHENAU DEATH

Believe German Army May Have Had a Hand.

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Sinister intrigue behind the back of Adolf Hitler caused the death of Field Marshal Gen. Walter von Reichenau, the British press reasoned today with unanimous skepticism of the Nazi announcement that he died of apoplexy.

The evidence, of course, was circumstantial, but newspapers offered three principal arguments to support their contention that Von Reichenau died at the hands of his fellow officers, probably in a violent outburst of dissension between the Nazi Fuehrer and his war command. They were:

1. Von Reichenau's reputation as Hitler's most pro-Nazi general.
2. The background of dismissal and sudden illness among the Germans' top generals.
3. Von Reichenau's singular physical fitness, a matter he made almost a fetish.

Trained with Noted Boxer.

The apoplexy diagnosis was looked on with particular suspicion by many British writers because Von Reichenau was known to have kept himself always in peak condition, even working out at the front with Walter Neusel, the former German heavyweight boxer.

Some took the view that Von Reichenau was eliminated as an open challenge by the army to Hitler. This supposition was based on the report that he was being considered by the Nazis as commander in chief of the army despite the opposition of strong, influential elements in it.

Finally, his death following the death of Gen. Ernst Udet, the dismissal of Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, whose place Hitler himself took as commander in chief of the army, and rumors that other generals had been ousted from their commands or had begged off further service, the press contended, should leave no doubt of heat between the Nazis and the army leaders.

The Von Brauchitsch Case.

Newspapers recalled that Von Brauchitsch quit because of heart trouble, according to his own account, but—by Hitler's—was relieved so that the Fuehrer could exercise his own "intuitive" powers.

They reviewed rumors that such key commanders on the Russian front as Field Marshal Generals Ritter von Leeb, Fedor von Bock, and Gerd von Rundstedt had sought to be relieved, among others of only slightly lesser rank including the tank warfare ace, General Heinz Guderian.

A British radio reported that General Heinrich von Stuelpnagel had been relieved of his post as leader of the 17th German army, now fighting the Ukraine.]

"MOVED" BY THE GESTAPO?

A Moscow broadcast recorded by the Associated Press went further than the British on Von Reichenau and said that well informed sources in Stockholm believed that he was "removed" by agents of Heinrich Himmler, Nazi gestapo [secret police] chief.

Sentence 5 'Quislings' to Death; Property Seized

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Jan. 17 (AP)—[Dead.]—Five Russian "Quislings" who acted as mayors of villages under German occupation have been sentenced to death, it was announced today. Their property also was confiscated. The men were taken after the villages were recaptured.

CRIPPS ASSERTS GERMANS HAVE LOST INITIATIVE

MOSCOW, Jan. 18 (AP).—A farewell message from Sir Stafford Cripps, retiring British ambassador to Moscow, published today by the government newspaper Izvestia, declares that the Germans have "lost the initiative and we must never allow them to regain it."

"The alliance between our two great countries must be made firmer and stronger yet so that together we may accomplish the task so well begun," the message says, adding:

"We must strike now wherever we can. The British army is playing its part in Libya where the Germans and their Fascist servants are recoiling before our advancing troops. We must give them no rest, no time to reform their armies, no chance to strike in some other theater of war."

NAZI BOMBER DOWNED BY BRITISH DESTROYER IN ATTACK ON CONVOY

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—A twin-engined German bomber which unsuccessfully attacked a British convoy in the North sea yesterday was shot down in flames by the destroyer Walpole, Lieut. Comm. J. H. Eaden, commanding, the admiralty said today. There were no casualties or damage either to the convoy or its escorts.

Bombers raided Bremen, Emden, and other places in northwest Germany last night in a repetition of recent raids on those cities, the air ministry announced today. It said three British planes were missing after the night's assaults. [The Berlin radio said there were some civilian casualties and that two British planes were shot down.]

HEAR REDS WILL LET 25,000 POLES FIGHT IN AFRICA

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 18 (AP).—Josef Stalin has agreed to let 25,000 Poles of military age leave soviet Russia to join Polish forces fighting under the British middle east command, it was learned authoritatively here tonight. They will be drawn in part from the new Polish army under Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, commander in chief of Polish forces in Russia. These forces are made up chiefly of Polish soldiers taken prisoner by the Red army in the soviet invasion of eastern Poland at the start of the war.

NELSON'S TASK: RAW MATERIALS AND PRODUCTION

Works on Organization to Provide Both.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Donald M. Nelson, the newly created war production dictator, put in 18 hours today charting an organization to man the arsenal of democracy for the greatest manufacturing job ever tackled by the mind and hand of man.

The plan, so far as he has developed it, involves a sweeping reorganization of the arms production agencies of the Roosevelt administration, the failure of which to produce the goods impelled the President to delegate the vast undertaking to one man with unlimited power to get the implements of war needed to defeat the axis.

Nelson Is Confident.

The program to which Nelson is addressing his endeavors involves the outlay of an additional 70 billion dollars in the next 18 months. Since July 1, 1940, about 74½ billions have been appropriated for defense. Of this amount 20 billions remain to be allocated on munitions contracts during the current fiscal year ending June 30, next. In the next fiscal year the President's program calls for the expenditure of more than 50 billions. The fiscal 1944 expenditure may touch 60 billions.

Nelson is possessed of unbounded confidence that the stupendous job assigned to him by the President can be done. In conferences since his appointment he has expressed the view that the whole problem resolves itself into these factors:

1. Getting the raw materials from which the implements of war are made.

2. Getting full capacity production of arms by industry.

Tools Are Major Problem.

Nelson is building an organization which will concentrate on these two objectives. William S. Knudsen, who will be appointed a lieutenant general by President Roosevelt tomorrow, will have a prominent rôle in that part of the organization devoted to speeding up industrial production, particularly that of the automotive factories, which are being converted to war work.

A major phase of Nelson's problem is that of getting the tools to make the arms. Thousands of factories lack tools that would enable them to qualify for arms contracts. A large proportion of such factories are little business concerns that are being forced to shut down because of the shortage of raw materials allowed for production of articles for civilian use. Yet, many machine tool makers that could supply these concerns with tools are operating less than 12 hours a day.

Ways to All-Out Production.

Likewise, hundreds of companies holding arms contracts are operating only one shift a day. Nelson aims to get all factories into operation on a 24 hour day, seven days a week. Plants now operating one shift either will receive orders tripling their present contracts or be required to complete their jobs in one third the allotted time.

How to achieve all-out production was discussed in Theodore Granik's American Forum of the Air, broadcast by the Mutual Broadcasting System tonight.

R. E. Gillmor, president of the Sperry Gyroscope company, and director of the National Association of Manufacturers, said that attainment of the objective will entail temporary relinquishment of a portion of our freedom.

Specialization Needed.

"This may mean," he explained, "that small shops will have to be grouped together to provide balanced facilities for some item of production. It may even mean that their tools will have to be purchased and transferred to plants where skilled management and engineering can use them. The more skilled and better managed organizations will be obliged to undertake the most difficult production, leaving the simpler items to those capable performing them.

"It is probable that the limiting factor will be machine tools. Factories are highly specialized institutions, designed to produce a single line of products. The conversion to war production is comparable to making a stomach surgeon out of a dental surgeon—it requires new knowledge, new training, and new tools. The machine tool industries may have to specialize more than they are now doing, and many heavy product industries may have to be converted to produce machine tools.

"The United States employment service provides an excellent organization for obtaining inventory of available and potential manpower, as well as an organized means for testing aptitudes, matching aptitudes to tasks, and the assignment of men and women to pre-employment training. When the matching of manpower to task is completed, it will probably be found that millions of men and women who have never been inside a factory will have to be trained for war production. Industrial conscription may have to be accepted as readily as we accepted military conscription. We will probably come to a work week of six days of three shifts each leaving the seventh day for bottlenecks and repairs."

Labor Surt Pledged.

Robert J. Watt pledged Nelson support of the American Federation of Labor of which he is international representative, to his great undertaking. He urged management-labor committees to execute the nationally determined policies, to make recommendations as to future production policies.

On behalf of the CIO, Richard T. Frankensteen of the United Automobile Workers urged that labor be given a voice in the policies and techniques of production. For the fiasco of war production up to date he blamed failure of the government to adopt the Reuther plan for conversion of the automobile manufacturing industry to war work.

Their Pennies Buy Bonds for Defense

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Harry Benstein, 12, and his brother, Bobby, 15 months old, as they exchanged $37.50 pennies, nickels, and dimes for defense bonds in Tribune Tower yesterday.

Sales Total $2,204

Defense bond and stamp sales yesterday at the Tribune Public Service office in Tribune Tower amounted to $2,204.65, a near record in Sunday bond selling. Among the buyers was 12 year old Harry Benstein, 3851 Schubert avenue, who brought in a jug full of pennies, nickels, and dimes, totaling $37.50, with which he bought two defense bonds. He was accompanied by his brother, Bobby, 15 months old.

WINKLER SEES NAZI BOMBING ATTACK ON U. S.

Newark, O., Jan. 18 (AP).—Hitler will attack the United States as soon as weather permits, Ernest Winkler, former German youth leader, asserted today.

Addressing a regional labor and educational conference here, Winkler, who claimed he recently escaped from a German concentration camp, declared Hitler was preparing to send bombers across the Atlantic.

"When the attacks come there will be 20 bombers at a time," he said. "Each will manned by a crew of eight—all expert saboteurs.

"Hitler expects that half of the 20 will be shot down. The crews of the remaining will have orders to land and work damage from within the country. They will speak perfect English and will be difficult to detect them," he warned.

Hear U. Staff in Hungary Heads ome Thru France

PALESTINE CAN SERVE FLEETS, SAYS ADMIRAL

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18 (AP).—Palestine was described today by Adm. Yates Stirling Jr., former chief of staff of the United States fleet, as a land well supplied with bases and skilled technicians to serve allied naval and air fleets attacking the axis.

Adm. Stirling told 1,200 delegates to the United Palestine Appeal conference, which ended its two day session tonight, that Palestine "is the only country in the eastern Mediterranean where there are technical scientists and skilled labor in sufficient quantity to make a real contribution to the naval as well as to the requirements of the land forces."

It is not inconceivable that one of the major offensives into Hitler's Europe can be undertaken by troops which have had their starting point in Palestine," Adm. Stirling commented.

Dr. Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland was reëlected national chairman of the United Palestine Appeal for a fifth term.

THREE ARE KILLED AS ARMY BOMBER CRASHES IN LAKE

Orlando, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Two officers and an enlisted man were killed today when their army medium bomber crashed into an isolated sector of Lake Apopka, near here. The victims were listed by the Orlando army air base as:

Second Lieut. William T. Gardner, 24, of Detroit.

Second Lieut. Walter C. Isley, 24, of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Private 1st Class John R. Parish of Charleston, S. C.

The bomber crashed into the lake 300 feet from shore and sank. A salvage party traveled thru an isolated region to reach the wreckage and recover the bodies. Navy divers began operations to raise the craft.

The crash marked the first fatal accident involving planes stationed at the local air base. Col. Thomas S. Voss, commandant, said cause of the accident was undetermined and appointed a board of inquiry.

Axis Aids Quit Colombia Tomorrow En Route Home

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 18.—The ministers and staffs of the German, Japanese, and Italian legations will leave by train tomorrow for Buenaventura to board a ship to New York. Their exchange for Colombian diplomats and consuls to the axis powers will be effected in Portugal.

ADD THINGS U. S. MAY DO WITHOUT: SUGAR, CARROTS

Wickard Says Former May Be Sent Abroad.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard said in a radio broadcast tonight the United States faced a shortage of sugar, fats, and oils by the end of 1942.

"The sugar situation is perhaps the most critical," Wickard said, "because ordinarily we produce only about a third of our national requirements, and we depend on Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico for much of our supply."

Must Share Sugar Supply.

Increased Cuban production and sugar from South and Central America might help the situation, the secretary of agriculture said, adding:

"But out of the large Cuban crop, some of the sugar is being used to make industrial alcohol. Furthermore, we must share the sugar with others of the united nations. So, without our usual amounts of sugar from the Philippines and Hawaii, there just won't be enough sugar for our usual consumption."

Wickard said there was a large enough supply of fats and oils on hand "to meet our needs for a year if we get only our ordinary production. But by 1943, unless we produce more fats and oils at home, our total supply may grow short."

More Peanuts Sought.

To make up any possible shortage, Wickard said farmers were being asked "to increase their production of peanuts for oil by 2½ times and their acreage of soy beans by 50 per cent over last year."

Wickard said he believed the United States would "continue to have plenty of health giving food, so far as the total supply is concerned.

"But now we are one of the 26 united nations whose resources for winning the war are to be shared, and placed wherever there is need. We don't know how many people we shall be called on to feed outside the borders of the United States. Neither do we know how great the difficulties in the way of increasing our farm production may become, thru shortages of rubber, steel, fertilizer, and so on, but farmers and the processors and handlers of farm products are going to do their level best to meet the goals for higher production in 1942."

Melons and Carrots, Too.

Bellair, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Leaders in the nation's fruit and vegetable industry agreed today that the average American may have to do without such luxury foods as melons during the war because of shortages in labor and shipping facilities.

Delegates to the convention of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association believed, tho, that there will not be a great rise in staple fruit and vegetable prices unless production and transportation costs force them or unless some unforeseen demand far exceeds the supply.

O. D. Miller, a vegetable producer from Phoenix, Ariz., said he expected curtailment of production of luxury vegetables—those which have little food value—and vegetables used mainly for garnishment because the available labor supply will have to be used for growing staple crops.

Carrots May Be Affected.

"We may also have to produce less of some staple crops, such as carrots, which require a great amount of labor," he said.

Palmer C. Mendelson of San Francisco, a member of the association's advisory council, said he saw no reason for price control in the fruit and vegetable industry because the perishable nature of the food makes it impossible to hoard.

"Any permanent price advance would be due to a very definite shortage of vegetables," which he said was unlikely because there are now many producing areas in all parts of the nation that could get their products if one area's crop failed.

Is your advertising too weak for the sales job today?

* When you can have MORE, Why take LESS?

You sell more at lower advertising cost with the Tribune

WITH the Tribune as your basic medium, you get at one low cost the full-market selling impact which produces response from every neighborhood and suburb of Chicago.

Daily and Sunday, the Tribune delivers in excess of 1,000,000 total net paid circulation. This is 545,000 more total circulation on weekdays than any other Chicago daily newspaper delivers—and more than any two other Chicago daily newspapers combined. On Sundays, the Tribune has 290,000 more than the second Chicago Sunday newspaper delivers and 760,000 more than the third Sunday newspaper.

Right in metropolitan Chicago, the Tribune on weekdays has 385,000 more circulation than the next Chicago daily newspaper. On Sundays, the Tribune delivers 355,000 more circulation in Chicago and suburbs than the second Chicago Sunday newspaper delivers and 440,000 more than the third Sunday newspaper—more, in fact, than any two other Chicago Sunday newspapers combined.

The Tribune is the only newspaper with circulation volume equivalent to majority coverage of all the families in metropolitan Chicago. Build your advertising program around the Tribune and you make the most of today's sales opportunities. Rates per 100,000 circulation are among the lowest in America.

* WHEN YOU CAN HAVE MORE, WHY TAKE LESS?

The great size of the Chicago market and the opportunities it offers invite the full-market coverage delivered by the Tribune. There is no need to pass up your full share of today's sales when you can get it by making the Tribune the spearhead of your drive.

19 LATIN NATIONS FIRM FOR BREAK WITH THE AXIS

Bring Pressure on Chile and Argentina.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 18 (AP).—Nineteen new world nations favoring a complete rupture of relations with the axis brought strong pressure today on Argentina and Chile to get these two remaining American republics lined up in a solid, 100 per cent western hemisphere front.

The 19 nation front held its lines firm over the week-end, with Brazil in particular taking a strong stand behind the United States and bringing much influence to bear upon Argentina, so far hesitant to break with the axis, and upon Chile, reported wavering because of internal dissension.

The week-end pressure coupled with Brazil's firm line brought a prediction that Argentina must turn from her isolationist stand and go all the way in supporting the rupture-of-relations proposal now before the Pan-American conference of foreign ministers.

Argentine Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guizanu held a significant series of conferences late today, first with President Getulio Vargas of Brazil, then with Sumner Welles, United States undersecretary of state and chief of the Washington delegation here, and finally with Juan Bautista Rosetti, Chilean foreign minister.

Vargas Backs His Envoy.

1. President Getulio Vargas of Brazil was reported strongly backing the drive of his foreign minister, Oswaldo Aranha, to get Argentina into the fold.

2. Diplomats worked to obtain a definite basis for an immediate settlement of the boundary dispute between Peru and Ecuador.

3. Chile was described as being "hopelessly confused." This nation's final action was expected to turn on a division within the delegation, on Argentina's final action, and upon Chile's internal political situation.

No Defection Likely.

4. The 19 nation front backing a complete rupture of relations with the axis holds firmly together, and its leaders are confident that there will be no defection.

The conference delegates spent the afternoon at the fashionable jockey club, but renewed their discussions with intense interest in the assertions Argentina's acting president, Ramon S. Castillo, made at Buenos Aires last night.

Castillo said Argentina was prepared to impose rigid restrictions on axis nationals to prevent sabotage of the American war effort, and he said the Argentine general staff was studying the possibility of using Argentine naval forces on convoy duty.

Test May Come Today.

Among delegates of countries which have broken with the axis there were hints that some move might be made at a committee session Monday to attempt to force a test of strength on the rupture resolution. Such a test might come in the form of resisting efforts to postpone the deadline for publication of the official projects, which is set for Monday night.

Uruguayan Foreign Minister Alberto Guani told the Associated Press he would propose to the conference that Great Britain be considered a nonbelligerent by the American nations. He said he expected his proposal would be approved.

Brazil's full support for the active effort toward a rupture of relations was the high spot of today's conferences. Leaders described Aranha as a "tower of strength."

Hopkins in Navy Hospital for Physical Checkup

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 [Special].—Harry L. Hopkins, Presidential confidant, is in the naval hospital for a checkup. Rear Adm. Ross T. McIntire, President Roosevelt's physician, said that Hopkins had been in the hospital for several weeks prior to the war and that this was the first opportunity since to test his condition.

CHICAGO SAILOR, WOUNDED, COMES HOME FOR REST

Chicago's first casualty of the Pearl Harbor disaster came home last night for a nine day rest "so I'll be fit again for another crack at those Japs."

Sporting a wide grin and limping from shrapnel wounds in his right leg, Signalman Third Class Walter L. Dienes, 21 years old, stepped from the Pacific Limited at the Chicago and North Western station amid shouts of welcome from his parents, four sisters, two brothers, his grandparents and dozens of uncles, aunts, and cousins.

Mayor Helps Welcome Him.

Mayor Kelly and James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, joined the happy relatives at the homecoming.

"Gosh, I'm glad to be home," the blond young sailor said as he embraced his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Dienes, of 1634 Bryn Mawr avenue. "But I want to get back at those Japs. I want another crack at 'em. We're all fighting mad!"

Young Dienes said he rushed to his battle station aboard a warship anchored at Pearl Harbor when the alarm came.

"My job was to load an anti-aircraft gun," he said. "We were too excited to be scared. I wasn't there very long before a bomb hit the deck a few yards away. I got it in the leg.

"I didn't feel any sensation. It was like somebody just came up and knocked me down. I got up again as another plane began machine gunning us. A bullet grazed my left leg. I was out of action before I got started.

Leg Aches a Little.

"I feel pretty good now, but my leg aches a little. They took the shrapnel out of it at Mare Island, San Francisco, a few days ago. The navy took good care of me and I'll be ready to start out again soon.

"I've got nine days at home, and I don't want to waste a minute. Let's get going."

The youth's brother, Robert, 14 years old, spied him first thru a window of the train.

"Here he is, Mama," he screamed and the rest of the family dashed to the coach—his parents, his other brother, Thomas, 2, sisters Florence, Lorraine, Vida Lou, Patricia, and all the relatives.

Dienes joined the naval reserve after he was graduated from Lane Technical High school in 1937 and reported to active duty 14 months ago. He was stationed at Pearl Harbor a year. Until he requested active duty, Dienes was a baker's assistant. Dienes' father is an instructor of physical education at St. Gregory's High school.

TAVERN CUSTOMERS ROBBED.
Two bandits who entered the Blue Lantern tavern early yesterday at Ridge and Volbrecht roads, in Thornton township, robbed the owner, Kate Myers, of $293 and took $75 from 25 customers before they fled.

Local Funds Sought

Facilities of the state's public health and welfare departments will be made available to correct physical defects of men rejected for army service, Gov. Green declared yesterday at a meeting of 15 representatives of the departments and medical and dental groups in the Union League club.

He explained, however, that township supervisors and county commissioners first would be asked to afford correction for the physically defective men. If no funds or facilities are available to the local governments, the state then will offer its services, Gov. Green said.

"Our program is a state service to assist the federal government in obtaining more men for the enlarged army," he continued. "We want to make it possible for rejected men who want to serve in the armed forces to do so."

GANDHI PERMITS HIS FOLLOWERS TO DECIDE POLICY

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 18 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi declared today that "my resistance to war does not carry me to the point of thwarting those who wish to take part in it." Gandhi resigned last week as leader of the All-India [nationalist] party.

His remarks appeared in a signed article in the first issue of his English weekly, Harijan, which reappeared today after many months of voluntary suspension.

"I reason with them, I put before them a better way and leave it to them to make the choice," Gandhi wrote.

BUTTONHOLING GOES BUSILY ON AT RIO MEETING

Every Delegate Trying to 'Sell' His Ideas.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan 18.—The internal work of the Pan-American conference, now in session here, is similar to what goes on behind the scenes during a session of congress in Washington, D. C. The professional lobbyist is absent, but buttonholers of various delegations are working overtime trying to sell their ideas to others.

The general atmosphere is that of a high spirit of coöperation and genuine cordiality. Oswaldo de Freitas Valle Aranha, Brazilian foreign minister and president of the conference, is at his best, and does not miss even the smallest opportunity of making use of his diplomatic tact to further stimulate the sentiments of his Pan-American colleagues.

The main preoccupation of all the representatives of the American nations is to find a means to conciliate the points of view so far advanced. Fifty resolutions have already been introduced, and more suggestions will be presented Monday morning.

Ask British Naval Aid.

Foreign Minister Juan B. Rossetti, of Chile, who has won great respect as a result of his speech at the inaugural session of the conference, is apparently getting the moral support of a few countries for his proposal that a status of nonbelligerency to be adopted as a substitute for the severance of relations with the axis powers.

The imperative need of keeping free the Atlantic sea routes has been the major topic, and it is reported that a group of delegates contacted Sir Charles Noel, British ambassador in Rio de Janeiro, as to the possible coöperation of the British navy, and have been assured that the embassy will take up the matter at once with Downing street.

Week-End at Resort.

The delegates journeyed over the week-end to Petropolis, a mountain resort town with 15,000 inhabitants and an altitude of 3,000 feet. It is 30 miles from Rio de Janeiro by automobile over a beautiful modern scenic highway.

The summer home of President Getulio Vargas of Brazil is there. A flower and agricultural show is in progress. Flowers in Petropolis are superb, with more than 100 varieties of orchids as the leading attraction.

STRONGARMED, ROBBED OF WATCH.
Two Negroes strongarmed him at 51st street and Langley avenue and took his watch, valued at $50 and $5 in currency, Dr. Hans Brunner, 50 years old, 3145 Palmer street, reported to police Saturday. Dr. Brunner is a professor of surgery at the University of Illinois.

BRITISH GIVE UP HOPE FOR RETURN OF SUB 'PERSEUS'

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Loss of the submarine Perseus, which is overdue and unheard from, was acknowledged tonight by the admiralty.

The Perseus was a 1,475 ton ocean-going submarine and carried 50 men. She was launched on May 22, 1929.

Nazis Subs Claim Four Ships.

BERLIN, Jan. 18 (AP).—The German high command announced today that Nazi submarines had sunk four merchant ships totaling 21,000 tons in the Atlantic and had damaged a large transport. Another German submarine was reported to have sunk "an enemy submarine" in the Arctic.

German bombing planes attacked a convoy off the east coast of England last night, reportedly damaging several ships. British surface craft, it was added, made an unsuccessful attack on a German convoy in the English channel, but Nazi coastal batteries "intervened" and one British torpedo boat was "sunk in flames."

BARN BURNS, LOSS $15,000.
Fire early yesterday destroyed the barn on the farm of Joseph Feely, three miles northwest of Joliet on United States highway 30, with a loss estimated at $15,000. Feely was unable to save 28 cattle and 3 horses.

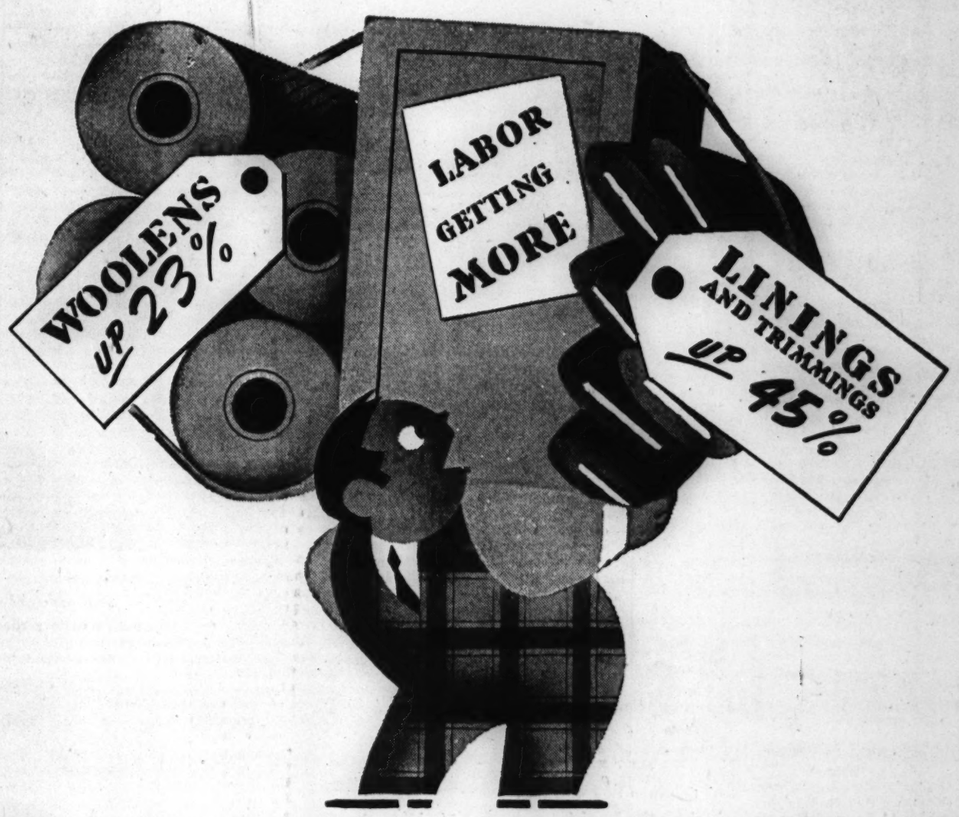
MORE MEN WEAR BOND CLOTHES THAN ANY OTHER CLOTHES IN AMERICA



• • • so now Bond's MUST change prices

It will happen next Monday, Jan. 26. Why? Take another look at the picture above. That, folks, is what has happened since last Spring. Woolens, linings and trimmings, labor—all have gone up, up—UP—with the pace accelerating the farther we go.

Last September, with this trend already under way, we said we would carry the load until it could no longer be shouldered alone. Now—what would you do, today?

We've a hunch your answer might be something like this: "Above all, give me quality. And keep your service at its best. True, this may call for higher prices—anyone can see that. But on that score I know Bond's will shoot square. I still remember how you folks did NOT raise prices last Fall, when so many did." Isn't that just about it? Thanks!

Your confidence—and the huge volume it has built for us—will always pay you large dividends. This Spring they'll be larger than ever! Now, with very much greater costs facing all industry, you can bet on this—Bond's rapidly expanding business, Bond's greater purchasing power, Bond's unique ability to effect savings all along the line, will help wipe out a good slice of present increases. You will be asked to pay only a small part—an average of approximately 8½%.

Our new prices go into effect next Monday. Until then, present prices prevail—$25, $30, $35—two trousers with every suit—(Executive Group . . . $40 & $45).

TEACHERS TO GET 2 PER CENT MORE OF WITHHELD PAY

Other Employes to Benefit by Board's Action.

When the annual school budget is presented to the board tomorrow it will include a provision for repayment of another 2 per cent in back wages for all employés, it was learned last night. Of the 18,000 employés who will benefit, about 14,000 are teachers.

School officials said that the payment will total $1,045,000 and that the sum had been saved by economies within the system in the last year.

Unpaid Balance 5.5 Per Cent.

During depression years 23.5 per cent of the employés' pay was withheld because of lack of funds. Since then 18 per cent has been repaid and with distribution of Tuesday's payment the total still unpaid will have been cut to 5.5 per cent.

The plight of the teachers and other school employés culminated in 1933 and 1934 in the system's complete reorganization under a plan worked out by Mayor Kelly. At that time many employés had nearly a full school year in pay coming. A 40 million dollar federal loan was obtained to pull the school system out of the morass of politics and waste into which it had been plunged by a former Republican mayor.

Take Cut in 1933.

School employés worked with the new board under the presidency of James B. McCahey and helped effect the reorganization. They took a pay cut of 15 per cent in 1933 when it was discovered the school budget was nearly 7 million dollars out of balance.

Since then approximately half of this cut has been restored.

AUTO RATIONING JOB IS ASSIGNED TO TIRE BOARD

Chicago's eight tire rationing boards will take on the job also of rationing automobiles Feb. 2, Michael F. Mulcahy, metropolitan area tire administrator, announced yesterday.

Michael F. Mulcahy.

Mulcahy said he believed no new boards need be created for the car rationing in the city. Henry Pope Jr., state tire administrator, declared, however, that several new boards may be added to the 109 in operation in the state. He said the boards would be created only in the heavily populated counties.

In a report of the first two weeks of tire rationing in Chicago, Mulcahy said that only 175 persons filed applications for tires with the eight rationing boards.

Sixty applicants asked for passenger car tires and 115 for truck tires. The boards turned down 35 of the applicants and issued 140 tire certificates.

"These figures demonstrate clearly that Chicago car owners loyally desire to conserve rubber," Mulcahy said.

CALLS OUTLOOK FOR BREWERS IN U. S. 'PROMISING'

The outlook for the brewing industry this year is promising, Carl W. Badenhausen of Newark, N. J., chairman of the board of the United Brewers Industrial Foundation, said yesterday. He and other representatives of the industry met in the Drake hotel, where the annual meetings of the foundation and the United States Brewers association will open today.

"There is a surplus of grain in the United States," Badenhausen said, "and so far no limit has been set on our production. Of course we are faced with the same priorities problems of other manufacturers and distributors in obtaining machinery, tires and equipment.

"We're already coöperating with each other to prevent duplicate delivery routes and unnecessary calls in order to save tires."

SCRAP SALVAGE OFFICE WILL BE OPENED TODAY

All Types of Waste Material Sought.

The drive to reclaim scrap and waste materials as an aid to the war effort will start today with the opening of a salvage office in the Civic Opera building.

Paper, scrap metal, old rags and old rubber will be utilized to make weapons for the armed forces, said Maj. Raymond J. Kelly, director of the 6th civilian defense region. He urged the coöperation of all Chicagoans.

"America is a rich mine of scrap materials," Kelly asserted. "In dumps and backyards, in attics and cellars, in stores and on farms, millions of tons of material are now lying idle and useless. We must now work this mine."

Scrap and waste paper will be picked up after arrangements are made by calling State 8787. Payment will be made to the citizen in cash, or the material may be donated to a charitable organization, which will receive a check from the salvage office.

Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director of OPM's industrial conservation bureau, said the following items are needed:

Waste paper—Old newspapers, wrapping paper, cardboard cartons and boxes, paper bags, magazines, advertising material.

Old rags—Castoff clothing, especially shirts and underwear, draperies, mattresses, pillows, sheets, towels, flour and sugar bags, carpets. Burlap bags can also be used if returned in good condition.

Old rubber—Discarded auto tires and tubes, rubbers and overshoes, old bath or sink mats, and other items made of rubber.

Waste paper should be in excess of 100 pounds or in a pile about 5 feet high before the collector is called, Leverone said. He asked that newspapers be piled separately and tied in separate bundles. Rags, metals and rubber should be packed in cartons and bags. All cartons and boxes should be flattened out and tied in bundles.

100 Sign Up

On hundred naval recruits signed up at the Chicago naval recruiting station in the last few days boarded a train at the La Salle street station yesterday for an unrevealed destination. Crowded conditions at the Great Lakes Naval Training section prevent the assignment of additional men there until a new class is graduated or until new barracks are completed.

Man, Pinned Under Tree 4 Days, Escapes Freezing

Providence, R. I., Jan. 18 (AP).—Albert Golich, 57 years old, a woodsman of Central Falls, who for four days of freezing temperature lay pinned beneath a tree he had felled, was found tonight—weak but still conscious. His arm and several ribs had been broken by a blow from a branch which hit him as the tree fell. The temperature during two of the four nights was below zero. It was said his left arm probably would have to be amputated.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

THE PEOPLE'S MEN.

Thus far the war has been going against us. Our fleet in Hawaii has been battered. We have lost Guam and Wake. Japanese submarines have destroyed merchant ships in our coastal waters. Other submarines, presumably German, have been operating off New York. Our valiant army in Luzon is hard pressed and there is little expectation that it can be relieved. Revelations of incompetence and mismanagement in Washington have come thick and fast.

The picture is a gloomy one, but we may still hope for a better day. Particularly, we may find encouragement in the fact that the long overdue reorganization of the procurement services came about largely as a result of congressional initiative. The appointment of Mr. Donald Nelson as the responsible head of the whole war production effort can be credited largely to the senatorial investigation headed by Sen. Truman of Missouri. Congress forced the adoption of remedies which up to that time had found little support in the administration.

Congress can continue to perform such services for the country. The people look to their representatives to protect them from the designs of those in Washington who are determined to use the war as the excuse for destroying free government. The people likewise look to their representatives to prevent the imposition of any unnecessary hardships. Above all, the people expect their representatives to assure a vigorous, intelligent, and effective prosecution of the war and to see to it that America is not cheated in the peace.

Congress is the people's institution, as parliament was before it. In the Anglo-American tradition, the representatives in the legislative halls have always been counted upon to defend the people against administrative incompetence, greed, and lust for power. The record is a long and honorable one. In our Civil war, for example, the congressional committee on the conduct of the war made invaluable contributions to the Union victory. In England the people's representatives forced Chamberlain out and gave the leadership to Churchill. These illustrations could be extended over columns.

If this war is to be won and won as speedily as possible we must have an alert and independent congress, equal to its responsibilities. That is something to remember this year when a new house of representatives and a third of the senate are to be elected.

SLACKERS IN UNIFORM.

It is welcome news that Sen. David I. Walsh has turned the spotlight on draft dodgers who are angling for bombproof jobs as officers in the navy. The investigation of this abuse should be extended to all the young men who wear the uniforms of the armed services and are safely ensconced in swivel chair jobs. It should not overlook the many who are doing what is termed "essential work" in the civilian offices aligned more or less remotely with the war effort.

New York and Washington swarm with young gentlemen whose uniforms make them the heroes of the Stork club and the Mayflower lounge. The war is not going to be won in either place. It will be won in dirt and battle. It will be won on the firing line, not the receiving line of debutante parties.

Sen. Walsh states that many young gentlemen of draft age who are eager to wear the uniform and share in the glory, if not the danger, of the men on the Atlantic patrol, in the Philippines, and on Wake Island are offering their social graces to their country only on condition that they be excused from combat duty. No young man in uniform should be anywhere but with the troops. Older men can handle all the duties these young slackers are finding for themselves. One of these days they may be handed the white feather. They will have no comeback. They asked for it.

YOUNGER AIR CADETS.

The army air force has been compelled by the coming of war to relax its age and educational requirements for volunteer air corps cadets. Previously cadets had to be 20 years old. Now they are accepted if they have passed their 18th birthday. They no longer need two years of college, or even a high school diploma, to be accepted. They will be given a two hour written intelligence and aptitude test which is expected to screen out unsuitable candidates. The test will not emphasize academic subjects, knowledge of which could neither help nor hinder a pilot.

THE TRIBUNE has repeatedly urged that younger men be taken into the air services and has argued that rigid academic requirements had no bearing on the selection of good pilot material. The war department did not act, however, until the decision was forced on it by the war.

If we are to get the 145,000 combat aircraft Mr. Roosevelt has set as the goal by the end of 1943, we will need a gigantic army of pilots. If we insist that each of them, in addition to possessing the requisite physical attributes, be able to conjugate French verbs and discuss the art of the Renaissance, we aren't going to be able to man the ships. This country has a vast reservoir of young men who may not have got thru high school but have sharp eyes and steady nerves and are familiar with the machine as the youth of no other nation is.

MR. BIDDLE'S BILL.

Attorney General Biddle has sent to the senate an omnibus bill granting the government all sorts of new war powers, which Sen. Van Nuys, chairman of the judiciary committee, said he was introducing "almost blindly." His committee, however, will give it close study before any further action is taken and the country will undoubtedly want to subject it to the same close study.

All that needs to be said of the bill at this time is that whatever its merits may be it is certainly bad in form. It is a catchall measure, combining the most serious invasions of private rights, which may or may not be necessary for the prosecution of the war, with other proposals on which there will be general approval. Nobody, for instance, will dispute the justice of giving members of the armed forces assigned outside the United States the right to mail their letters free of postage. To pick another of the less important sections of the bill, there seems to be no reason why dollar-a-year men, already under serious fire in congress, should have any exemption under the Hatch act, forbidding political activity by government employés.

Whether it was done designedly or not by Mr. Biddle the submission of all these proposals of varying merits in an omnibus measure was an imposition upon congress and the people. In such a bill dangerous provisions may slip thru without debate or, if they are caught and eliminated in one house of congress, they may ride thru the other and be embodied, thru a conference report, in the final act without the objectors having a chance to vote on them separately.

Mr. Biddle should have submitted his proposals, not in one bill, but in a series, each dealing with no more than one subject. Since he failed to do so, the judiciary committee should do the job for him. Then each proposal can be considered on its merits.

THE SPARK PLUG.

A recent dispatch from London told of some of the deleterious effects of the high taxes which have been imposed in England. At a meeting in South Wales a member of the executive council of the miners' union attributed the reduced production to taxes on the miners, running up to $120 a year, which "discouraged them from their maximum effort." Married women, it was said, had refused to go to work on finding that the tax would take half of whatever they made.

Management has suffered similar discouragements in Great Britain. The ordinary tax on business there is 50 per cent, and on top of it there is the excess profits tax of 100 per cent of earnings above the prewar average. The crack business concerns which attract to themselves the ablest industrial talent today have no financial inducement to broaden their production and effect economies. Only the inefficient and unsuccessful are rewarded.

"A system of free enterprise is more effective than an order of concentration camps," the President said in his annual budget message. The one functions as a result of economic incentive and the other by compulsion. The administration, having surrounded itself with representatives of the unions, has been giving its support to higher wages since rearmament got under way. The larger earnings were intended to act as an incentive to greater effort. The government likewise has lent its aid to higher prices for farm products, believing that they would act to increase production.

No one would question the patriotism of the American laborer or the American farmer, but the government has believed that both would better serve the national cause when given an economic inducement. If financial reward is necessary to obtain the best efforts of the farmer and the laborer, is it not too much to ask that business men regulate their lives solely in the public interest, without financial reward?

Profits in ordinary times constitute the spark plug of free enterprise. When there is no prospect of profit in ordinary times, there is stagnation. Anything which reduces the chances of making a profit when we are at peace slows down the rate at which private enterprise functions. In time of war every business man will want to do what he can for victory, but why not reënforce this desire with the economic motive which works so beautifully when there is no war and which the government believes to be applicable to the farmer and the laborer?

In this budget message, President Roosevelt viewed profits with horror. He spoke of the need "to recapture profits," which are "undue" and "excessive." He was not referring to profits which might have been created by war orders or by war conditions. He said "the fact that a corporation had large profits before the defense program started is no reason to exempt them now." This is an indorsement of the proposals often advanced by the secretary of the treasury to tax at 100 per cent all profits above 6 per cent on the capital investment.

The effect of such a tax would be even more serious than the British scheme of taxing at 100 per cent all profits greater than before the war. The British method at least offers an inducement for businesses to be as efficient as in the prewar period, while the Morgenthau plan encourages management only when unable to earn as much as 6 per cent on capital. In a recent British book entitled "The Taxation of War Wealth" it is pointed out that "in time of war it is just as desirable as ever to keep a watch on costs so that there may be due economy in those things which are in short supply and to prevent waste. It is not at all surprising that the last war should have been followed by an anti-waste campaign. . . . If the profit motive can do something to check this waste it may have, even in wartime, a valuable part to play."

Because of the tax methods pursued here, the last war resulted in wasteful methods here, too. Thereafter there was a similar anti-waste campaign. See the comprehensive reports on "Waste in Industry" by the Federated American Engineering Societies in 1921.

PLAYING DEAD?

[Akron Beacon Journal.]

To American ears, it is highly encouraging to hear that Russia has Hitler's army on the run, that there is much internal dissension in Germany, that army leaders are rumored to be plotting to seize the government, that typhus is crippling the Nazi troops.

As a matter of fact, the news is entirely too encouraging. Especially when foreign correspondents are awakened in the middle of the night to be given official denials of the reports of incipient revolution.

Hitler would like nothing better than to have us consider him licked right now. What other single influence could take the drive out of our war effort more effectively?

"It's all over but the shouting, boys. We don't need to do anything. Hitler is ready to fold up."

That's exactly the idea the crafty old "war of nerves" expert would like to plant among his opponents, particularly among Americans.

We can't afford to be suckers for his propaganda. We can't let up until he is licked.

Let's hope that all these stories about Germany's difficulties are true. Let's act as tho none of them were true. The war won't be over until Hitler and his Italian and Japanese stooges surrender unconditionally. Until then, we can't relax our efforts for one minute.

THE DANCE OF THE HOURS.

Since year-around daylight saving time will soon become a law of the land "for the duration," a slight inquiry into its origin is in order. Its inventor's name is seldom mentioned, and newspapers have never been in the habit of printing his picture, altho many millions of people have come under his influence. He was William Willett, called "a Chelsea builder" in the Britannica, which also states that he designed beautiful houses. No doubt he would be defined in this country as an architect and contractor.

Willett began to promote his idea in 1907, advocating a "summer time" in which the saving was 80 minutes, made in four 20-minute adjustments of the clock. He campaigned actively, using his own funds, and in 1908 a bill for "summer time" was introduced into the house of commons. The plan was pigeonholed, however, until the Other War. "Summer time," with a saving of one hour, went into effect in England on May 21, 1916. Germany also adopted it early in that year.

* * *

The argument in its favor as a war measure was that it caused a saving in fuel for lighting and heating. The recreational and hygienic arguments came after the war. The United States adopted the idea as a war measure on March 31, 1918. The period of time-saving ran from that date until Oct. 27.

* * *

Willett did not live to see his plan put into effect. He died on March 4, 1915, aged 58.

THE FACE OF LINCOLN.

That face revealed a God-sent light,
A will that with proud powers could cope;

Man's hatred cut those furrows deep
Upon the face of him, our king.
Those weary eyes!—he could not sleep
Amid our greedy trafficking.

And yet his patience did not wane,
Tho malice filled his eyes with tears.
That Lincoln face—its grief and pain—
Will haunt us for a thousand years.

Thomas Curtis Clark.

Let's Talk About Canaries.

Two nights ago one of my neighbors brought up her canary for me to care for while she is on vacation. I supposed canaries required only food, water, and a clean cage—and Pat looked like any other canary to me. That was two days ago. Now I am beginning to understand how people become slaves to pets.

Pat wants his breakfast at a certain time, and it doesn't matter to him that I am still in bed. He "talks" until I get up and feed him. After breakfast he sings so happily I can't get back to sleep. Tonight I am going to bed at 9 o'clock, so I can get my sleep before Pat's rising hour. That is, if Pat will let me, because he objects to turning in before 10 and argues like a small boy about being covered up.

Pat likes only symphonies, and scolds noisily when I tune in variety programs. He approves of most of my records, but I have resignedly put away my Gene Autry collection for the present.

P. S. I spent my lunch hour today pricing canaries.

WARNING TO PIPE SMOKERS.

Commodities that we all treasure
Are to be had in smaller measure;
We'll miss those rounded rings of rubber
As Eskimos would miss their blubber.
And as these things reduce in number
We'll likely, then, be short of lumber;
When lumber comes in smaller batches,
We'll probably be short of matches.
If that occurs, upon our honor,
The addict of the pipe's a goner!

W. L. Hudson.

Another Cat Challenges Choppy.

Tom, our big tiger-striped alley cat, is disgusted! He's been reading about Roy Engel's Choppy being "all tuckered out" from running between the front and back doors during the Christmas rush [Dec. 30].

He sez to Choppy, sez'ze, "The other day when it was 14 below I shot out the back door, down the walk, took the fence and two ash cans in one leap, streaked down the alley to a neighbor's house, only to find her gone for the nonce. I waited a few minutes, turned and high-tailed it for home, sailing into the kitchen with icicles hanging from my whiskers and my nose frozen stiff. That, Choppy, takes stamina!"

Cully.

TAKE TIME TO DREAM.

Draw tight the curtains of the day,
Let night's tall tapers beam;
Hold back the dawn a while, delay
While we take time to dream.

Hold back the hours that hasten on
In unrelenting stream,
And snatch an aeon ere they're gone—
A timeless time to dream.

How bright the firelight's gleam!
When love bids life stand still a while
And we take time to dream.

To Stabilize the Civic Mind.

"In the present crisis the Art institute desires above all things to do its part in stabilizing the civic mind, for this, when all is said and done, is its fine and characteristic obligation."

This was written in the Other World War by George William Eggers, then director of the institute. And, when all is said and done, this is the obligation, at present, of various other activities, perhaps including this column.

So the state of Illinois will return to Mexico the wooden leg of Gen. Santa Ana! We wonder what the Russians, several generations hence, will do with the iron heel of Hitler.

CONTROL EMOTIONS—AND HIVES.

WE have long realized that the influence of mind over matter is profound. This explains why we attempt to preserve an attitude of cheerfulness and hopefulness in the sickroom.

Friends send us flowers to divert our thoughts from the drab, dull days of illness. In fact, there is scarcely a malady where invalidism will not be accentuated—even prolonged—if the victim's thoughts border upon despair.

Hives [urticaria] may arise from a number of causes. Some of our friends will exhibit an attack should a dish of strawberries be eaten, while others will react violently to lobster or oysters.

Ordinarily we look upon the display of lumpy swellings and wheals as manifestations of sensitivity. For example, should one be allergic to horse serum, or to any other animal product, the sickness which follows contact will be characterized more or less violently by these eruptions.

Apparently, however, there are other sources. Recently the suggestion has been offered by R. F. Farquharson that typical blemishes may appear and become more or less persistent should the patient be passing thru a period of strain or anxiety. It is assumed that there is a "starter"—possibly on an allergic basis. But long after the offender has been banished, the blotches may increase both in size and in number under emotional upsets.

Our author cites the records of several of his patients wherein freedom from worry brought recovery. It goes without saying that the origin must be determined. The elimination of articles of diet or other irritants known to bring on the symptom is essential. Thus for a time it may be wise to omit tomatoes, eggs, strawberries, and lobster, or any other edible which has been associated with the disorder. Thereafter the job seems to be one of solving family or business problems so that the mental reactions shall be healthful.

In one of the cases cited, a 34 year old woman was told that her constant fussing about herself was aggravating her symptoms. She possessed common sense enough to recognize that she was unhappy. Thru the exercise of intelligence she subordinated her agitation. Within a few days thereafter she began to employ a regular balanced diet. Later she resumed her social activities and, within a month, was sleeping without sedatives. For the first time in more than a year she was able to take many of the hitherto forbidden foods. There has been no return of the condition.

It may well be that many sufferers become apprehensive over the long and tedious procedures which are employed in spotting the specific annoyance. Repeated visits to the doctor's office, with skin tests by the score, may enhance rather than allay fears. This may be true particularly if no guilty substance is discovered, or should almost every patch produce an area of redness.

It is interesting to note the number of victims who will obtain relief as soon as their emotional state can be resolved into one of complacency and equanimity.

TWO SEIZURES.

D. D. T. writes: What is the difference between catalepsy and epilepsy?

REPLY.

Both are diseases of the nervous system. In catalepsy the body remains in a fixed position without movement. The muscles become rigid; the skin is cold and pale; and the victim is insensible. In epilepsy the characteristic symptom is loss of consciousness with convulsions. The attack is usually short.

A DEFLATED INNER TUBE.

C. H. writes: What is a collapsed eustachian tube?

REPLY.

Under normal conditions this structure is collapsed. When free from inflammation it will open at intervals, balancing the pressure between the middle ear and the outside air.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE ARMY TRAINS WITH TRIBUNE MAPS.

Camp Livingston, La., Jan. 9.—It would be greatly appreciated by this office if you would furnish us with reprints of all the war maps which you have published to date. I realize that this is an unusual request. However, we are in great need of such maps for our current training period, and, considering the excellence of the ones which have appeared in THE TRIBUNE, we are applying to you.

MAX S. FLEWELLING,
Captain, 106th Cavalry [H. M.].

ON CHICAGO COLLEGES.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The Friends of the Public Schools of America commend the Civic federation for its recommendations to the board of education regarding the Chicago normal school and the three junior colleges.

This organization has felt there was no valid reason for the Chicago board of education to operate a teacher training school. With a long waiting list of trained and unplaced teachers the board of education will have a very hard time presenting a bona fide defense for the continued operation of the normal school. All other tax supported normal schools are under state control and properly so, as education is a function of the state.

We also agree that the three junior colleges should be transferred to the state and operated in Chicago as part of the University of Illinois. This transfer should be made immediately to coördinate more efficiently the defense educational program the University of Illinois has undertaken. The students would have access to better educational opportunities and the colleges would be assured of a sound financial administration.

JENNIE L. TYLER,
Secretary,
Friends of the Public Schools of America.

JUDGE BORRELLI'S COURT.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—I have noted with interest the front page article in today's TRIBUNE entitled "Keeshin Seized in Inquiry into Slugging Case."

Since Judge Borrelli is alleged to have admitted his son's guilt, would it not be proper to ask for an investigation regarding cases heard by the judge during the period his son has served as his personal bailiff? It seems to me that Judge Borrelli would welcome such an investigation in view of the present situation.

PARKING ATTENDANTS DEFENDED.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—In regard to Mr. Osborne's statement of Jan. 13, pertaining to parking lot attendants, does Mr. Osborne know the keys to the ignition and trunk are left in the car because these companies believe in living up to the fire ordinance? Most parking lots and garages are protecting their customers by the use of the lie detector.

THE PRICE OF BRITISH TITLES.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Referring to your editorial "New Year's Honors:" Reading indicates that the writer lacks knowledge of all that goes into the "creation" of a British title. An English friend, who refused a title some 15 years ago, gave me the following information, when I saw him in London five years ago!

This friend, who loved his country devotedly—he had been very wealthy and very active in improving conditions—refused the title offered, because his acceptance entailed contribution of a huge sum to the "party fund." He had been slated for the king's honors, had been notified formally and given his choice of a number of titles, because of his "contributions to the welfare of the realm," but refused to accept, because he realized titles are purchased from the party, which apparently controls credit.

That group brings to the attention of the king the persons it considers eligible for a title. Such persons are then notified formally. But the little matter of a hundred thousand pounds, or two, is taken care of before the title is conferred. If a layman has been of great assistance to that group, somehow he is furnished with the necessary contribution by the group that controls the credit. A. S.

THE CONSTITUTION IN THE WAR EMERGENCY.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The Supreme court, before it was, in effect, packed, declared the NRA unconstitutional. Now there are boards, bureaus, and commissions that make their own laws, rulings, and decrees, controling production, distribution, and sale of goods and the regulation of prices. Does that not constitute the same fault the NRA had? The constitution cannot be one thing one day and something else the next.

The exigencies of government do not give license to go beyond the supreme law. It is not up to one individual or group of individuals to inaugurate any new system. The next step suggested is to regiment industry and labor. Is the war going to be used as an excuse to put over a socialistic dictatorship?

"V" FOR VIGILANCE.

DOESN'T LIKE SPARROWS.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—May I inquire where the writer of a recent article signed "Bird Lover" received all of the information regarding the English sparrow? This sparrow is a direct menace to all other bird life, and should be destroyed. The department of agriculture is busy nowadays—but they will take time, if you write them, to give you full information regarding the obnoxious sparrow. I feed them every day, but the food is well soaked in arsenic, and I have in this manner killed them by the thousands, with only the accidental killing of few innocent song birds. My motto: First get the Japs—then the Nazis—then the English sparrows. JUSTICE.

CRUEL AND UNUSUAL.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 16.—It's hard enough sitting at a desk all day with one of those things on—let alone fighting the enemy. I refer to the stiff collars worn by many of the men in the navy. Let's streamline the attire for the officers, too. I daresay those collars will be tougher to handle than the yellow infidels in front of them. MARK OSBORNE.

THE HOME FRONT.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—To C. M. B., who deplores "useless" war work on the home front: Did it ever occur to you that everybody is not killed in war? Survivors need medical attention and have to be kept warm. Service men do need a little recreation and somebody has to do this work. I am a woman of 27. An elderly or crippled person could not handle my job. I work 8 hours a day. In my spare time I knit what you term "funny looking sweaters." I help get bandages and dressings ready, chaperon dances for service men, and each pay day give a voluntary donation of $5 for defense. One donation buys one helmet or two first aid kits and a blanket.

I don't wear a uniform and have not had my picture in the paper. I do what I am capable of doing, and any thing else I can do, I'll do, too. Can you suggest anything else? I hope that you do not have sons or brothers wounded or cold. If they were not taken care of, you would be the first to holler. M. G.

GROUCH ON HOLLYWOOD.

New Castle, Ind., Jan. 13.—Parrish's fine cartoon, "The Horrible Massacre," would be funny if its implications were not tragic when considered soberly. Certainly today is no day for the make-believe attitude of which Hollywood has been, and is, the chief propagandist. Have you heard the lad who announces proudly that his product is approved "from coast to coast and Hollywood!"? Which reminds me of the headline Bert Leston Taylor picked out of a New York newspaper: "Halley's Comet Rushing on New York." Incidentally, I hope to live long enough to see a mayor or a governor performing a civic function without cutting in a Hollywood press agent and his doll. Possibly I am overoptimistic.

BUSINESS VENTURE.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am planning on contracting in the flooring business [tile, etc.] on a small scale. My capital will be less than $100.

1. Since my customers do not pay cash, how do I protect myself from default of payment?
2. What kind of contracts do I draw up?
3. Where can I get one?
4. What taxes will I be subject to, if any, and who do I file with or send forms to?
5. Anything else which you might know of to keep me out of legal difficulties? F. L.

1. You can file mechanics' liens if you are not paid.
2. In general, the wording of a contract is a matter for negotiation between the parties.
3. We suggest that you ask other contractors to show you some of the contracts that they use.
4. Depends on facts that are not before us. We suggest that you write to the state department of finance, Springfield, for circulars as to the sales tax.
5. On a business on the scale that you suggest it would seem reasonably safe for you to meet questions as they arise.

4. Two of our common spices grow on the same plant; namely, nutmeg and Cloves Allspice Mace Cinnamon
5. Which one of these birds does not migrate to a warmer climate during winter?
   Crow Robin Teal Golden Plover
6. Suppose you are going aloft in an observation balloon. The balloon and other equipment weigh exactly 500 pounds. The gas capacity of the bag is 15,000 cubic feet. It is filled with helium. One cubic foot of helium weighs 0.0105 pounds, while one cubic foot of air weighs 0.076 pounds. If you weigh 158 pounds, how many companions of the same weight could you take along on your flight? You deserve 2 points for correctly answering that question, and 3 points more if you can derive the net lifting power, exclusive of the 500 pounds of balloon and equipment.

REPORT OFFICERS ARE PICKED FOR CIO-AFL 'MERGER'

But Lewis' Methods Annoy Murray's Aids.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

New York, Jan. 18.—John L. Lewis, founder and first president of the CIO, and leaders of the AFL are so confident of unity in the ranks of organized labor that already they have reached an understanding on officers to head a unified labor movement, it became known tonight.

The AFL executive council informally agreed to the proposed slate at a closed meeting in Washington Saturday night after "unofficial" conversations had been carried on for nearly a week by Lewis and Daniel J. Tobin, federation vice president and president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Report Green to Retire.

Under the program William Green, veteran head of the AFL, would be retired at his full salary of $20,000 a year for life. George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the federation and former president of the New York state federation of labor, would be elevated to the presidency at $20,000 a year, and Philip Murray, president of the CIO, would be asked to accept the post of secretary-treasurer at $18,000.

The principal obstacle in the program is that Murray has not been consulted on any part of the scheme. Lewis, who sent identical letters to Green and Murray on Saturday proposing resumption of formal peace negotiations, did not consult the CIO leader before taking his action, and Murray was unaware of the behind the scenes developments that preceded the sending of the letters.

Murray's Aids Resentful.

Arriving here for contract talks with four "little steel" companies, Murray said there was "not a thing" he wanted to say about Lewis' bid for unity in labor's ranks, but close associates were openly resentful at the manner in which the president of the United Mine Workers had gone about broaching a union.

Even in these circles, however, there was optimism about the prospect of an early merger of the AFL and CIO. The pressure of public opinion, the urgency of the war situation and the desire of the rank and file of both organizations for a cessation of hostilities were regarded as factors likely to triumph over the personal and jurisdictional obstacles that have kept the warring factions apart for six years.

Lewis Slated for Office.

When the proposed slate of officers was brought up at Saturday's meeting of the AFL executive council, Green was reported to have objected to stepping aside, but finally agreed "in the national interest." Lewis, under the plan, would become first or second vice president of the united organization and the executive council would be expanded to a membership of 23 or 25. The present membership in the federation governing body is 13.

To eliminate the factor that impelled the original CIO unions to desert the federation in 1935, the AFL leaders instructed their representatives in the peace negotiations to concede the principle of industrial organization in the mass production industries. The federation's refusal to waive the jurisdictional claims of craft unions in the organization of workers in automobiles, shipyards, steel, and other basic industries precipitated the 1935 bolt.

Forty-seven years old, Meany is among the youngest of the nation's top flight labor leaders. He started in the labor movement as an apprentice plumber 31 years ago.

MAYOR TO OPEN LABOR PRACTICE HEARINGS TODAY

Mayor Kelly this morning will plead with unions and employers to coöperate in using all available man power without regard for race as the President's committee on fair employment practice begins two days of hearings in the city council chambers. The mayor's plea will open the conferences.

Yesterday the committee voted to cite two west coast locals of the International Association of Machinists, AFL, to President Roosevelt on the ground that they have "effectively barred qualified and needed workers from employment in defense industries solely because of race."

The committee also recommended to the President that he summon the heads of the two locals, together with Harvey W. Browne of Washingon, D. C., international president of the machinists, and require them to take corrective action at once. The locals are 68 of San Francisco, Cal., and 751 of Seattle, Wash. They have closed shop contracts with the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation and the Boeing Aircraft company, where it is alleged Negroes could not get jobs as machinists.

GIVE CHEMICAL GROUP AWARD TO DISCOVERER OF ANTI-KNOCK FLUID

Thomas Midgley Jr.

Thomas Midgley Jr., vice president of the Ethyl Gasoline corporation and discoverer of tetraethyl lead, the anti-knock fluid used in automobile and aviation gasoline, has been awarded the 1942 William Gibbs medal of the Chicago section of the American Chemical society, it was announced yesterday.

Midgley, who lives in Worthington, O., is the 31st scientist to receive the medal, awarded for distinguished service in the field of chemical science.

In the citation he is credited with "discoveries which are outstanding both from the standpoint of engineering in a new field and from the standpoint of commercial importance." Among his other achievements are the development of safe refrigerants, contributions to synthetic rubber research, and contributions to methods of extracting bromine from sea water.

Midgley suffered an attack of infantile paralysis in September, 1940, but is said to be recovering. He is 52 years old.

YALE FRESHMEN TALLER, HEAVIER THAN GRANDDADS

Show Steady Rise in 59 Year Survey.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 18.—Yale men of today, many of whom will be called upon to serve with the armed forces, are bigger and huskier than alumni who fought in the World war and the Spanish-American war. These are the findings of a survey covering 59 years of Yale freshman classes. The study has just been completed by William Deegan, an assistant in the physical education department.

One of the most phenomenal changes is the increase in the number of 6 footers. In the class of Yale freshmen who entered last fall there are 222 boys 6 feet tall or more in their bare feet, a percentage of 22.6. This contrasts with 4.3 per cent of the freshmen that tall in the entering class in 1883.

Height and Weight Rise.

Last year's freshman class was the first to reach an average height of 70 inches, as against 67.7 inches for the 1883 group. The average weight jumped from 137.7 pounds for the 1883 group to 151.1 pounds for this year's freshman class.

These increases were chalked up despite the fact that the average age declined from 19 years to 18.3 years during the 59 year period of the study. Deegan ventures a guess that the age level may be stabilized, but the weight and height of the students may keep on going up.

Period.	Weight [lbs.]	Height [ins.]	Per cent men 6 ft. and over.
1883-1892	135.47	67.74	4.5
1903-1912	139.00	68.23	6.4
1913-1922	141.88	68.65	10.4
1923-1932	144.36	69.31	15.7
1933-1941 [9 years]	150.09	69.83	19.8
Average for 59 years	143.04	68.90	12.4

No Economic Tieup.

Deegan, in a report of his findings, found it unlikely that social or economic groups from which the freshmen come were responsible for the increases. He pointed out that Yale undergraduates came from all sections of the country and more than a third were at least partially self-supporting.

"Certainly the downward trend in age has been influenced by the fact boys now tend to start school earlier than their fathers did, plus the fact that the proportion of freshmen entering Yale from public schools has increased during this 59 year period," Deegan stated.

"Considering smiliar anthropological data of the past, it seems to be a fact that homo sapiens living in American society is growing heavier along with his increase in stature.

"To date no simple definite reason can be given for this condition, but such factors as preventive medicine, resulting in an increased immunity to contagious diseases, an improved knowledge of dietetic principles plus their application in practice, and general higher standards of living account in some measure for this upward trend."

BERLIN SAYS SPAIN PROTESTS SHIP RAID IN AFRICA TO BRITISH

BERLIN, Jan. 18 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—The Spanish government sent the British government a note yesterday protesting against the British onslaught in the Spanish harbor on the island of Fernando Po. The note was sharp and demanded release of the vessels seized together with their crews and reparations.

[The broadcast purported to be based on information at Madrid. The Spanish Falangist newspaper Arriba said yesterday that a "Free French" destroyer had raided the harbor of Santa Isabel, on the Spanish island off the west coast of Africa, and seized three axis merchantmen. A Berlin broadcast contended it was a British raid by a destroyer manned by a "Free French" crew.]

London Hasn't Got It.

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP).—Authoritative quarters said today that no protest had yet been received from the Spanish government concerning any incident at Fernando Po.

Huge Oil Fire Rages Out of Control at Sacramento

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 18 (AP).—A huge oil fire raged out of control late tonight in the northern suburbs of Sacramento. Flames, shooting hundreds of feet into the air, made city streets almost as light as day. The fire was at the Weitz and Sunside Oil companies' depots. Explosions, heard miles away, rocked the area as flames ignited one huge tank after another.

6 FLEE TRAINING SCHOOL WITHIN 24 HOURS; NAB 5

Three Elude Guards at Theater Party.

Five of six inmates who escaped within 24 hours had been captured and returned to the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles last night. The search for the sixth continued.

Three of the inmates fled as they worked in the central kitchen of the institution last night. The other three had escaped Saturday night as they attended a movie in Geneva with a group of other inmates.

Two Seized on Truck.

The three who raced from the kitchen last night and climbed over the institution fence are Lorin Asher, 17 years old, Galesburg; Robert Holt, 16, Danville, and Edward Walolinski, 16, of 5124 South Marshfield avenue. Asher and Walolinski were seized when the truck on which they had caught a ride was stopped in Wheaton.

Of the three who escaped during the theater party, Frank Aguilera, 16, was the last to be captured. He was picked up yesterday by authorities near Melrose Park. He had hiked all night along the highway.

Aguilera and Earl Cunningham, 14, and Richard Gamborski, 16, all of Chicago, and 42 other inmates were taken to the movie as a reward because there had been no escapes from their cottage for three months.

Absence Soon Discovered.

While the seven guards and other inmates were intent on the movie, the three slipped away. Their absence was soon discovered and Cunningham and Gamborski were captured nearby.

Russell W. Ballard, director of the institution said the custom of taking the inmates to a movie as a reward for good behavior has been in effect for several years and has seldom been abused.

"The reward system aids in building the morale of the school," he said.

GAMING MACHINE TAXES NET U. S. NEARLY 5 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—The treasury today acknowledged the collection of nearly 5 million dollars in three months in taxes on slot machines and pinball games.

A tax of $19 a year on pinball games and $50 a year on slot machines went into effect Oct. 1, and collections thru Dec. 31 totaled $4,708,696. Officials said they had no ready figures on how much came from pinball machines and how much from slot machines.

As for collections by states, they said Wisconsin led with $477,000. No other figures were available, but New York and Minnesota were said to be a close second and third.

The treasury said it had no knowledge of any machines going out of business because of the tax, but that many requests for lists of the tax payers had been received from reform groups.

When congress approved the slot machine and pinball tax there were arguments from some legislators that it amounted to legalizing gambling, and that congress might as well go all the way and approve a national, government controled lottery.

The lottery idea, a hardy perennial, has come in for increasing agitation since the war, with advocates contending that a billion dollars a year could be raised that way.

9 FACE CHARGES OF GAMBLING BY CITY AND STATE

Nine men will appear in South State street court this morning to answer both city and state charges of gambling following a raid early Sunday at 2720 North Clark street. This is the address of the White Horse tavern operated by Charles Conrad. The raid was led by Capt. Michael Naughton, chief investigator for Commissioner Allman.

Two of the nine have police records. John Garner, 56, of 600 West Diversey parkway, was arrested in October, 1907, on a robbery charge which was stricken. In October, 1909, he was sentenced to two years in the Bridewell on a burglary charge.

Bernie Howe, 38, of 1816 North Clark street, was sentenced to prison at Jackson, Mich., Nov. 27, 1929, for possession of arms and feloncus assault. He was paroled from a three to five year sentence in October, 1931. On June 6, 1935, he was arrested on a narcotics charge here and sentenced to 18 months in federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

All were released on bond.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

What style of today do you consider most sensible?

WHERE ASKED.

Field building, 135 South La Salle street.

THE ANSWERS.

Josephine Gorey, switchboard operator, 2325 Lake avenue, Wilmette—Men don't often make noticeable changes in the style of their clothes but I think they really used their head when they adopted dressy slack suits for hot weather. They're cool, washable, and practical. And in my estimation they're good looking.

Thomas D. Casserly Jr., 1704 Hinman avenue, Evanston—All of the sport clothes of today are designed with an eye toward good common sense. But especially smart, I think, are the ski suits. There's more freedom, comfort, warmth, and style to those things than they've had for a long time.

Henry C. Glimm, supervisor of insurance company, 8218 Ingleside avenue—I think women started something pretty sensible when they began wearing slacks. There's nothing more suitable than a pair of slacks for sports wear or lounging. But I consider them completely out of place on any other occasion.

Ferne Carlson, secretary, 451 Selbourne, Riverside—When we have cold spells of weather I think the girls are wearing a very sensible thing when they wrap those big fringy scarfs over their heads. It's a variation of the babuska. I've never worn them myself, but I approve of the style for others.

Bernice Polon, salesgirl, 4625 Drexel boulevard—Few styles in overshoes have become as popular as those boots the girls are wearing. Any kind of overshoe in weather like this is sensible, and so more credit to the one who designed a style that the girls really like and wear.

Erwin Shayne, salesman, 646 Buckingham place—I think it's a sensible idea for a woman to do all she can to restyle her old clothes. Many of them are doing it with those bizarre looking lapel pins and touches of jewelry that do a very economical job of remodeling.

CALLS ENFORCED SAVINGS WAY TO CURB INFLATION

Inflation can be prevented by putting into effect a compulsory savings plan for all persons receiving an income, Stewart Y. McMullen, professor of accounting at Northwestern university, said yesterday on the Northwestern University Reviewing Stand broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

"Such a plan also would relieve competition for some kinds of consumers goods which will undoubtedly become scarce," he said.

Others who spoke on the broadcast were Harry L. Wells, vice president and business manager of the university, and Lyndon O. Brown, professor of marketing and advertising.

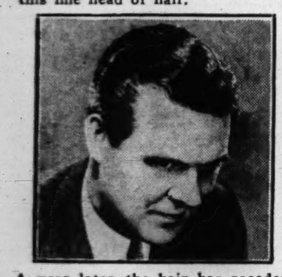
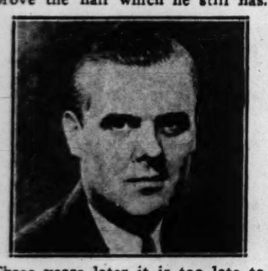
John E. Warner Says, Avoid Aging 14 Years in 4

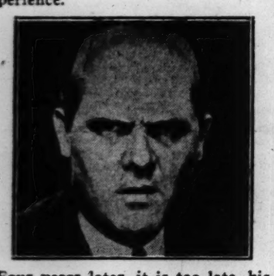
This young man has a fine head of hair and doesn't feel that he will ever be bald. Yet, his scalp is laden with dandruff, itches constantly, and he loses a great deal of hair each day. Right now a short period of the pleasant, low-cost, scientific treatment used by John E. Warner Associates would rid him of his dandruff, check the hair fall and normalize his scalp. He could keep this fine head of hair.



A year later the hair has receded at the temples, and our young man is worrying about it. He douses his head with cure-all lotions, and his scalp condition is growing worse. A free private consultation with John E. Warner Associates would tell him that he could save and improve the hair which he still has.



Three years later it is too late to have a good head of hair but not too late to save and improve the hair that remains, through prompt treatment, by John E. Warner Associates. The Warner method of treatment is effective because of years of research study and experience.



Four years later, it is too late, his appearance is permanently marred, a serious handicap to anyone. A youthful appearance is necessary these days to success in the social and business worlds. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness can be prevented if properly treated in time; but once you are bald you can never hope to regrow hair (except in rare cases of alopecia areata).

There is no charge or obligation for a scalp examination and consultation. Examination and treatment are given in strictest privacy. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN—NOT IN ADVANCE. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily, Saturdays to 6 P. M.

There is a separate department for women. Other Warner offices located in Boston, Hartford, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Detroit and Los Angeles.

U. S. AND STATE TO JOIN IN WAR ON MOSQUITOES

Control Program Mapped for Defense Areas.

A state-federal mosquito control program for major defense areas in Illinois was disclosed yesterday after it had been announced that plans for action by Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties had been dropped because of the war.

The new program is part of the task assumed by the United States public health department for the nation. Federal funds will pay WPA workers who will be under the direction of both state and federal health departments.

C. W. Klassen of the state health department said that surveys have shown a high incidence of the anopheles, or malaria bearing mosquitoes, in Illinois.

Would Ward Off Malaria.

"Illinois has the mosquitoes and all that would be needed for serious trouble would be people with malaria," Klassen said. "We must be prepared for the possibility of troops now in southern camps bringing malaria into the state."

Work is underway in the Scott aviation field area near Belleville. Ditches are being cleaned in preparation for oiling, dusting, and drainage when the southern Illinois mosquito season opens in April.

In the Chicago area the work will be done near the Great Lakes naval training station, Fort Sheridan, the Glenview air base, Camp Logan in Lake county, and the Elwood ordnance works near Joliet. Also to be included are areas around Camp Grant near Rockford, the Western Cartridge plant near Alton, the Rock Island arsenal, the Savannah ordnance works, Chanute field at Rantoul, the Crab Orchard ordnance works near Carbondale, and the Parks Air college at East St. Louis.

Extension Is Expected.

It is expected that the project will be extended to include a new army camp in the Spoon river area, and a camp proposed for the state fair grounds at Springfield.

J. Lyell Clarke, chief engineer of a tri-county mosquito control survey last year, said that hopes for a $4,615,000 mosquito abatement project have been relegated to the post-war period. This proposal called for the use of 75 per cent WPA funds and 25 per cent of county and township money.

Over a four year period the project could virtually exterminate the 180 million mosquitos which each year attack the 4 million persons in the area, Clarke said.

"We need all possible resources for defense," he said. "I don't think this is the time for the project. We will get back to it after the war."

CREWS BELIEVED ACCOUNTED FOR IN SEA COLLISION

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—A representative of the United Fruit company said tonight all crewmen of two freighters which collided off the New Jersey coast last night were believed to be accounted for.

Earlier coast guard reports indicated five or six men might be missing from the United Fruit freighter San José which sank after the crash, but the company later received a message from a rescue ship expressing belief that all hands aboard the San José and the Grace Line freighter Santa Elisa had been saved. Six crewmen from the San Jose were taken ashore tonight at Newport News, Va.

It had been reported earlier that 35 of the San José's crew and 18 from the Santa Elisa had been rescued.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will attempt to answer draft and military service questions, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the query.]

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

"I own a Chicago company in defense production. Two employés, key men hard to replace, will register for the draft on Feb. 16. Will you explain about deferments? I suppose this has been explained before, but having no interest in it I missed it."

This letter was received yesterday by the Friend of the Yanks department. The course of action described below is prescribed by selective service authorities.

Form Must Be Filled Out.

The employés in question should register, then wait until they receive selective service questionnaires. When these questionnaires arrive they should immediately notify their employer.

If the employer still considers them essential and irreplaceable, he should request the employés' local draft boards to supply him with selective service form No. 42A. This is an affidavit to support a claim for occupational deferment.

This form is filled out by the employer. In it he describes the work his employé is doing, attests to the fact that it is defense production, and explains that it would be difficult or impossible to replace the employé.

Proof Is Required.

"An employer must actually show he has made an effort to find replacements and has failed," a selective service official explained. "One way of doing this is to show proof that such an agency as the Illinois State Employment service was unable to provide replacements."

With this affidavit to guide them, the local draft boards will determine whether the employés are "necessary men." If they are so considered by the board, they will be classified in 2-B and deferred for a period of six months or less. At the end of this period they will be considered anew to make sure that they are still "necessary" and "irreplaceable." They may not be deferred for longer than six months at one time.

QUESTIONS.

Mrs. H. G. writes: "My husband and I were not married when he entered the army. At that time his identification tag directed that his mother be notified in event that something happened. Can it be changed now so that I will be notified, or is this impossible?"

ANSWER: Your husband can have the tag changed if he applies thru his commanding officer for such a change.

K. L. writes: "I understand that 1-H men—the 28 year olds and those over that age—were to be reclassified, but my local draft board tells me they have no instructions in the matter. I am in that class, and I would like to know what is happening because I own a business."

ANSWER: Local draft boards have been instructed to examine the cases of men in all of their deferred classifications, including 1-H, to determine which of these men can now be called for service. If you are healthy, have no dependents, and are not in an essential industry, I imagine you will find yourself in the army within a short time.

F. L. A. writes: "I have false teeth. Will I be drafted into the army?"

ANSWER: Draft authorities report that false teeth make a man ineligible for service.

H. G. asks: "My 20th birthday anniversary is on Feb. 3. Will I be able to register for the draft on Feb. 16?"

ANSWER: No. Only men who were 20 years old on or before Dec. 31, 1941, will register.

BOY, 14, PINNED TO SHAFT WALL, SERIOUSLY HURT

William Hoenselaar, 14 years old, a newspaper delivery boy living at 6517 Minerva avenue, was found seriously injured yesterday at the fifth floor level of an elevator shaft in an apartment building at 6054 Kenwood avenue. He was pinned by the car against the wall of the shaft. The boy was taken to the Woodlawn hospital, where he was unable to tell what had happened. The building manager, Edwin Blomstrand, said the elevator operator was off duty when the boy was found and that the elevator was out of service.

SPLIT INDICATED IN TIMBER FRAUD TRIAL DEFENSE

Lawyers Clash; Testimony to Be Resumed Today.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Possibility was seen yesterday that a rift may develop today among nine defendants on trial in Federal court on charges of fleecing 2,000 midwest investors of more than 7 million dollars thru the Resources Corporation International, a Mexican timber land promotion.

Open antagonism flared several times in Friday's session before Judge Michael L. Igoe and a jury as Chief Defense Counsel Floyd E. Thompson and Joseph A. Struett, attorney for W. D. Durland of New Orleans, clashed over a cross-examination conducted by Struett. Thompson repeatedly voiced objections to questions put by Durland's attorney.

Division of Interests.

Dissension reached a climax when Struett informed Judge Igoe he would present affidavits in court today to show antagonism of the other defendants and a division of interests.

The controversy developed during the testimony of John W. McCurdy, director of the James D. Lacey Co., timber appraisers. He said a report on R. C. I. timber holdings which had been prepared by Durland—formerly a Lacey agent—had fixed the corporation's stumpage realization prospects at 110 million dollars.

McCurdy said stumpage realization was a technical term used by lumber operators, that it would be misunderstood by investors, and that the 110 million did not represent market value of the R. C. I. holdings.

Further, he testified that the Lacey report had been misused by R. C. I.; that it had been called an appraisal, and that it had been circulated in pamphlets instead of being used only to qualify the corporation's stock with blue sky and securities commissions, as the late H. S. Hoover, the promoter, had promised. [Bruce L. Hoover, a nephew of H. S. Hoover, is one of the nine defendants.]

Uses Pronoun "They."

In cross-examining McCurdy Struett frequently used the pronoun, "they," apparently referring to H. S. Hoover, who was named in the indictment as a co-conspirator, and his associates. Each time he did so, Chief Defense Counsel Thompson objected sharply and insisted Struett specify that he meant H. S. Hoover, or Arnold Joerns, a former R. C. I. president, who figured in McCurdy's testimony.

The feeling was aggravated still further when letters, exchanged in 1931 by Durland and the manager of Lacey's Jacksonville, Fla., branch were offered in evidence by William J. Connor, first assistant district attorney, and Thomas B. Hart and Wayne Knight, special assistants. Thompson vigorously opposed admission of the letters as prejudicial and damaging to the other eight defendants.

UNIQUE COLLEGE BARS ALL EXCEPT 'BACKWARD' BOYS

Admits Lowest Fourth of High School Class.

Tabor, Ia., Jan. 18 [Special].—A college which accepts only boys who finish high school in the lowest 25 per cent of their class has been established in this southwestern Iowa town of fewer than 1,000 residents.

This amazing entrance requirement, setting the educational world topsy-turvy, was established by Dr. Robert Enlow O'Brian, preacher, educator, politician, and business man, the new president of Tabor college.

Dr. O'Brian, former president of Morningside college in Sioux City and former Iowa secretary of state, always wanted to run a college for the "lower one-fourth" who seldom get invitations to colleges campuses.

Closing of School Averted.

Last winter he got his chance. The president of Tabor resigned and the college faced its second closing in its 80 years. The trustees asked Dr. O'Brian to take over. He agreed, on the understanding that he could introduce his scholarship ideas.

The school opened last September with a dozen students. Dr. O'Brian hopes to add 26 each semester, until the maximum of 200, set by the new by-laws, is reached. The course is what Dr. O'Brian describes as the "old liberal arts course, brought up to date." All students must master typewriting and shorthand as well as German and Spanish.

English composition is taught as a "remedial" course, stressing correct spelling and use of clear, coherent words. Mathematics is of the statistical and accounting variety. The rest of the course follows traditional liberal arts lines.

Advance Forms Goal.

Dr. O'Brian believes Tabor's graduates should be able to enter business or industry. He hopes to see them get jobs as private secretaries, shipping clerks, and in similar positions, and "with the prestige of a B. A. degree and the training of a solid, practical course behind them" believes they can work up to executive posts or to business ownership.

He said part of the school's program is to have students entertained occasionally by business men so students may "learn to talk their language."

The college will have no intercollegiate athletics, because Dr. O'Brian believes such programs add nothing of value to a student's life. Every boy is required, however, to master some sport that he can enjoy thruout life, such as hunting, fishing, bowling, and billiards.

Valedictorian Turned Down.

The school turned down its first applicant, the nephew of a wealthy business man, because he was valedictorian of his high school class.

Another boy was accepted, however, when the principal sent his high school record with the notation: "I'm sure he will be acceptable. Heaven knows his grades are low enough!"

No rules are invoked except those made by the boys themselves. Standard achievement tests are used to measure student progress. Enrolment is limited to men students.

BERWYN AUTOIST KILLED IN CRASH; COMPANION HURT

Joliet Pair Die When Car Hits Truck.

George Dietz, 28 years old, 2100 South Lombard avenue, Berwyn, was killed yesterday and a companion, George Hynous of 6947 West 26th street, Berwyn, was critically injured when their automobile collided with another car on highway 41 two miles south of Sullivan, Ind. The driver of the second car was Elliott H. Bearce, 36, of Carlisle, Ind.

Trucker Escapes Injury.

The truck driver, A. C. Peoples of Marion, O., was unhurt. He had been forced to stop because of battery trouble, and had placed flares on the highway and hung lanterns on the truck.

The body of a woman killed Saturday night at Sheridan road and Pratt avenue was identified yesterday as that of Miss Gwendolyn Gonzales, 24, of 1102 Pratt boulevard, a stenographer.

Miss Gonzales was hit first by the automobile of Jack Lindermuth, 19, of 3716 North Paulina street. The impact threw her against the side of a Chicago Motor Coach company bus driven by Edward J. Leibach, 7320 Osceola avenue.

Two Die of Injuries.

Mrs. Vincentina Nowosielski, 67, of 2320 South California avenue, died in Bethany hospital of injuries received Dec. 31, when she was struck by a truck at 23d place and California avenue. The driver was John C. Mateja, 1726 West 21st street.

Martin Orzechowski, 56, of 1458 South Ashland avenue, who was struck by an automobile driven by Charles A. Koczorowski, 46, of 3640 North Long avenue, last Dec. 11 at 14th street and Racine avenue, died in County hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 58 persons had been killed in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 43 were killed in Chicago, where 1,148 were injured in the same period.

GAS AND SMOKE FELL 80 FIREMEN BATTLING BLAZE

Malden, Mass., Jan. 18 (AP).—Eighty firemen were overcome by smoke and escaping illuminating gas from broken mains today in a furious fire that swept a downtown business block. Damage was estimated between $40,000 and $50,000.

The fire was controled by relief crews of firemen summoned from a half dozen cities. At one time all three of Malden's deputy fire chiefs were overcome.

The nearby police station and fire station were turned into emergency hospitals, and a dozen doctors and nurses directed the work of rescue crews sent by the Boston fire department and the gas company.

A number of the firemen were overcome twice and even three times, returning to their tasks after being revived.

VIRGIL WEBSTER, LONG A BROKER, IS DEAD AT 53

Virgil Carlton Webster, a broker and member of the Chicago Stock exchange for 25 years, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital. He was 53 years old. Mr. Webster entered the hospital Jan. 9 after his automobile struck a truck at Wacker drive and State street, but physicians said death resulted from a stroke suffered apparently a moment before the accident. He lived at 906 Greenwood avenue, Evanston. Surviving are his widow, Lorene, and a daughter, Mrs. Jean Graves. Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1567 Maple avenue, Evanston.

W. DAVID OWEN, FORMER BROKER IN CHICAGO, DIES

W. David Owen, former Chicago investment banker and former husband of Ruth Thompson, daughter of John R. Thompson of restaurant fame, died Saturday in New York, following a stroke in his office, it became known here last night.

Owen, before the first World war, had been associated with a Chicago lithographing firm, then served as a second lieutenant in the United States army. After the war he joined the Thompson restaurant and grocery business and later went into the brokerage business. He was a partner in the firm of Hornblower & Weeks at the time of his death.

He was married in 1919 to Miss Thompson, who divorced him in 1934. His second wife, who was Miss Gretchen Jarecki of Cincinnati, O., survives him as do two daughters and two sons of his first marriage. He was a member of the Chicago club, the Saddle and Cycle club, and the Union League club of Chicago. The funeral will be held Tuesday in Cincinnati.

Condition of State Director of Mines Still Serious

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18 [Special].—The condition of Robert M. Medill, director of the state department of mines and minerals, was described as still serious today by his physician, Dr. Thomas Harmon. Medill, critically injured in an automobile accident last week, is battling for his life at St. John's hospital here. Dr. Frederick Tice of Chicago, chest and lung specialist, sent to Springfield by Gov. Dwight Green, conferred with local physicians today on the case. One of the director's lungs, punctured by a fractured rib at the time of the accident, has collapsed.

FOUR WILD WEST BANDITS INVADE HOTEL; GET $150

Four masked bandits invaded the lobby of an apartment hotel at 7100 South Shore drive in wild west fashion last night. They forced Miss Frances McHugh, 21 years old, of 3520 Lake street, to leave the switchboard lest she give the alarm, and then took $150 from Miss Elsie Marquardt, 23, of 7651 Coles avenue, the cashier.

In their haste, however, they overlooked $300 more that was in the same cash drawer.

The bandits drove the office staff and several residents and visitors into a back room. There they took $40 from Mrs. Harry L. Ascher of 5660 Blackstone avenue, the wife of a New York dress factory's Chicago representative. Mrs. Ascher had just arrived at the hotel to visit friends.

ROB TWO FILLING STATIONS.

Two armed bandits held up two filling stations in a half hour last night. They got $13 from Orrian Miller, 6958 South Western avenue, and $20 from Theodore Mathiew, 5759 South Western.

TRUMAN TALLEY DIES; PRODUCER OF NEWSREELS

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Truman Hughes Talley, 50 years old, executive vice president in charge of production of Movietone News, died today after a long illness.

He entered film work in 1922 and was a leading figure in the newsreel and short subject branch of the motion picture industry. A native of Rockport, Mo., he attended the University of Missouri and worked on newspapers in St. Louis before joining the staff of the New York Herald in 1916. He covered the Versailles Peace conference in 1919 and joined Fox News in 1922.

Among pictures Talley produced were his documentary film, "The First World War," Martin Johnson's "Congorilla" and "Baboona," Lowell Thomas' "Magic Carpet," and Father Hubbard's "Alaskan Adventures."

Church Poor Box Looted 6 Times, but Not Seventh

On six Sundays in succession, the poor box had been looted by a sneak thief in St. Maurice's Roman Catholic church, 3601 South Hoyne avenue. Yesterday Detectives Edmond Lacny and Ben Surwill of the Brighton Park police concealed themselves in the church and waited. They caught Frank A. Sendaj, 26 years old, 1831 18th street, as he was taking $6.85 from the poor box.

RADIO RECEIVER PRODUCTION CUT BY WAR DEMAND

No Plans for Rationing, Official Says.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

While the manufacture of radio receivers for civilian use is being scaled down, no complete shutdown has been ordered and no plans for rationing are in sight. This announcement was made in behalf of the Radio Manufacturers association, thru its president, Paul U. Galvin, also president of the Galvin Manufacturing company of Chicago.

"The radio industry is widely engaged on an enormous program of vital radio and other military equipment," Galvin said. This program will be greatly expanded as the war goes on, he said, and calls for restrictions in set building for civilian use.

"An Office of Production Management order curtailing civilian radio by about 30 per cent during the first three months of 1942 is awaited," he said. "More drastic curtailments are expected for each subsequent quarter of this year as the industry becomes more extensively engaged in the military program. But no complete shutdown of production for civilian use is anticipated."

Frequency modulation is becoming an increasingly important factor in military communications and in many applications shows a decided superiority over the standard type of radio transmission, he said.

Galvin said that the radio industry will turn out in 1942 more than 1 billion 200 million dollars' worth of war communications equipment. This is almost three times the total value of 13,000,000 radio sets built for civilian use last year.

While the deadline for submission of completed works in the $10,500 W-G-N operetta quest is Feb. 10, finished scores are being received daily. Reading teams are at work on the early entries.

Final judging will be left to 10 nationally known musical authorities. The readers are outlining high points in the entries to help the judges reach their decisions. A total of 2,232 entries were made in the competition.

The Sunday Evening concert series, sponsored by a Detroit motor maker, will be suspended indefinitely after March 1. This program originated with the Chicago Century of Progress in 1934 and has been on the air since, coming from the Masonic temple in Detroit.

AUTO SALESMAN TURNS ON HEAT, FOR NEW BUGGY

The salesman in the showroom of Brotzman and Melms, Elgin auto dealers, sounded like old times yesterday, as he told customers:

"Yes, we expect delivery next week. We've ordered a coupe—I mean one-seater. It's a clean job. It's going to have a folding top, streamlined back fenders and it'll be black with a neat stripe of red or blue. And later we're going to have some de luxe models. Very snappy."

The showroom is going to introduce a new line, to keep up with the modern times, he went on. Next week Brotzman and Melms expect to display a brand new buggy which they ordered several weeks ago from the Standard Vehicle company of Lawrenceburg, Ind. The buggy will be new but the model dates back to 1918. As a sideline the display room will sell harnesses.

W-G-N PROGRAM SALUTES PUPILS OF MEDILL HIGH

The Citizens of Tomorrow program presented yesterday on W-G-N saluted Medill High school. The program is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Joseph Medill, for whom the school was named, was editor of THE TRIBUNE. He was the grandfather of Col. Robert R. McCormick, present editor and publisher.

Walter M. Shea, principal of the school, related its history during the broadcast. The Medill chorus under the direction of Miss Mila Vodicka sang several selections.

Two more student names were added to the roll of honor: Geraldine Turner, senior at Medill, and Joe A. Collings, senior of West Lafayette, Ind.

4 CARS DERAILED ON SOUTH SHORE ELECTRIC LINE

Traffic was upset last night on the South Shore electric line between Gary and Michigan City after three loaded coal cars and a caboose left the rails on the way into Chicago and upset. The last four cars of the 12 car train were derailed when part of a car caught in a switch, railroad men said.

Coal was dumped over some 200 yards of the track, part of it spilling over onto the edge of Highway 12, which parallels the tracks at that point. The accident was just outside the eastern edge of Gary. No one was hurt.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle. It must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stineway and drug stores everywhere.

Marries Actor

Tommye Adams signing certificate just before her marriage to Lyle Talbot.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 18 (AP).—With a wedding ring that had been borrowed because the bride forgot the one he had given her, Actor Lyle Talbot and Tommye Adams, artist's model and stage dancer, were married backstage today at Municipal auditorium. She arrived late by air from her home at Charlotte, N. C., and whispered to Talbot that she had forgotten the ring. Talbot's mother, Mrs. Joel E. Henderson of Omaha, Neb., came to the rescue with her ring. The ceremony was performed by Max Asotsky, justice of the peace, after a matinée performance of "Separate Rooms."

200 MEN SOUGHT FOR COAST GUARD OFFICER SCHOOL

Two hundred men from the Chicago area are needed as officers in the coast guard reserve, Capt. Thomas A. Shanley, senior coast guard officer of the 9th naval district, said yesterday.

Applicants must be 20 to 30 years old, inclusive, unmarried, and must have a degree of bachelor of science or bachelor of arts from an accredited college. They must have taken at least two semesters of mathematics, including trigonometry, in college.

Men accepted for training will be sent to the coast guard academy at New London, Conn., where the next class will begin its 120 day training period Feb. 10. A new class will enter the academy each four months. Graduates are commissioned ensigns in the coast guard reserve, and will be on active duty for the duration.

Applicants should call or write to the coast guard recruiting office, room 852 in the federal building.

Men Resent a 'Boy Friend' Introduction

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The etiquet editor will tell you that it is not correct form to introduce your escort of the evening as "my boy friend."

We have heard it done recently by a young woman from whom the introduction came as a bit of a shock, not only to the outsiders in the assembled gathering, but to the young woman's parents and immediate family members.

"Gosh," said a 17 year old brother, "she's trying to hook the guy all right!"

And that is the usual masculine reaction, as further substantiated by the girl's father's comment about the regrettable ways of some of the young moderns.

In certain circles, however, a girl would no more think of introducing her escort as her "boy friend" than she would commit any other social error. It is not good social form and we introduce the theme today just to warn girls.

It's embarrassing for a chap to be plunged into a fireside group, as on the occasion referred to, and be led around as the "boy friend" when the relationship had reached no engagement stage. Even did an engagement exist it still would be considered poor form. Let the introduction stand simply with the boy referred to by his name.

Looking at Hollywood . . . By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—Sunday—A threesome at Lakeside with Blake McVeigh and Perry Lieber, then a column to write. Pickups from the notebook: Jim Cagney might — just might — exercise his option to quit the Warners in a couple of weeks. Paramount wants him for a picture with either Madeleine Carroll or Dorothy Lamour. . . . Miss Carroll has been talking with Robert Sherwood, in charge of international radio propaganda, and may do some short wave stuff to France. She speaks excellent French. . . . Paramount's Buddy de Sylva is bidding for William Gaxton to join Victor Moore and maybe Bob Hope in a film version of the old comedy, "Are You a Mason?" . . . Max and Nathaniel Lief have completed a screen musical, "Somewhere in Manhattan." . . . There's this angle on so many top bracket men quitting studios these days: income taxes put a virtual ceiling on their salaries, and they figure it may be better to form their own producing companies and build tangible assets. . . . With Eyre Powell in the evening to the Masquers, where Friar Milton Berle is the honor guest and a very funny one.

Madeleine Carroll.

Monday — Lunch with Richard Macaulay, who is scripting "Aloha Means Good-by"—under the new title of "Across the Pacific." Warner executives insisted on the switch. . . . Two New Yorkers have arrived: Philo Higley, "Remember the Day" playwright, who has been doing some of Helen Hayes' air scripts, for a half year of screen writing at Columbia; and Leonard Gaynor, movie publicity man, for some special work on Alfred Hitchcock's "Saboteur."

Tuesday—To Paramount, to watch Preston Sturges putting Mary Astor and Rudy Vallee thru a scene of "Palm Beach Story," and then for a chat with Ralph Murphy, who'll soon begin filming Fay Bainter in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." . . . Early dinner at the Warner commissary, and with Cagney, Bogart, Durante, H. M. Warner, and a busload of other stars and stock girls to entertain some soldiers at a point which can't be named.

Wednesday — Home work all day, broken only by a visit from our air raid warden, Howard J. Green. He allows the house is fixed up okay, and we talk show business. Howard, one time newspaper man, then a vaudeville producer, has scripted many a hit, including "Fugitive from a Chain Gang" and "Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex." Rosalind Russell and Fred Brisson have given up plans for a ranch at Santa Ynez because Brisson may go into the army . . . Winston Churchill took with him, wherever he went, six American movies he'd asked for, including "Louisiana Purchase," "Captains of the Clouds," "The Remarkable Andrew" and "Bahama Passage."

Thursday—To Twentieth-Fox and an outdoor set of "Secret Agent of Japan." It's a Chinese street, and coolies are running around like mad things with rickshas. I get to laughing, thinking it would be the height of service if studio press agents would haul correspondents around in rickshas. . . . I hear that S. P. Eagle is considering going back to his old name, Sam Spiegel. . . . Lunch at the Players, and Leo McCarey tells me of incorporating a producing company. His contract fight with Howard Hughes has kept him out of film work a long time. . . . Dinner at Janet and Peter Milne's, and much gab with a dozen amiable folk. Charlie Byers tells me Babe Ruth, who's signed for Goldwyn's Gehrig film, made a movie in 1920 and it was so bad it was never released. Not the Babe's fault.

Friday—Inquiring around. Ray Milland will be Ginger Rogers' boy in "The Major and the Minor." . . . Two film musicals about defense plants are shaping up. Sam Goldwyn's will be "Wing Shift," about the night spots frequented by 4 to midnight workers. Authors are Ben and Sol Barzman and Bess Taffel, who wrote some of "Meet the People." The youngsters used to be Portland, Ore., garment workers. Paramount's movie will be "Priorities of 1942," a sort of "Pins and Needles" with a defense plant background.

Saturday—To Columbia to watch Franchot Tone and Joan Bennett work, but my heart's not in it and all Hollywood is in the dumps. Because everybody knew and loved Carole Lombard and Otto Winkler, who died in a plane crash last night. Winkler, sunny-tempered and smart, was one of the best and best-liked studio press agents.

Way You Walk Is the Real Youth Secret

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You can talk about cosmetic creams and lotions for skin preservation, and there's plenty to say in their favor, too. And you can talk about dress colors and accessories that are chic, and about diets to keep the weight under control. BUT, believe us, if it is the illusion of youth you wish to have and to hold, don't let any one tell you that the way you walk isn't the sublimest of youth secrets.

Not all the other wiles, lures, tricks, creams, lotions, and graces put together will give and maintain the youthful look for you that lies in the way you walk. It doesn't even matter if you carry superfluous poundage, as long as you walk tall, and swing your body from the hips, keep your toes straight ahead, and walk lightly upon them. That's the real youth secret, and the greatest of them all.

Once that back slips into a rounded curve, once the head lolls forward toward the chest, once you begin clumping down on your heels, you're a goner as far as youth is concerned. Age is atop you, hindering you.

Yes, that's the trick of cheating time, and about the only guaranteed one. Wear that head tall and handsomely, poise it atop the shoulders grandly. Apply the Powers model rule of pulling the head up tall out of the shoulders, the shoulders up out of the hips, and the hips up out of the knees, and you're going places no matter what the calendar tells.

Sally Always Has Place for Wheel Chairs

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Within the last few months, we have had more than forty requests for wheel chairs for persons who are permanently handicapped. Fifty per cent of these appeals come from fathers or mothers of invalid children. In almost all the cases, the writers have very small or at best, moderate, incomes, and the expenses incurred for treatment, hospitalization, etc. of the invalids have depleted all resources to the point where further expenditure is impossible.

Some of the youngsters are able to attend special schools, and have the use of chairs during the school period, but do not have the use of them at home. Others are too ill or helpless to attend school, and because of enforced inactivity, are frequently heavy and difficult to lift or carry. In many of these families there are several other normal children to be cared for by weary mothers, and a chair would be of immeasurable help. These requests come from the city, the suburbs, and from small towns in other states, so we feel we can utilize offers of help from almost any section.

Many of the adults are victims of crippling diseases, or strokes, or have lost one or both legs. They range in age from 21 to 68, and live in all parts of the city and suburbs. All of them are willing to pay transportation charges on chairs.

The details of all of these cases are pathetic, and we hope that no one who has an unused wheel chair will allow it to remain idle.

Horowitz Puts Unrivaled Gifts to Dubious Use

The Star Spangled Banner.....
Four Sonatas.....Scarlatti
Polonaise-Fantaisie, Opus 61.....Chopin
Mazurkas, F minor and C-sharp minor, Opus 63.....Chopin
Scherzo, B minor, Opus 20.....Chopin
Sonata No. 6, Opus 82.....Prokofieff
[First time in Chicago.]
Sonetto del Petrarca, No. 104.....Liszt
Danse Macabre.....Saint-Saëns—Liszt
[Revised by Vladimir Horowitz.]

BY CECIL SMITH.

Once again yesterday afternoon the atmosphere of Orchestra hall was supercharged with the high voltage enthusiasm a recital by Vladimir Horowitz always generates. Who except Horowitz could elicit loud cries of "Bravo!" after so uncompromising and rigorously dissonant a piece of music as Serge Prokofieff's newest piano sonata? And who else could surround himself with quite the same intent, open mouthed audience of overflow patrons, sitting immobile on precipitously tiered extra chairs on the stage?

The particular adulation which the concert audience reserves for Horowitz is a just tribute to the fact that he possesses a greater gift for playing the piano than any one else alive. No technical feat is too difficult for him, once he has decided to vanquish its perils. No pianist can produce a more luminous singing tone on the one hand, or call forth such thunderous sonority on the other.

The question to be answered in a review of a Horowitz recital, then, is not: How well did he play? Rather, it is: What kind of use did he make of his unrivaled gifts? And when I face the necessity of answering this second question, I blanch a little at the thought that some readers may confuse the issue by accusing me of failing to recognize Horowitz' supreme pianistic ability.

But let us get down to business anyway. I thought two pieces, no more and no less, were really well interpreted yesterday. These were the little F minor mazurka of Chopin, which was played with reticence and charm, and one of the Petrarch sonnets of Liszt, which had the fullness of sentiment and the oratorical breadth without which it sounds merely empty.

Otherwise, despite many passages of ravishing beauty, I felt that Horowitz too consistently allowed a love for sheer pianism and a temptation to be theatrically dynamic at all costs to obscure too many deeper and more abiding musical values. I understood the musical substance of the new Prokofieff sonata more clearly when a Chicago pianist played it for me privately, with more objectivity and less searching for effects. And certainly the Chopin B minor scherzo is better when its accents are not so percussive and so crowded upon one another by high speed.

The Prokofieff sonata is a valuable addition to piano literature, for its substance is interesting, especially when the composer is searching for unwonted melodic freedom, and its instrumental idiom is effective. While Prokofieff did not endeavor to cope with all the intellectual problems that are implicit in the structure of a sonata, he succeeded in presenting good material straightforwardly and often stirringly.

Mr. Horowitz wound up his program with his own new arrangement of Saint-Saëns' "Danse Macabre," which is even more of a stunt piece than the "Carmen" fantasy, and caused the customers to pound their palms to a pulp, demanding encores.

Alumnae of National Park to Hold Luncheon Today

Old times will be recalled by alumnae of National Park college at their annual luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Union League club. Ray Tasco Davis, president of the college, and Dean Katherine Munford will be the especial guests. The Chicago chapter of the alumnae association, of which Mrs. F. Harold Pulfer is president, maintains the National Park Day nursery at 1261 North Wolcott avenue.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Forehanded.

Preparedness note: Herma Clark passes along the information that Miss Weaver, head of the tearoom and cafeteria of the Lawson YMCA, is taking flying lessons, not with the idea of becoming a professional flyer, but because she believes planes will be as common as automobiles after the war.

Bank Words.

Here are a few words peculiar to the banking profession:

Scotch Draft—An expression relating to the check tax. Large companies would draw one draft on themselves to pay for small checks issued by them.

Fed—Federal Reserve bank.

Standards—Silver dollars.

Wire fate—An expression not meaning "Say yes, and make me the happiest man in the world." Far from it. It means: "Advise us by telegram just what disposition has been made of the check or draft in question," and is used by the collection department of a bank.

On Employers.

From "Sis" comes this suggestion:

"I think it would be interesting to compare notes on the idiosyncrasies of employers and the funny little 'extra' assignments they give to their secretaries.

"I have in mind one man who, at the beginning of each calendar year, asks his secretary to mark on her calendar the date of his wedding anniversary, his wife's birthday, and the birthdays of his daughters. A few days before each date she reminds him, and he in turn orders flowers or other suitable gifts.

"And then there is the man whose secretary serves as a sort of personal shopping service for her employer. She calls the cleaner to pick up his suits; she selects his ties and shirts and has them sent to his home. You can see him any day . . . a well turned out man, thru the unofficial services of his secretary."

Hearts Will Break.

An aspiring writer whose first play was rejected by the Goodman theater was reminded by a consoling friend of the statement of Edith Wharton that one need not have a broken heart to be a great writer, but that one must have the kind of a heart that CAN break. "It will," she murmured prophetically, "it will!"

For Stenos.

"Don't be a 'clock watcher' and 'calorie concentrator,'" warns the Friendly Steno, "when lunch hour comes and the boss is in the midst of dictation. Unlike the old penny proverb, a minute saved is not always a minute earned. Stifle your hunger, starving stenos, and let him finish the letter."

COMPARE FOR:

Safety

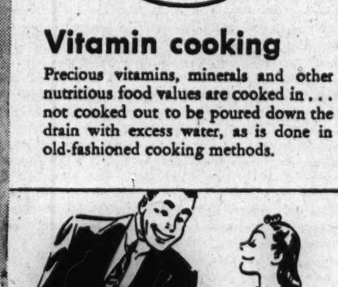
Speed
Electricity cooks foods as fast as any known fuel. All units give intense heat. Cooking starts quickly and continues as fast as food can be cooked properly.

Cleanliness
No soot—no smoke—no smudge . . . electric heat is the last word in cleanliness. Pots and pans stay shining bright without scrubbing or scouring. Walls and curtains stay clean far longer.

Ease
So easy and so dependable . . . just set the dials and your automatic electric range will cook delicious, taste-tempting meals every time. No watching . . . no worrying . . . no testing necessary.

Vitamin cooking
Precious vitamins, minerals and other nutritious food values are cooked in . . . not cooked out to be poured down the drain with excess water, as is done in old-fashioned cooking methods.

Perfect results
Flameless electric heat is constant—uniform . . . never wavers. That's why pies, cakes and pastries turn out perfect every time . . . meat and vegetables retain all their natural flavor and deliciousness.



Economy
Cheaper cuts of meats can be cooked deliciously tender in the deep well cooker. There's less shrinkage, too. And the average cost of electricity for electric range cooking in Chicago homes is only $2.11 a month . . . yes, only $2.11 a month.

Service
Our home economists visit the homes of electric range users and give valuable advice on cooking. And as an extra advantage, in Chicago, all operating parts of electric ranges are being serviced without charge to the customer.

Casual Encounter.

We learn on high authority how President Roosevelt informed Donald P. Nelson he was America's new chief of war production:

"I'm sick of carrying all this load myself," the President said to Nelson in the White House. "Here's a letter I've written you."

You're Right, Son.

John Becker, former Chicagoan who now is in New York writing plays, came home last week for the funeral of his grandfather, Jacob L. Loeb, who died at the age of 104, a very gay old gentleman, thoroly unburdened by his years. Last summer Mr. Loeb complained of a crick in his neck.

"Bothered me ever since the World's fair," he grumbled.

"Which fair, Gramps?" Becker asked.

"The Philadelphia one, of course."

"When was that?"

"Why, 1876, of course."

"Well, Gramps," Becker consoled him. "You never should have gone to that fair."

Information, Please.

Irene Bordoni produced for our edification a form postcard. Stamped on its correspondence side are many French phrases, the first being Je suis [I am]. Then follow phrases of well being, all but one to be scratched out by the sender. They are en bonne santé [in good health], legèrement gravement malade blessé [faintly, seriously, ill, wounded], prisonnier [prisoner], tué [killed].

This is the form issued by the Nazi gauleiters of occupied France, the only postcard which may be sent thru the authorized mail.

"And just how," she asks, "is one to write, 'I am killed.'?"

Papa Gallo in an Apron.

After the final bars of Hansel and Gretel, the Chicago opera's postseason matinée, had been sung Saturday, Fortuno Gallo, the pudgy, white haired little director, chatting with friends at the opera buffet, suddenly turned to one woman. "Have you a nize beeg kitchen?" he asked in fine Italianate tempo. Yes, she did. "Well," said Papa Gallo, "then we make spaghetti."

Sending the hostess-to-be and six other guests on their homeward path, Gallo disappeared. "I will follow," he said merrily. Soon he came, trudging up the stairs beneath great brown grocery sacks. Taking off his morning coat, he donned a flowered cretonne apron and took possession of the nize beeg kitchen. Out of his sacks came meatballs, tomato paste, pimientos, cheese, garlic, onions, olive oil, uncooked spaghetti, even French bread.

As he cooked, he talked. All season he had wanted to make spaghetti. Now, the season over, spaghetti. And as he whisked about, tossing in ingredients, he carefully washed each used utensil. "He can cook in my kitchen any time he wants to," the hostess marveled. "Imagine such cleanliness!" But in 30 minutes the sauce was done and piled over the spaghetti, a great mound filling an enormous silver platter. Five minutes later not a string of spaghetti, not a driblet of sauce, remained. But coffee? "You make it," Papa Gallo directed his hostess. "That is one language I do not speak."

Near Tragedy.

Hundreds of children attended the matinée, Hansel and Gretel being childhood's best beloved tale. One woman, who brought three tiny children, was stopped by the usher when she handed him her tickets. "But, madam," he said. "These are for Pal Joey." Aghast, the woman racked her memory. She had told her chauffeur to go to the opera house and get four tickets; instead he had gone to the Grand Opera house, where the ultrasophisticated musical comedy is playing. Reduced to tears, she tried to get seats, but the opera was sold out. Result: Extra chairs were set up in boxes.

Pump Room, Jan. 17.

Nothing happened.

Leon Mandels Serve Nation in Their Yacht

BY JUDITH CASS.

NOW it can be told that the Leon Mandels in their luxurious yacht Carola have been on secret government business during the last year. This word came from Havana, Cuba, in a letter written Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mandel are on their way home to open their attractive town house in East Oak street, which has been closed during the year they have been away. The Mandels turned over the 165 foot yacht Buccaneer to the navy shortly before Mr. Mandel acquired the 247 foot Carola, which was named for his beautiful wife, the former Carola Panera of Havana.

During the last year the Mandels have cruised 18,000 miles up and down the Pacific coast, visiting scores of ports in California, Mexico, Central and South America. They have collected valuable pieces of pre-Inca Peruvian ceramics, and while in Peru they joined a private excavating party digging into ancient tombs. Mrs. Mandel has a new pet, a friendly little black monkey with a white face that she bought from a street vendor in Honduras. Miss Parka, the monkey is called.

While in Havana the Mandels spent much time with two other sports enthusiasts, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hemingway, who are making the Cuban capital their winter home. Donald Nelson, Gene Markey, Basil O'Connor, and the junior James Simpsons are among recent guests of the Mandels.

Leander McCormicks Give Up Yacht Trip.

Last November the Leander McCormicks had tickets bought and their bags packed, ready to join the Mandels at Acapulco on the west coast of Mexico. The day before Mr. and Mrs. McCormick were to have left Chicago they had a cable from their host, telling them that the Pacific no longer was safe enough to be the scene of the Carola's operations and that the party was going to proceed to the Caribbean. So the McCormicks settled down to spend the winter in Chicago, where she is busily engaged in Red Cross work, serving five days a week in the canteen corps.

Aboard the Buccaneer and the Carola Mr. Mandel has made six trips for the Field museum in Chicago. The last one, a year ago, to the Galapagos Islands in the Pacific off the northwestern coast of South America, brought back 350 species of fish, 500 birds, and 100 reptiles and mammals. Among the trophies of this last trip is a ten and one-half foot sailfish and a four three-quarter inch one, both extreme as to size.

Vested-Moore Wedding Date Set for Feb. 4.

Miss Mary Helen Moore and Robert Adam Vested have chosen Wednesday, Feb. 4, as their wedding date. The Rev. Douglas Cornell of the Glencoe Union church will perform the 4:30 o'clock ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Moore of Glencoe. The small family wedding will be followed by a larger reception at the Skokie Country club.

Mrs. John D. Huggins will be the bride's only attendant, and Mr. Vested will have his father, Harry B. Vested of Chicago, as best man. After a wedding trip of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Vested will be at home on the near north side.

Miss Anne Daughaday and John Quincy Adams Jr. haven't yet chosen their attendants, but the rest of the plans for their wedding on Saturday, Feb. 21, have been completed. The small family wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. John W. Gary of Glencoe.

Here for the wedding will be the bride's sister, Mrs. John M. Miller Jr. of East Orange, N. J. The two young women are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Daughaday of Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. Adams Sr. also live in Winnetka.

Crowd Expected to See Miss Barrymore Tonight.

The opening of the American Theater society's third play of the season, "The Corn Is Green," is expected to draw a full house of Chicagoans to the Harris theater tonight to hail the return of Ethel Barrymore. Reservations have been made by Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Mrs. Norval Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Pool, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert N. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Charles True Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDougal Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus M. Adler, Mrs. Charles H. Schwab II., Frank McNair, Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. Leslie Atlass, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hixon, Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Moon, Mrs. Frank W. Howes, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Bischof, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Haywood, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Byron Smith, Mrs. Thomas Johnson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, and Mrs. D. Eckhart Williams.

Mrs. J. Eugene Davis of Glencoe will preside at the annual meeting and luncheon of the Arden Shore association today at 11:30 o'clock at the Chicago Athletic association. Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, honorary president of the board, will tell of her early experiences with Arden Shore nearly four decades ago. Other speakers will be Miss Ruth Austin of Gads Hill, who will outline the responsibilities of social agencies during the national emergency, and Miss Anna Belle Ferrier, executive head of the summer and winter camps.

Beware Strange War Sown Faiths, Methodists Told

More than 2,000 Methodist pastors and lay leaders from Chicago and nearby suburban Methodist churches met yesterday at Chicago Temple, 77 West Washington street, "to face the present situation and to be on the alert against dangerous conditions arising from war."

This call was issued by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, head of the Methodist area of Chicago. He said the suddenness of war's coming had caught us flatfooted and unalert, but that it had unified the country, which now must continue on the alert against seeds of foreign isms being sown in this country.

Some of the seeds of danger he enumerated are militarism of a lasting kind, barbarism, paganism, supernationalism, secularism "that sees everyday needs placed above things of the spirit," intolerance, and discrimination against minority groups and races. Bishop Waldorf pleaded for opportunities for Negroes on an equal footing in the professions and industry.

The church was called on to carry on its regular program in addition to emergency activities.

Big Audience Finds Delight in Argentinita

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The old saw about every man having two countries — his own and France—should be revised to include a third, Spain. The big audiences that greet Argentinita here each year are, like most other Chicago audiences, made up of people whose forebears came from the north and west of Europe, but they find the art of Spain as comprehensible as if they were fresh off the boat from Vigo.

Yesterday's Civic Opera house audience was no exception. As Argentinita and her company, in their smiling, aristocratic, well mannered way, presented one after another the old and new dances of Spain and the Spanish lands, the audience seemed to find every subtlety of meter meaningful and every motion and posture and even facial expression a source of delight.

One carried away from the opera house yesterday a dominant impression of ease and jollity and laughter —but there is much more to the art of these dancers than this implies. Rhythms and routines which were vigorous, languorous, tantalizing, and abandoned by turns all contributed to the complex flavor of the concert.

Argentinita's two principal colleagues, Pilar Lopez and Federico Rey, proved again that they possess personalities as arresting in their differing ways as hers. Technically, the whole preformance was beyond praise. As usual, it was richly and imaginatively costumed.

Pablo Miquel, a good musician who is unfortunately showing signs of acquiring that extreme percussiveness of style which is the fate of so many dance pianists, furnished most of the accompaniments and a pair of solos. The guitarist, Carlos Montoya, was heard in two solos and several accompaniments.

The Fine Arts String quartet, playing in Fullerton hall late yesterday afternoon, brought its three concert series to a successful close with a program that consisted of the Beethoven quintet with extra viola, the Schubert quintet with extra cello, and the quartet in B minor, opus 11, of Samuel Barber.

The last named, which had not previously been performed anywhere, turned out to be a clean, laconic work whose musical ideas are genuinely evocative and whose workmanship is extraordinary.

The performance of this, as of the other pieces, was highly competent. The Fine Arts quartet, now completing its first season, is already one of the city's musical ornaments.

Between now and Thursday persons desiring season tickets for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 14 remaining Thursday night concerts may buy main floor subscriptions at half the season rate.

College Club Will Hear Talk on Precious Stones

A talk on "Legends and Folk Lore of Precious Stones" and an exhibit of her collection of gems will be presented by Mrs. Robert O. Johnson at the College club at 11 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Harry S. Gradle, Mrs. Raymond J. Koch, and Miss Susan Wade Peabody will be hostesses at the discussion and the luncheon following.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department will report on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women who wish to take part in these activities.]

The nation's 500,000 White Ribboners are pledged to give their blood, money and time to national defense. In their first meeting since Dec. 7 the officers of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union yesterday announced that the organization has adopted broad policies of participation in financial welfare and relief phases of military and civilian relief keynoting its attitude with "The WCTU approaches war from a humane standpoint."

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith

Donations of blood and money to Red Cross mobile blood bank units, full coöperation in other Red Cross activities, and the purchase of defense stamps and bonds were included in the program adopted in a conference in Evanston which opened last Thursday and ended yesterday. National officers will go to the State Bank and Trust company in Evanston this morning at 11 o'clock to buy a $5,000 defense bond.

The five officers who attended the conference are Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Evanston, president; Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of New York, vice president; Mrs. Anna Marden De Yo of Evanston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nelle G. Burger of Springfield, Mo., recording secretary, and Mrs. Margaret C. Munns of Evanston, treasurer.

However one feels about the W. C. T. U. and its avowed purpose of returning prohibition to this country, one cannot help but admire the splendid action taken by White Ribboners at this time.

Mrs. Charles B. Koncevic of the south side is converting her two room apartment into a candy kitchen one night each week so that she and some friends can make candy for boys in camps. Her volunteer corps is divided on the lines of the draft setup. In 1-A are the single, working girls; in 2-A, the young married women who have no children; in 3-A, the married women and workers who wish to give some time but cannot be there regularly, and in 4-A, the high school girls.

At the first session the other night the women worked until after midnight, making about 10 kinds of candy from Mrs. Koncevic's collection of recipes, started when she was a little girl. This batch went to Fort Lewis in Washington. The candy cooks come in aprons, each bringing two pounds of sugar or some other ingredient.

The Cercle Français has decided to convert some of its stock and other funds into defense bonds, reports Mme. Francis M. Gunn, president. In addition to this club project, individual members are knitting, buying bonds, working at the service men's center and two or three plan to donate blood for transfusions when the Red Cross blood donors' center is opened next month. Mrs. Giuseppe Garibaldi, in charge of Red Cross activities while Mrs. Louis B. Mann headquarters, 115 North Wabash avenue.

Another 400 women are expected to attend the second in a series of four food and nutrition courses in the auditorium of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Michigan is out of town, reports that many members join the Cercle Français table Thursday at surgical dressings avenue and Adams street, sponsored by the women's coördination committee, Chicago defense commission. Certificates were awarded 400 housewives who attended the class from 9 until noon each morning last week.

"We only lost about 100 of the women who dropped in to see what it was all about," said Miss Mary Mark, instructor. "We hope to train 1,200 housewives to man the community consumer information centers. These women all seemed anxious to donate their time. We're also making plans for an evening training course."

Three American Swedish organizations are contributing money for the war effort. Both the American Daughters of Sweden, of which Mrs. George E. Q. Johnson is president, and the north side division of the Chicago Ladies' Denver aid, headed by Mrs. Alexander Williamson, are buying a $1,000 defense bond apiece. The aid society, affiliated with the Englewood sanitarium in Denver, also is giving $25 to the Red Cross. Mrs. George A. Rosberg, president of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Swedish club of Chicago, announced a $100 gift to the Red Cross from the auxiliary.

Mrs. Irene Sidley, chairman of the Red Cross nurse's aide corps, and the nurse's aides who have been trained at the new Wesley Memorial hospital will be special guests at a tea Mrs. Jones Jarratt will give at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Visitors' dining room of the hospital, 250 East Superior street. A tour is being arranged for those who have not seen the hospital. Mrs. de Koven Phelps and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner are in charge of the Wesley aides.

Dancing with soldiers, canning produce, working with handicapped children, doing recreational work in hospitals, and caring for children in day nurseries are among war duties suggested for women in the movie "Call for Volunteers" produced by the Canadian National film board. Members of the Chicago Junior league will view the movie at 11 o'clock this morning in the Polo room of the Ambassador East. The scenes were laid in the Winnipeg volunteer office.

Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the volunteer production corps of the Red Cross, has left for a week's rest in Arizona. This service has been so swamped with requests from women eager to do their share toward victory that the chairman was faced with taking an enforced vacation in bed at home or in the sun in Arizona. Wisely, she chose the latter.

The Mercy hospital auxiliary yesterday at a meeting pledged $5,000 to buy and equip a station wagon as well as a blood bank. Sister Mary Redempta, the hospital's administrator, told the auxiliary that the government has asked for two field units for emergency use, but that the hospital wishes to do more than is requested. Mrs. Charles J. Weigel of River Forest was appointed chairman of a committee to raise the amount pledged by the auxiliary.

"Pursuit of a Parcel"

By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull

(Copyright: 1942: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull)

SYNOPSIS.

Cornelius Rossiter, adopted brother of Antony Rossiter, is a spy for both Germany and England. He is known as Cornelius Roos by the Germans, and when a man high in Nazi circles suspects him of his English connection, Cornelius announces he has taken a dictograph of the man's expressions of disloyalty to Hitler and it will be sent to Goering if anything happens to Cornelius. In London, Antony is questioned by Col. Garrett of the British Intelligence, about the loyalty of his adopted brother, and Antony is sent to Holland to get secret information about Cornelius. Before going, Antony says good-by to his sweetheart, Delia Merridew, and makes her promise not to mention his errand. A package addressed to Antony is received by Delia's uncle, Philip Merridew, just before a bomb wrecks his office. Emanuel Holt, a clerk, rescues the package and Merridew, dangerously hurt, makes Emanuel promise to keep the package safe. In Holland, Antony, posing as Piet Maartens, ne'er-do-well Dutch nephew of Anna Brandt, a tavern keeper, interviews Cornelius and learns about the parcel. During an air raid, Holt's house is ransacked, but Holt has the parcel in the shelter. Afraid of his dangerous responsibility, Holt turns the package over to Delia.

INSTALMENT XIII.

ONLOOKER.

Emanuel sat and looked at Delia.

"Does that mean that you don't know where Mr. Antony is, Miss Delia, or that you can't say?" he asked.

"I don't know," said Delia, her eyes very dark in a face that was suddenly pale.

"I'd like to tell you about it if I may, Miss Delia. A seafaring kind of man brought this parcel into the office no more than a quarter of an hour before it was wrecked by the bomb—the man hadn't been gone more than five minutes. You know what happened—Mr. Peterson killed and two of the other clerks, and as likely as not I'd have been killed, too, only I was in with Mr. Merridew. And after I got him out I tried to save what I could, and one of the things I picked up off his table was this parcel for Mr. Antony. When I mentioned it to Mr. Merridew in the hospital he said to keep it by me and give it to Mr. Antony by hand."

Delia said, "Yes, Mr. Holt?"

A kind of quiver went over him.

"Well, Miss Delia, that is what has brought me here. Mr. Merridew said to keep it by me, but it doesn't look as if I was going to be able to, and I wondered——"

"Why don't you think you'll be able to keep it?" said Delia in a surprised voice.

Emanuel quivered again.

"Well, Miss Delia, it looks as if some one was trying to steal it."

"To steal it?"

"Yes, Miss Delia." He paused, and added, "Mrs. Holt and I, that was the opinion we formed."

"But why?"

He leaned nearer, dropped his voice so much that she could only just follow him, and told her about the house having been ransacked.

"Everything all over the place, just thrown out on the floor, Miss Delia. You wouldn't credit it—I'm sure I hardly could myself—Mrs. Holt's clothes and mine, and the bedding torn off the beds, and the books out of the bookcase, but nothing taken, altho there was money in one of the drawers."

"But if nothing was taken, Mr. Holt, then they didn't take the parcel."

"No, Miss Delia. But it's my opinion and Mrs. Holt's that they would have if they could."

"And why couldn't they?"

"Because the parcel was out in the shelter, Miss Delia."

Delia said, "O——" Then she said, "Why should any one want to take it? What's inside?"

Emanuel looked worried.

"I've no idea."

"Does Uncle Philip know?"

"He didn't say, Miss Delia, and they won't let me see him again, not on any account."

Delia propped her chin on her hand.

"I know—they won't let me see him either. But it's because they think he's going to get well—Dr. Kyrle said so."

Emanuel went on looking worried.

"So I thought if there was such a thing as a safe down here and you could put it away it would relieve me of the responsibility, Miss Delia—that is, if you are quite sure you can't tell me where Mr. Antony is."

Suddenly she had a lost look. She said in a forlorn voice:

"I don't know, Mr. Holt."

"You see, Miss Delia, if it was lost—or I might say stolen—Mr. Merridew would be bound to hold me accountable, and I'm not at all happy in mind—thieves in the night, and a man pretending he was from the water company while I was out."

"What!"

He nodded his head with a kind of mournful triumph.

"Yes, Miss Delia—and they hadn't sent any one, because Mrs. Holt telephoned. And when I was waiting at the bus stop coming along to catch my bus down here a man pushed into me from behind and I very nearly lost my balance. There was quite a little crowd, and I couldn't see who it was. I nearly fell, but I held on to the suitcase, and it's my belief that if I hadn't it's just as likely as not that I shouldn't have seen it again. So if there was a safe in the house here——"

Delia didn't think much of the incident at the bus stop, but she felt sorry for Emanuel Holt, who was a nice little man and obviously worried to death about Uncle Philip and being responsible.

She looked at the suitcase which contained the parcel. She couldn't see the address with her eyes, but she saw it very plainly in her mind —"Antony Rossiter, Esq. By hand." The idea of taking charge of it appealed to her strongly. The "By hand" seemed to bring Antony within reach again. She didn't think it necessary to answer Emanuel's question about the safe. There was no safe at Fourways, but she had no intention of telling him so. She gave a sudden wide, enchanting smile and said:

"I'd love to look after the parcel, Mr. Holt. I'm sure it will be quite safe here."

Five minutes later she went out of the room with the parcel in her hand. A man who was standing among the lilac bushes where Antony Rossiter had stood in the dark a week ago watched her go. He had followed Emanuel Holt from his house to his point of departure on the country bus. He had then followed the bus on his motor bicycle.

When Emanuel alighted he continued to follow him, and presently found a place where he could leave his motor bicycle among some bushes, after which he could follow unobtrusively on foot.

It was a bit of luck for Emanuel that there had always been somebody else in sight—even in the drive there had been the baker's cart. But it was a bit of luck for the man that the lilac bushes were there, to make a screen, and that he had been able to locate the room into which Emanuel had been shown. His first cautious peep around an ornamental holly had yielded a lively picture of the Wayshot ladies to his horrified eyes. His next attempt had shown him Mr. Holt, facing the window, but fortunately not looking in that direction. With a deep breath of relief the man got well into the lilacs and waited.

Presently the door moved and he drew back. When he dared look again Delia was sitting with her back to the window. He could see no more of her than the top of a head of fair hair. Of her conversation with Mr. Holt he heard nothing at all upon Emanuel's side. Fourways was a very well built house. The window frames fitted perfectly, and the glass was thick. Upon Delia's side he heard her say, "What!" in a startled tone, and that was all he could have sworn to.

Sometimes he caught the murmur of one voice or the other, but listen as he would, there were no more words. But when Delia got up to go he could see a little more of her. Not her face, because she never turned around toward the window, and not very much else, because the room was getting dark. There was plenty of daylight outside, and would be for an hour or two yet, but it was a cloudy afternoon and, looking in from outside, the room seemed dark.

What he did see was that she was tall, that she had fair hair hanging down on her neck, that she was wearing a green dress, and that she had something in her hand as she went out of the room. He could not tell what the something was, because her body screened it from him. He saw her put up her left hand to open the door—and why would she do that unless she had something in the other hand?

She went out, shutting the door behind her, and he turned his attention to Mr. Holt. The suitcase was now, most fortunately, in his line of vision. Emanuel must have moved it, for up to now it had been quite out of sight. It stood sideways on to the window, and the lid was up. He could see the newspaper packing, and the square hole in the middle where the parcel had been. He had seen all that he wanted to see of Emanuel Holt.

As soon as Delia had left the room Jimmy Nash, who had been looking in at the study window, came out from among the lilacs and made his way to a spot convenient for the observation of the front door. He had to find out for certain whether the parcel was going to leave the house or remain there. If he had not had that glimpse of the assembled Wayshot ladies he would have been likely to conclude that the parcel which he had virtually seen in the possession of a fair haired woman without a hat had arrived at its—temporary—destination. He did not intend it to remain there, but he had every reason to suppose that Mr. Holt did.

GASOLINE ALLEY—MEN WANTED

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Infantomania

Friendly Tact Gains Trust of the Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We were sitting in her living room, which overlooks a main thorofare, when we noticed a tiny girl of about 2 across the avenue. She was quite alone and, apparently, lost and weeping. Several women stopped and tried to talk to her, but the moment they stopped she ran from them. Two young girls tried to coax her to come to them, but she would have none of it.

Down the street a way a man had backed his car out of his garage and was busily polishing it. In a few minutes the little tot came abreast of him; she stopped to watch, but the man, who had sized up the situation, went quietly on with his task. Interested, the child moved nearer and nearer and finally spoke to him, for we saw him nod his head and turn toward her.

Seconds later she, too, was busily rubbing the car with a cloth he'd given her, and was quite content. We saw him beckon to some one in his home and call out to her. Then, in a little while a police radio car drew up at the curb. The policeman talked with the man, not, apparently, noticing the child, but it wasn't long before she handed him her cloth and wanted him to go to work also. The first thing we knew the baby went quite willingly with the policeman, waved good-by to her friend, and was whisked away.

Later in the day we heard that the child had been safely restored to her parents.

It's often necessary to be diplomatic and subtle with little children in order to get them to fall in with our desires. Very often devious methods work where frontal attacks are unavailing, especially when a child is upset or frightened.

This sort of management isn't wheedling or coaxing overindulgence, it's simply giving a child time to "take your measure," and for you to get his point of view, understand his needs, and work with them. It doesn't in the least preclude the habit of obedience. In fact, it lays the foundation for the very best kind of obedience, a willingness to do what is asked by a grownup upon whose fairness and understanding a child can rely.

How can you amuse the convalescent child? What is the most difficult age. How may stubbornness be prevented? These and other problems are discussed in "You and Your Young Child," Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

Quick frozen foods have made a good deal of difference in our menus. They've almost abolished the "seasonal" aspect of cooking. Of course, we do get fresh fruits and vegetables from all parts of the country in these days of efficient transportation, and often may have the treat of fresh strawberries in the dead of winter, but the frozen foods supplement the fresh ones beautifully and have the advantage of being ready to cook or ready to serve upon thawing. The variety is wide. Not only fruits and vegetables, but meats, poultry, and fish, as well, come frozen and packaged ready for use.

Fruits and vegetables which are frozen instantly retain all or most of their vitamins and fresh flavor. Quality is of the very best, of course, so there's no worry on that score.

Whether or not these foods are hard on a food budget is a matter which each homemaker must decide for herself. She can do this by weighing the advantages of adding out of season foods to the menu, and by comparing the cost of fresh fruits and vegetables with the cost of the frozen. She will have to take into consideration the fact that the frozen ones are all prepared, and that there's no waste to them.

On a really restricted budget these foods are likely to be out of place, except, perhaps, on rare occasions, but the moderate budget is bound to find them a blessing.

Consider the variety in frozen foods. These aren't all of them, but the list includes all those most likely to be found generally in neighborhood stores.

FROZEN FRUITS.

Apricots, blackberries, blueberries, boysenberries, cherries, peaches, raspberries, strawberries, and youngberries. Most fruits should be served as soon as they have thawed.

FROZEN VEGETABLES.

FISH.

MEATS.

Beefsteaks and ground meat, lamb chops, pork chops and sausages, liver, also some meats for roasting.

POULTRY.

Polish Ballet to Appear at Opera House on Feb. 22

The Polish Ballet, which appeared at the New York World's Fair, will give its first Chicago performance at a benefit of the Polish Arts club in the Chicago Civic Opera house on Feb. 22. Dr. Karol Ripa, consul general of Poland and honorary sponsor, announced the benefit yesterday. The ballet, which is from Warsaw, bases its dances on Polish folk lore rather than on fantasy, as in the Russian tradition. It performed in the Grand Opera house in Paris in 1936 and toured Europe before coming to the New York fair in 1939.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Today's $5 prize award goes to Mrs. C. Kretz, 528 Wrightwood avenue, Chicago, for her Victory cake recipe. This unusual recipe is economical as well as tasty.

VICTORY CAKE
[8-inch square pan.]

1 cup wheat flour
½ cup rye flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 egg yolk, beaten
⅝ cup corn sirup
⅛ cup milk
1 teaspoon flavoring [vanilla or lemon extract]
1 egg white, beaten until stiff

Mix and sift dry ingredients; add melted drippings, beaten egg yolk, corn sirup, and milk. Mix thoroly and add flavoring. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white and pour into greased eight inch square pan. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes in moderate oven, 350 degrees. Serve with lemon or vanilla sauce if desired.

Five dollars will be awarded every day for a good recipe. If you have a special dish of your own which your family and friends compliment you upon, send it to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune, and let us consider it for a prize.

Write the recipe clearly and completely, so that even an inexperienced cook might use it successfully, and send in only one recipe at a time. Other than that, there are no contest rules.

[Save this for your scrapbook.]

Pretty Apron Fashions

WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRONS.

In these busy times women will find themselves turning a hand to tasks they never thought they'd undertake, and many of those little jobs will be domestic ones. For all of you, today's two designs will mean practicality united with charm.

Style No. 2689 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material; 2½ yards of ruffling.

Style No. 3108 is designed for sizes small, medium, and large. Medium size requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material, 3 yards of rickrack for princess apron; 2⅛ yards of 39 inch with 2 yards of binding for apron with bib.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Gift of Mobile Unit Made at Temple Dinner

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Temple Isaiah Israel closed observance of 90 years of service to Chicago and the nation last night by hearing a call from Gov. Dwight H. Green for aid in building "a dynamic unity and an unconquerable morale." The occasion was the anniversary dinner of the temple in the Palmer House.

Acceptance of the governor's appeal was expressed by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free synagogue of New York, with whom Dr. Morton M. Berman, spiritual leader of the Hyde Park temple, was associated prior to his call to the pulpit of that temple. As a token of the historic congregation's reply, Dr. Berman made a formal presentation of a mobile unit for the Red Cross' blood donor service.

"In making this gift," Dr. Berman said, "Isaiah Israel gives expression to its feeling that the achievement of victory must be our first concern at this time, but it is a two fold victory we Americans seek. It is not enough that we shall win a victory of men and arms. There must be the victory of the ideals and values which are the only sure foundations for the new world. Our gift for a mobile unit to save life wherever possible in the struggle to achieve victory, is our way of expressing our faith in man's capacity for humanity to man; in his loving kindness based upon his respect for the divine in man."

A $1,500 check for the unit was formally presented to Roger Holden, manager of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross, by Richard M. Hafter, chairman of the congregation's committee on service to the nation.

Dr. Wise praised the 90 years of service of Temple Isaiah Israel, and said that the country has no more loyally devoted and patriotic citizen than the Jew.

"Democracy," said the New York rabbi, "is not an experiment for us. It is the life of our life; America has given home, opportunity, and status to the Jews in America. The American Jews will repay America one hundred fold. The Christian cannot say, 'It is just the Jews who are being persecuted,' for we are the barometer of the world's civilization. The world can rise no higher than its treatment of the Jews. Justice to the Jews becomes the highest measure of justice to the Christian."

Turning to Gov. Green, Dr. Wise said:

"Illinois is to be congratulated on its governor. I have my eye on you."

In his call for dynamic unity Gov. Green said that the country must determine for all time "that never again will tyrants use the trust and honor of free men as weapons to destroy their liberty. America, the birthright of Jew and Christian and of soldier and citizen alike, will be kept supreme in her strength by unity. We must stand united, and our hearts and hands must be welded into one great wartime effort."

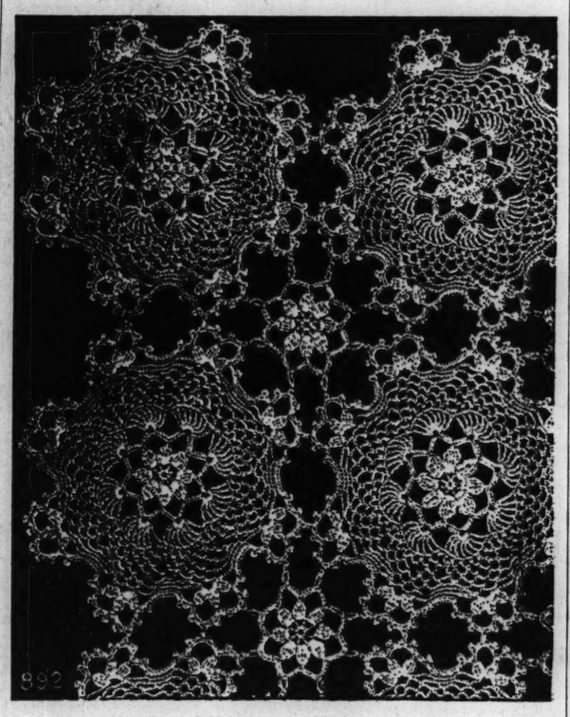
DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Dear Miss Blake: I gave a girl a piece of jewelry and some pictures of myself. As I do not care for her any more, I would like to get them back. How? F. P."

Do nothing. They were gifts and you've no right to ask for their return. Just profit by your experience and don't be so open-handed with the next girl.

Irish Lace Pattern



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This crocheted design of a modified Irish lace pattern is by far one of the most attractive motifs to create. It is not difficult to do and a completed tablecloth worked in this medallion is handsome enough to rate as a museum piece. The medallions are joined as work progresses, so it is not difficult to visualize the finished product. Ivory, mercerized crochet cotton is suggested for the tablecloth, while lusterless bed cotton may be used if the pattern is desired for a bedspread.

For instructions in crocheting the Irish crochet lace pattern, No. 892, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Sadler of North Ridge avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Mercedes, to Cadet William L. Condy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Condy of Wilmette. The wedding will take place next month in Phoenix, Ariz. Miss Sadler attended De Pauw university, and her fiancé studied at De Pauw and Northwestern universities.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason B. Ingalls of Lakewood, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Jane, to Ensign Arnold Bartlett Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Taylor of Evanston. Miss Ingalls and her fiancé were graduated from Northwestern university, after which he attended the university's law school. At present he is an instructor at a naval base.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frederick Noren of Rhodes avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Julia, to Dr. Irvin Henry Velflick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Velflick of Riverside. The marriage is planned for early spring. Miss Noren studied at the University of Chicago. Dr. Velflick received his degree from Iowa State university.

Program for Organized Women Musicians Planned

There will be a meeting of the Organized Women Musicians at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Chicago Federation of Musicians hall, 175 West Washington street, with Miss Helen Kole presiding. A flute quartet and a clarinet trio, both composed of members of the Chicago Woman's Symphony orchestra, will give a program.

Pledge Cards Going Out This Week in Red Cross Campaign

Distribution of pledge cards to employés of business and industrial concerns in the war relief campaign of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, is expected to be completed this week, James B. Forgan, general chairman, said yesterday. Cards have been distributed to a total of 3,458 concerns, he reported. So far $1,212,131 has been given by individuals and corporations.

"We purposely set no time limit for the campaign when we started," Mr. Forgan said, "and altho contributions are coming in in a way and at a level which is at least encouraging, I don't feel that they offer enough of a guide to permit us to hazard even a guess as to when we'll reach our goal. I can only repeat what I said at the outset, that we're going to get every nickel of the $3,750,000 and we're going to get it just as fast as we possibly can."

Prehistoric Animals Will Be Museum Topic

A dramatization of the life of prehistoric animals, illustrated with fossils, will be given Sunday in the Field museum by Paul G. Dallwig. Reservations must be made in advance by mail or telephone. Other special attractions for museum visitors this week will include tours of anthropological, botanical, geological, and zoological exhibits tomorrow and Thursday; a lecture tour on rocks and minerals Wednesday, and a lecture tour on plants of the past on Friday.

Shawls, Lace, Silk or Wool, Definitely 'In'

BY REA SEEGER.

There are two sharply defined trends in fashion these days easily managed by any single wardrobe. One, the crisp sleek outlines of wartime clothes, the uniforms, and the suits and costumes that are cut and fitted with the usual uniform streamline. At the opposite side are the loveliest of flattering and superfeminine fashions, lace, ribbons, ruffles, clinging chiffons, flowered prints, and revivals from the past.

In this latter classification are the shawls. If you have such treasures packed away in lavender or boast a benevolent great-aunt or doting grandmother with a shawl or two tucked away in trunks or chests, do your best either to borrow such a piece or wangle it for keeps . . . for shawls are definitely high across the shoulder of fashion.

Small triangular shaped shawls of fine challis or thin wool are used for daytime wear. They are not tied dumbly over the head but worn in a good half dozen intriguing ways around the shoulders, over one shoulder and under the opposite arm, over the neat smooth suit shoulders, tied at the side, back or directly in front. Fringed shawls are not only decorative but most effective as contrast for plain clothes for daytime wear.

High colored shawls of silk, also dripping with deep fringe, have the beauty and distinction of dinner clothes. Many shawls go south, such as a printed shawl with long fringe of the same color as the costumes with which it is teamed.

Oblong, square, and triangular shawls are made of matching silk print or of a striking contrast color to the dress. There are beautiful lace gowns with companion shawls of dramatic color as, for instance, the exquisite white lace dancing costume ending in swirls around the ankles, with a crimson silk shawl with thick fringe to curve over the shoulders.

Black lace shawls, large or small, are particularly piquant contrasts against evening gowns of practically all fabrics. Wear shawls whenever you can . . . you'll feel vastly different in these flattering lengths of silk and lace and dramatic colors.

Stage Notes

"Claudia," the first arrival of the 1941-'42 season, will end its long and popular engagement at the Selwyn theater on Saturday, Feb. 7. Demands for out-of-town showing and for the use of local theaters by new attractions have led the producer, John Golden, to make this decision. Upon the closing of "Claudia" the Selwyn probably will be taken over by the Chicago company of Noel Coward's latest hit, "Blithe Spirit."

Chicago's theatrical scene is enlivened by two important openings tonight. "The Corn Is Green," which closed a run of 475 performances in New York on Saturday night, comes into the Harris with its star, Ethel Barrymore. Herman Shumlin produced it, and the American Theater society and Theater Guild is offering it on its subscription series. Its local run will be limited to six weeks.

The second opening is B. G. De Sylva's musical comedy, "Panama Hattie," with a score by Cole Porter. It, too, has been entertaining New York for more than a year. It arrives at the Erlanger theater tonight after a brief road tour.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

All the girls who are doing their own nails these days will be making a rush for a special little kit of finger tip beautifiers that not only enhance nail glamor but protect nail health—and are such bargains at the moment that they can spend the difference for defense stamps.

There are three items in the little box. One is a polish base, the second a polish, the third a protective. All are lined up, like good little Indians, and all are as good as they can be.

In the first bottle — all three of which, by the way, are regular in size, not special diminutives—is the base. This is a liquid, transparent on the nail but just a tinge whitish in the bottle, that gives a smooth, lasting base over which to apply your lacquer. Its very presence on the nail helps protect it from evil in the form of bruises and nicks and adds to the luster of the polish.

The polish itself is famous — and good. It comes in rather wonderful shades, wears extremely well and has the high luster of lacquer. It's a good consistency, too, being thin enough to go on suavely but thick enough to have beautiful depth and richness.

The third product is a palely pink liquid to be applied over the polish, to speed up the drying time a trifle and to set the polish so that, as much as can be reasonably expected, it will resist the hell of typing and knitting and the high water of dishwashing.

Right now, these are good things to buy. War work must go on, but so must hand grooming.

Salvation Army's Junior Units Get Awards Tonight

Boy Scouts and Girl Guards of the Salvation Army will receive 150 proficiency badges at their quarterly council of awards meeting at the Midwest corps headquarters, Monroe and Campbell streets, tonight. Maj. Albert Pepper, divisional officer and young people's secretary of the Army's metropolitan division, and Major Henry Rostett, head of the Central Scandinavian division, will present the badges. Adjt. D. E. Norris, assistant territorial young people's secretary, will present a silver loving cup to the Girl Guard troop with the highest rating for the last year.

The Housewife

If you keep the regulation size water bottles in your refrigerator you'll be interested to know there are special little screw tops made for them that need not be removed when you pour the water. How come? Well, they have holes in the top and a little attached plate that covers them when the bottle is upright but that slips aside when the bottle is tilted. Neatest trick of the week and quite a time saver.

THE Kitchen Kibitzer

By MARIAN CARTER

A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some novelty to her daily routine.

An old fashioned "pinch" of sugar in the tomatoes makes 'em lots better, to my notion.

Yes, it's true what the canned foods folks keep telling you about their stuff being full of vitamins. Commercial canning is so scientific these days that it saves almost all of the food value of the fruit or vegetable. Home canning isn't nearly so effective, sad to say.

* * *

They're giving soldiers about three times as many calories as are required to feed a civilian adequately. It takes a lot of fuel to keep the human war machine in good working order.

* * *

A dull knife is no help in the kitchen. Have a professional knife sharpener take them in hand about twice a year, and between-times, make good use of the good, old-fashioned sharpening steel.

What did we ever do without tomato juice? Or without tomatoes themselves? It hasn't been so awfully many years since the now indispensable "love apple" was considered poisonous.

The perfect children's lunch (nutritionally speaking): a pint of vitamin D milk, whole wheat bread and peanut butter sandwiches, an orange.

Ain't no truth in the old belief that fish is "brain food," that garlic will cure a cold, that carrots will make your hair curly. Probably you never believed any of that bunk, anyway, tho. 'Tisn't true, either, that lettuce will make you sleep, or that eating lots of meat makes a man "manlier." Just superstitions.

* * *

Too bad that parsley has won so much contempt because of its constant role as garnish. It's very rich in vitamin A and doesn't deserve to be swept impatiently aside, the better to get at the steak.

TRIBUNE ADVERTISING FEATURES

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Merely because the bidding has disclosed a "good fit" is no reason for setting greatly enhanced value on what was originally a minimum bid. A "minny" remains a minny and should be bid accordingly. Consider the following hand:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Team-of-four match.

♥ A J 9 3
♦ A K Q 3 2

WEST

♦ J 10 7 6 4
♣ Q J 9

EAST

SOUTH
♠ A 10 7 4
♥ K Q 7 5
♣ K 7 4 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
5 clubs	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

I hasten to explain North's peculiar four club bid. North was unfortunate in that his partner did not play the 4-5 no trump or Blackwood convention, hence North could not discover South's actual holding in aces and kings. Thus, the four club bid was simply a makeshift device by which North strove to convey the picture of an excellent hand. North was not quite strong enough to bid three diamonds over one spade, but when the two heart bid came he felt that a slam was by no means out of the question. He seriously considered jumping to four hearts, but this bid did not seem quite strong enough. If, he reasoned, South had some holding such as he would not be able to take action over a four heart bid, and yet a slam would need very little luck for fulfilment. South, of course, had no choice over four clubs. A raise was his only conceivable action. But when North then went to five hearts, South should have retired gracefully. He had started with an absolute minimum and this had not expanded merely because North had bid clubs. As a matter of fact, South should have been highly suspicious about North's club bid. North had first shown at least four diamonds with his two-over-one response, and later had guaranteed four hearts by his heart support at the five level. Hence he could have only four clubs if his bid was honest, since with no spades and five clubs he would have bid two clubs instead of two diamonds on the first round.

♠ A K x x ♥ K Q x x ♦ x x ♣ K x x

As it happened, West opened the club queen and eleven tricks were made without difficulty. Unfortunately, this did declarer very little good, since his contract called for 12 tricks.

SOLDIER TAKES SENIOR SILVER SKATES TITLE

WALTER BIETILA WINS NORGE SKI JUMP TOURNEY

Leaps 167, 168 Feet in Perfect Form.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Walter Bietila, University of Wisconsin skiing star who will join the naval air corps next month, gave an exhibition of his flying ability yesterday. Bietila soared 167 and 168 feet in two attempts with perfect form to win the class A championship of the 36th annual Norge Ski club tournament on the steel slide near Fox River Grove before 10,000.

Walter Bietila.

Bietila, one of four brothers who have been making appearances on the Norge slide for several years, achieved the success he missed last year when he finished second behind Torger Tokle. The condition of the slide and hill precluded any chance of approaching the record of 195 feet established by Tokle in the 1941 meet. Bietila's leaps were bettered by two other skiiers, but his form was rated as the best by officials, the Badger receiving a point total of 153.1.

Eugene Wilson Is Second.

Eugene Wilson of Coleraine, Minn., another Norge veteran, took second place with efforts of 171 and 162 feet and a point total of 150.2. George Kotlarek, Duluth, Minn., former national champion, was third with 161-162 feet in his two attempts. Arthur Devlin, 19 year old Lake Placid, N. Y., star, and James Running of Beloit, Wis., tied for fourth place. Devlin had jumps of 170 and 162 feet and Running, 166 and 151 feet, but each received a point rating of 148.

Five of the six Norwegian members of the royal Canadian air force, who will compete incognito in middle western meets for the next three weeks, displayed they have received a few lessons from Douglas [Wrong Way] Corrigan. Olaf No. 1 finished in sixth place with jumps of 158 and 146 feet; Olaf No. 2 soared 158 and 146 feet; Olaf No. 3 leaped 157 and 142 feet; Olaf No. 4 went 157 and 161, going into a tailspin on the latter jump, and Olaf No. 5 had solos of 136 and 137 feet. Olaf No. 6 directed operations from the top of the scaffold, where the ceiling was zero.

Ralph Bietila Wins in Class C.

Ralph Bietila of Ishpeming, Mich., brother of Walter, gave the family another title when he captured the class C championship with jumps of 152 and 156 feet and a point total of 134.3. Ray Krause, Duluth, Minn., was second, and Robert Hein, Norge club representative and defending champion in the class, was third.

Wisconsin skiers also dominated the class B competition. Walter Nelson of Beloit soared 152 and 146 feet to win the division title, with George Haltiner of Madison second, and Ray Nelson, also of Madison and brother of the winner, third. The senior championship was won by Ernest Jacobsson of the Norge club, who was second in the national tournament last winter. Jacobsson traveled 149 and 143 feet in his two attemps. Yngvar Arneson, New London, Wis., was second, jumping 140 and 148 feet.

CLASS A.

	Jumps.	Pts.
Walter Bietila, Madison, Wis.	167-168	153.1
E. Wilson, Coleraine, Minn.	171-162	150.2

In the WAKE of the NEWS

[While Arch Ward is on vacation, the Wake of the News is being conducted by members of the sports staff.]

THE Wake's recent comment on Art Mathisen, 6 foot 5 inch junior center on the Illinois basketball squad, brought from a downstate helper the interesting information that Art may yet be considered the midget of the Mathisen family. . . . Brother Ray, a senior at Dwight High school, who also plays center, is 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 210 pounds. . . . Brother Bob, who is 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 180, is a freshman at Dwight. . . . Both of the younger boys are still growing. . . . Andy Lotshaw, the club trainer, submits the following as the most unusual injury he has witnessed in his many years with the Cubs: "Babe Herman was waiting his turn in the batting circle," reports Andy, "and Benny Frey was pitching for the Reds. The Cub batter got a hit, tho, and Eppa Jeptha Rixey, the big southpaw, came in to pitch. Well, sir, between the batting circle and the batter's box, Babe sprained his ankle and had to be taken out of the game. The Babe, of course, didn't care very much about hitting against left handers, which may have had something to do with it." . . . Doc White, who pitched for Fielder Jones' White Sox in 1906, is athletic director at Wilson Teachers' college in Maryland. . . . Tom Yawkey's plantation and hunting lodge at Georgetown, S. C., covers 20,000 acres. . . . It's a safe bet that Tom would swap the whole setup for a shortstop of Joe Cronin's ability or a slugger who could follow in the footsteps of Jimmy Foxx. . . . Ted McGrew, the Dodgers' head scout, owns a chain of eight restaurants in Florida.

Altho Purdue holds the all-time leadership in Western conference basketball, the Boilermakers have had only two undefeated Big Ten seasons—in 1912 and 1930. . . . Dutch Lonborg, in his 15th season as basketball coach at Northwestern, has held the position longer than did any of his 11 predecessors. . . . Altho basketball was first played at Northwestern in 1898, it was not until 1905 that it employed a coach. . . . He was Tom Holland, who also directed the track team.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

A crowd of 18,146 last night saw the Boston Bruins, world hockey champions, end a four game Blackhawk winning streak by nosing out the Chicagoans, 4 to 3, in Chicago Stadium. There was only one penalty, a minor against the Bruins, called after 50 minutes of the 60 minute contest.

Each team devoted its time to fast skating, skillful team play, and hard checking, but the Hawks, with all their sparkling play, were guilty of at least two glaringly inept defensive plays on which the wide awake champs pounced for two goals, the margin between victory and defeat.

Two of the victors' goals were made by Defenseman Harvey Jackson, the other two by linemates, Woody Dumart and Bobby Bauer. Two of the Hawk goals were accomplished by Max Bentley, the other by the consistent Red Hamill.

Bruins Always Ahead.

Tho the Hawks made three goals past the brilliant goalie, Frankie Brimsek, they never enjoyed so much as a tie with the Bruins after the scoreless status in the first period. They trailed, 1 to 0, 2 to 0, 2 to 1, 3 to 2, and 4 to 3.

The Hawks were the playmakers almost exclusively in the first 13 minutes of the game but were not rewarded with a tally. Then, at 13:30, Dumart, summoned to the Canadian army Saturday, did a bit of celebrating by scoring the first goal of the game on a hard slanting shot from Goalie Sammy Lo Presti's right. He was assisted neatly by his two mates on the "sauerkraut line," Bauer and Milt Schmidt.

About two minutes after their first goal, the Bruins had rung up another counter, Harvey Jackson beating Lo Presti on a shot which eluded Sammy's grasping glove. Herb Cain got an assist on this marker, scored in 15:34 of the first period.

Hawk Maneuver Nets Goal.

The Hawks didn't seem discouraged by the 2 to 0 edge possessed by the champs and in 18:55 netted a goal on a nice team maneuver. Max Bentley, flanked on the left by Bob Carse and on the right by Hamill, went down center ice. As he neared the cage, Max passed to Carse and Bob passed it back to Max, who beat Goalie Brimsek from close in.

The third Boston goal resulted from too much deliberation on the part of Johnny Mariucci. Johnny had the puck on his stick half way between the blue line and his goal and was looking around for some place to pass when Bauer charged him, lifted the rubber off his blade and, unobstructed, bore down on Lo Presti, whom he beat from a few feet out. The time on Bauer's solo was 3:36 of the second period.

The Hawks reduced the Boston lead to 3 to 2 in 17:04 of the period when Art Wiebe and Bill Carse managed to get the puck to Hamill near the Boston cage. Red shot for the

Suffolk Downs to Give Day's Receipts to Services

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18 (AP).—Charles F. Adams, president of Suffolk Downs, announced today that the race track would volunteer the total receipts of one day of its 1942 meeting—approximately $40,000—to the army and navy relief societies. The probable date, to be known as Army-Navy day at the track, will be June 30 and a feature race for 3 year olds will headline the day's card. Suffolk Downs expects to conduct a meeting May 11 to July 18.

Illini Defend Lead Tonight; Oppose Iowa

College Basketball

GAMES TONIGHT.

Minnesota at Chicago.
Northwestern at Ohio State.
Iowa at Illinois.
Michigan at Wisconsin.
Chicago Teachers at St. Joseph's.
North Dakota State at Iowa Teachers.
Earlham at Wabash.
Cornell at Coe.
Heral at Wright.
Rider at St. Joseph [Ind.].
Kansas at Iowa State.
Washington at Oregon State.
Syracuse at Fordham.
Oklahoma at Missouri.
Springfield Teachers at Tulsa.

The University of Illinois' squad of young basketball players, undefeated in intercollegiate competition, finish the first third of their season tonight with an initial critical battle with Iowa. This engagement, in Champaign, will determine whether the Illini will continue to lead the Western conference race. Illinois scored its fourth consecutive Big 10 triumph Saturday, 54 to 26, over the hapless Chicago quintet, which has not won a conference game since Feb. 19, 1940.

While Iowa slipped from the second place group by losing to Ohio State, 54 to 52, the very size of that score means that the Illini will have trouble this evening. Iowa's fast breaking attack is dangerous and the Big 10 standings give no adequate idea of the Hawkeyes' ability. Iowa has lost two games, as against three victories, but was beaten only by two points in each defeat. Minnesota won from Iowa, 41 to 39, a week ago.

Gophers Lose Carlson.

Don Carlson, now inducted into service, starred for Minnesota against Iowa. Without Carlson, the Gophers whipped Michigan Saturday evening, 44 to 32.

Northwestern, as well as Iowa, was eliminated from the second place tie Saturday. The Wildcats were beaten by Wisconsin, 49 to 46, in the Chicago Stadium. Purdue, which is not scheduled tonight, and Minnesota are tied for second. The Gophers play Chicago at 8 o'clock tonight in the Maroon fieldhouse and, altho Minnesota was the team the Maroons defeated

Milwaukeean Wins Women's Race.

The Champions

THE eight champions crowned in the 25th annual Silver Skates Derbies, sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., yesterday afternoon in Garfield park, follow:

MEN'S SENIOR—Steve Gadus, Scott field.
BOYS' INTERMEDIATE—Chuck Edwards, Northwest Skating club.
BOYS' JUNIOR—John Martin, Champaign-Urbana Skating club.
BOYS' JUVENILE—Donald Laser, Catholic Youth organization.
BOYS' MIDGET—Roy Parker, Peirce Skating club.
GIRLS' SENIOR—Peggy Barber, Milwaukee, Wis.
GIRLS' INTERMEDIATE—Bernice Melewski, West Allis, Wis.
GIRLS' JUNIOR—Rita Janet, Northwest Skating club.

LAP PRIZES.

Men's senior—Tom Baacke, Northwest S. C.
Boys' intermediate—John Bacharas, Northwest S. C.
Girls' senior—Shirley Jane Burnett, Northwest S. C.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Steve Gadus of the Catholic Youth organization and Scott field, Belleville, Ill., a lanky speed skater, raced to fame yesterday afternoon in the men's senior Silver Skates Derby in Garfield park.

Gadus had predicted he would win skating's highest prize before he quit the sport for service with Uncle Sam. And he made good in the silver anniversary of Silver Skates, annually promoted by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Gadus, member of a quartermaster corps, is a radio technician at the Scott field army training base for flyers.

Gadus let other finalists set the pace for seven laps, during which time Tom Baacke, Northwest Skating club, won the gold medal lap prize for leading in total laps. Baacke led for a mile and one lap around the one-sixth of a mile track. Then Gadus rushed to victory.

Tennant's Bid Is Short.

Steve took command and set the pace until the final lap. With half a lap to go, John Tennant, of the Elgin Skating association, spurted, but his bid was short and Gadus crossed the finish line in front. Tennant was second. His skill earned him chromium skates, second prize in each of the eight Derbies. Bronze skates went to Joe Kraemer of the Northwest club who finished third.

Silver and bronze medals were awarded for fourth, fifth, and sixth places. Joe Wallace of the CYO, took the silver medal and George Spalten and Walter Baron, both of Northwest received bronze medals.

Gadus' victory may well be considered to have won the team championship for the CYO, which altho getting only two titles, but matching the Northwest S. C., eventually finished with enough support to take the Walter Eckersall memorial trophy which the club was defending. The CYO scored 280 points. Northwest was second with 250 points.

Three Titles Go Outside Chicago.

Three of the eight championships were won by skaters outside of the Chicago territory. Bernice Melewski of West Allis, Wis., 1941 girls' junior champion, won the intermediate title, Peggy Barber of Milwaukee, won the senior championship, and John Martin, Champaign-Urbana Skating club, received silver skates in the boys' junior division.

Despite temperatures in the low 40s yesterday, the condition of the course was exceptional. There were pools of water, but the ice was smooth and firm. Like any competition of this kind, racing luck deserved an assist. Tennant won his preliminary heat, the fourth, which was skated at one mile, and followed with a victory in the second semifinal. Gadus coasted to qualify in each of his preliminaries.

One of the better skaters, notable for a strong finish, fell with a lap and a half to go in the championship. Except for this misfortune, Don Schillne of Farragut High school, might have come on to challenge Gadus.

Don Fahrenbach Falls.

Chuck Edwards of Northwest, won the mile championship in the boys' intermediate final. Edwards stayed back in third and fourth position until the last two laps when he sprinted to pass Don Fahrenbach, of the CYO. Fahrenbach fell 20 feet from the finish line while in second place and finally managed to save fourth position.

Bill Caraw of Madison, Wis., took second position and Bill Carnduff of Northwest was third. The gold lap prize went to John Bacharas of Northwest who led the pack for the

CHARLES E. FORD, RACING PIONEER, DIES IN PHOENIX

Backed Hawthorne and Aurora Tracks.

Death yesterday ended the colorful career of Charles E. Ford, nationally known turfman and bookmaker, who was credited with being one of the pioneers in the restoration of the sport in Illinois. Ford, 59 years old, died in Phoenix, Ariz. He had been in ill health for 10 years.

For years Ford and his partner, John Haskett, operated the biggest race track book on the west side, taking bets from all over the nation. They were wiped out in 1924 by Black Gold's upset victory in the Kentucky Derby, suffering an estimated loss of $300,000. Gamblers of the old school, they had spurned the idea of laying off the winter book bets they held on Black Gold. They paid off every cent—tho it required seven or eight years to square the debt. Black Gold was the favorite, paying $5.50 to win, but Ford and Haskett had offered much higher odds during the winter betting.

Charles Ford as he appeared in 1923.

Injunction Stops Police.

Starting in 1925, Ford and Haskett, with Cliff Trimble, operated the Aurora track under certificate betting after getting an injunction restraining the police from interferences. The following year Matt Winn set up business in the same way at Lincoln Fields.

When the sport was legalized in 1927, Ford and Haskett leased Hawthorne race track from the John Carey estate, then subleased it to the Chicago Business Men's Racing association, which still operates the plant. It is believed that at one time the two partners received half of the profits. It was this successful venture which enabled them to get out from under in the Black Gold episode.

Wins, Loses Several Fortunes.

The same arrangement with Hawthorne still prevailed at the death of Ford, who outlived Haskett. Ford was in Chicago for the Hawthorne meeting last fall, but was too ill to leave his hotel in the loop. While here, he had virtually completed arrangements to operate the State Fair Grounds track in Phoenix, but withdrew because of a minor detail which was not to his liking.

Joe Foley, Chicago race track publicitator, last night recalled that Ford was a dashing figure at Chicago's race tracks in the earlier days.

"He was a big handsome fellow, with a taste for the right kind of clothes to wear," said Foley. "Only a few years ago he was selected as the best dressed man at Washington Park. They always said about Charley that he was 'loose with the bucks.'"

Ford was reputed to have won and lost two or three fortunes.

Burial will be Thursday in Kirkwood, Mo.

Spartas Win from Vikings in Soccer, 4-0

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta scored a 4 to 0 victory over the Vikings yesterday in a second round National Soccer cup match in Sparta stadium before 2,000. The Vikings, who last year swept all amateur soccer tournaments in which they entered, played without two of their defensive stars.

Ray Camplin, star goal keeper, and Weck Henney, leading defense man, were the two absentees, but despite this the Vikings repelled all the Sparta thrusts until the 19th minute. Then Sparta was awarded a penalty shot and Jerry Rezak made it good.

In the 32d minute Jimmy Wolf pounded home the second goal on a rebound from the crossbar following a hard shot by Jimmy MacDermott. There was no further scoring in the period.

Early in the second period Jimmy MacDermott took the ball deep in his own territory and dribbled thru the entire Viking defense to crash the ball into the net from seven yards out. MacDermott added another goal in the 40th minute when he converted a fine cross from Wolf. Lineups:

The South Side Swedes were awarded a default triumph over Olympia in another scheduled second round National Soccer cup match. Olympia reported it was unable to muster enough players for the contest.

The Slovaks earned the right to face the South Side Swedes in the third round of the series by routing the American Eagles, 10 to 0, in the curtain raising game in Sparta stadium.

THE GUMPS—THE CRUCIAL MOMENT!

A City and a Sports Department

(The Tribune Grows Up with Chicago)

[This is the sixteenth of a series of articles on the highlights of the development of sports in Chicago, with especial reference to the part The Tribune paid in reporting them from pre-Civil war days to the present time.]

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

HORSE racing in Chicago from the '80's, thru the '90's and into this century underwent as stormy a career as any sport our town ever has witnessed, the two leading rivals, who precipitated most of the turf wars of those times, being Ed Corrigan, the Master of Hawthorne, and "Blind" John Condon, who dominated the old Garfield Park and Harlem tracks.

Corrigan, who died in 1924 at the age of 82, shorn of his fortune, was one of the best known Chicago owners of horses to run at old Washington Park. His Modesty, the first filly ever to win the event, captured the first running of the American Derby there on June 28, 1884. Ed, whose TRIBUNE obituary included the sentence, "those men associated with him in his various racing ventures often felt his sharp tongue and violent temper, but were loyal to the core," was a native of Ireland. He came to America at an early age and accumulated a fortune in Colorado railroad contracting before becoming interested in the turf.

Condon, who died on Aug. 9, 1915, was born in Logansport, Ind., in 1855. THE TRIBUNE'S report of his death said, in part:

"Blind John Condon ruled the gambling fraternity with an iron hand for more than 30 years. There was no one to dispute that story. Altho he was heartily hated by some of his followers, his mastery was complete and his genius for organization recognized everywhere."

Ed Drives John Into Racing Game.

Condon started out as a barber, but an acquaintanceship with Sam Doll, a bookmaker, led him to become a faro dealer, and ultimately he and Doll conducted a number of Chicago gambling houses, notably, "The Store" and "The House of David." He attained power of such proportions that no Chicago gambler could operate without consulting him. He was the controling figure in the poolrooms of the '80's, and only Corrigan challenged him openly. Corrigan didn't succeed in breaking thru, but did drive Condon into the racing game, according to TRIBUNE reports of that day.

Corrigan, encouraged by his stable's successes at Washington Park, opened the Hawthorne track on May 21, 1891. THE TRIBUNE, the following day, reported "that the races were run over a mile of slush," and that "John Madden of Lexington [later to become one of the country's leading breeders] engaged in a fight with two brothers named Ruddy over the claiming of a horse, Corrigan himself and the police being forced to stop it."

Another classic racing date in TRIBUNE race stories was June 18, 1892. That marked the running of the Garfield Park Derby, in which Corrigan sent three horses—Cicero, Huron, and Lew Weir—out after the main cut of the $17,000 purse. But it wasn't a Corrigan horse that won. It was a filly named Yo Tambien, later to become famous on several American tracks. Yo Tambien was out of the Kendall stables, owned by Chris Smith, who ranked with such other noted plungers of the day as John [Bet-a-Million] Gates, Lucky Baldwin, Mike Dwyer, and George [Pittsburgh Phil] Smith. Chris and his associates moved into the betting ring at the right time, and THE TRIBUNE reported that they reaped a windfall of $10,000 off the odds of 7 and 8 to 1 that they obtained. Smith gave Jockey Britton $1,000 in crisp bills shortly after he dismounted from Yo Tambien, it was noted.

Books Can Handle Only 2-3 of Bets.

There were 45 bookmakers on hand, yet their space was so small and the crowd so large that THE TRIBUNE reporter reckoned that they were able to handle only about two-thirds of the bets offered them. THE TRIBUNE of that day also carried a special announcement to the effect that it would reward $100 to that perspicacious reader who could name the winner, place horse, and show horse in the fashionable American Derby at Washington Park, to be run at that track on June 25, 1892.

Among the mysterious characters of those wide open betting days was an unidentified Chicago business man known only as "The Ghost." He made a trip to the eastern tracks, such as Saratoga, Sheepshead Bay, and Belmont Park, and picked 'em well enough to come home with a bankroll of $7,000. THE TRIBUNE of June 7, 1891, mentioned in an account of a Saturday's racing that "'The Ghost' was $14,000 ahead after 17 days of the meeting. The bookies have given him his name—he is a pronounced blonde—and fear him."

A Famous Old Carlisle Star and Coach Dies

A story which began in 1879 on an Indian reservation in Wisconsin and carried thru All-America football rating, the development of Jim Thorpe, and 36 years of practice as a dentist in Chicago and Puerto Rico ended yesterday in the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., when an internal disorder brought death at the age of 63 to Dr. James E. [Jimmy] Johnson.

Dr. Johnson had been taking treatment for several months after his return to the United States from Puerto Rico last fall. He practiced dentistry in the Caribbean state for almost 30 years.

A Stockbridge Indian, he was captain and quarter back of the Carlisle Indian eleven in 1903, when he employed the hidden ball trick for the first time on any gridiron. As a result of this and his fine play in other games that season under Coach Glenn S. [Pop] Warner, Dr. Johnson was named on Walter Camp's All-American eleven, altho he was a midget of 125 pounds among elder giants.

Played at Northwestern.

On that 1903 All-America team with Dr. Johnson were Willie Heston of Michigan, Dick Smith of Columbia, Howard Henry of Princeton, and Jimmy Hogan and Charley Rafferty of Yale, among others.

Following his graduation from Carlisle he attended Northwestern university, where he climaxed his football career as captain of the 1907 team. He remained in Evanston after being awarded his degree, and for two seasons was assistant coach to Maurice Conner.

In 1909 Dr. Johnson returned to Carlisle as assistant to Pop Warner. One afternoon in 1910 Dr. Johnson saw a tall, rangy Indian youth walking dejectedly off the field. He had been requested to do so by Warner, who was prepared to sign an affidavit that the young fellow was no lineman.

Dr. Johnson saw in the youth possibilities which had escaped his chief, however, and persuaded the Indian lad to continue in football as a half back. This confidence was justified, for in 1911 the boy, whose name was Jim Thorpe, was chosen on Camp's All-America team.

That Hidden Ball Trick.

Dr. Johnson developed Thorpe, but had left football for dentistry when the great Indian was achieving fame. But the two remained fast friends, and the discovery of Thorpe was considered by Johnson as one of his two proudest memories. The other one was the hidden ball trick. Ill as he was in his final days, Dr. Johnson never failed to chuckle when asked about it.

"We used that one against Harvard in 1903," he told a friend one day. "Harvard had scheduled Carlisle as a breather and figured to win.

"Well, Harvard kicked off to us and our whole team came back to form the conventional flying wedge of the times. Only this one was different. Charlie Dillon, one of our guards, had a special jersey. It was large and roomy and had a rubber band at the bottom. I got behind Charley in the wedge and stuffed the ball in the back of his jersey. Then we broke the formation, all of us running in different directions.

Who Has the Ball?

"Each player clapped his hands to show he didn't have the ball, except me. I ran for the sidelines with my arms doubled over my midsection. I guess the whole Harvard team hit me. But Dillon walked over the goal line. Harvard beefed to high heaven about it, but the referee said it was legal and that was that."

Dr. Johnson kicked the extra point to make it 6 to 0, and later added a field goal to make the score 11 to 0 in Carlisle's favor. In those days a touchdown and a field goal each counted five points. Harvard came back to score twice in the second half and kick each point, winning, 12 to 11, but the "breather" game had brought a new star on the football horizon.

ILLINOIS BOARD TO NAME STATE SKATERS TODAY

The Illinois Skating association will call its board of control together tonight in Garfield park to decide the skaters who will represent Illinois in the national championship meet Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 in La Crosse, Wis., and in the North American event next Saturday and Sunday in St. Paul.

A special program of racing events is scheduled for tomorrow night in Chopin park as a warmup drill for the stars who will make the two tille trips. For the skaters who did not make enough points during the season to qualify for the big championship Derbies, the George F. Barrett A. C. annual events are set for next Sunday in Garfield park.

George F. Barrett to Fire Starting Gun for Bike Race

George F. Barrett, Illinois attorney-general, will fire the starting gun Sunday night when the six day bike race will get under way in the Coliseum. Members of the Barrett Athletic club, which he sponsors, will be in attendance. The club will be represented in the race by Ed Carfagnini and Bill Jacoby of Chicago. They recently left the amateur ranks. This will be Jacoby's debut as a pro.

WILLIAMS WINS PRO VETERANS' GOLF TOURNEY

Fort Myers, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Eddie Williams, professional of the Bryn Mawr club of Chicago, put a pair of subpar 69s together here today to win the Senior Professional Golfers' association championship. Jock Hutchison of the Glen View club, Chicago, was second. He finished with a pair of 72s, six strokes above Williams' 138. Par for the Fort Myers course is 71.

The annual tournament of golf professionals past their 50th birthdays is played each winter in Florida in two 18 hole rounds on successive days. Williams is 51 years old and Hutchison 59.

William Crichton of Durham, N. C., who shot a 68 today, took fifth place, back of George Morris of Harrisburg, Pa., who had a 145 and Wilfred Reid of Savannah, Ga., whose 75—71 gave him fourth position with a 146.

Stu Martin Signs 1942 Contract with Pirates

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 18 (AP).—President William Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the receipt of a signed 1942 contract from Stu Martin, utility infielder. Martin, purchased in 1940 from the St. Louis Cards, hit .304 last year in 88 games.

first three laps. He failed to finish in scoring position.

Shirley Jane Burnett of Northwest led the girls' senior derby until she fell with a lap to go. She saved sixth place. After Miss Burnett fell Peggy Barber went into the lead and stayed there. Second place went to Dorothy O'Donnell, of Champaign-Urbana club. Ann Vitaska of the CYO, won bronze skates.

Rita Janet Scores Upset.

Miss Melewski dominated the girls' intermediate derby. In the girls' junior, however, Rita Janet of Northwest upset Virginia Mazzetta of the CYO, who is the leading scorer in the class in the Illinois Skating association.

John Martin of the Champaign-Urbana team, leading scorer in his class, won the boys' juvenile derby handily. Walter Rust, Elgin, Ill., S. C., winner in a previous age class, was second. Rust made the pace but Martin had the finishing power.

Laser Takes Juvenile Honors.

Donald Laser of the CYO, 1940 midget champion, won the boys' juvenile derby. He got the lead at the gun and held it for 440 yards. Roy Parker of Peirce playground took the boys' midget Silver Skates in the 220 yard final.

Nearly 3,000 boys and girls competed in the two day meet. All winners received gold medals for preliminary victories and each contestant was awarded a souvenir bronze button. Summaries:

WALTHER LEAGUE BASKETBALL GOES TO 2D ROUND

The Walther league basketball race moved into the second round yesterday with 12 games played in three zones. Second round winners will qualify for the district championships to be held in March

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL OLD MEN TO AID BASEBALL

Veterans Must Take Place of Drafted Stars.

New York, Jan. 18 [Special]. — "Even if the actual quality of the teams is lowered by the use of older players," wrote President Roosevelt last week, "this will not dampen the popularity of baseball." Behind such a hopeful clarion, hordes of diamond veterans are expected to rally back to the majors soon to take up the slack of the young players gone off to battle for their country.

Lefty Grove, who hung up his glove after pitching his 300th victory last year, may become the John Pincus Quinn of this decade by returning to active duty. Only 42 years old Grove still has enough cunning in his southpaw to win for the Boston Red Sox, who have lost lefties Earl Johnson and Mickey Harris.

[John Pincus Quinn broke into major league baseball with the New York Yankees in 1909 and, until 1932, bounced around like a chain letter to the following clubs: Rochester, International league, 1912-13; Boston, National league, 1913; Baltimore, Federal league, 1914-15; Vernon, Pacific Coast league, 1915-18; Chicago, American league, 1918; New York, American league, 1919-21; Boston, American league, 1922-25; Philadelphia, American league, 1925-30; Brooklyn, National league, 1931-32. He retired in 1932 at the age of 47.]

Wes Ferrell Hears the Call.

Wesley Ferrell already has gone into training, convinced there's still enough flame in his arm to pitch winning ball in the National league. Mel Harder is another who will try to belie his unconditional release with a spring training trial.

Naturally not all of the players who bowed out last year will return to active duty. Five have connected as managers of minor league clubs: Gabby Hartnett, Indianapolis; John Riddle, Birmingham; Willis Hudlin, Little Rock; Rip Collins, Albany; and Ben Chapman, Richmond.

Tony Cuccinello, sensing the need for active veterans, chucked his job as Jersey City pilot to return to the Braves as coach. The moment one of Boston's infielders is drafted, the tough little campaigner will sign to play.

And That Isn't All!

Quite a batch of stand-bys bid adieu to the majors in 1941. It's up to the scouts and managers to decide just which are salvageable. Omitting the aforementioned players, the list of big time releasees of the past season include Charley Gehringer, Al Simmons, Paul and Dizzy Dean, Van Mungo, Bump Hadley, Joe Moore, Morrie Arnovich, Al Todd, Burgess Whitehead, Walter Brown, Sammy Hale, Danny MacFayden, Spud Davis, Joe Vosmik, Buddy Myer, Jimmy Ripple, Charley Root, and Debs Garms.

Besides these, several former major leaguers who did well in the sticks will have their ears cocked for bids. Outfielder Johnny Moore was most valuable in the Pacific Coast league last year. Pitchers Elon Hogsett, Johnny Marcum, and Harry Kelley starred in the American association.

Another salutatory effect of the President's message may be to prolong the major league lives of veterans whose gait has been hobbled, just enough to draw a pink slip in ordinary times. Pinky Higgins has taken on new value with the Tigers; Jimmy Foxx is no longer a Red Sox tradeable, Paul Waner may again swing cleanup for the Braves and Lloyd Waner was saved from minor league oblivion by the Phils [or was he?].

Don't Forget Ival Goodman.

One of the most interesting comeback attempts will be that of Ival Goodman. The Cincinnati outfielder was out of action most of last season after an abdominal operation. The latter was successful enough, but the slugging hustler still is bothered by a sore right shoulder, hurt several times in his major league career. So Ival has announced he's going to throw left handed instead next year!

PLAYER OF YEAR HONOR GOES TO JOE DI MAGGIO

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).— Joe DiMaggio, center fielder of the New York Yankees and last season's most valuable player in the American league, was named today by New York baseball writers as their choice for the "player of the year" award to be presented at their annual dinner Feb. 1.

It was the second time in five years Joe has been so honored and the first time in the 12 year history of the award that the writers had repeated a previous selection.

Plaques also will be presented at the dinner to Mel Ott, new manager of the Giants, for outstanding service to baseball over a long period of time, and to Hank Greenberg for "extraordinary service to baseball."

The dinner, from which all net proceeds will go to the Red Cross, will draw most of baseball's guilding figures to the city and will be followed two days later by meetings of both major leagues.

MISS WILLIAMS WINS AGAIN IN FLORIDA GOLF

Punta Gorda, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Ellamae Williams of Chicago, Illinois state champion, entered the semi-final round of the Punta Gorda Women's Golf tournament today by defeating Mrs. Sylvia Henrotin of Sarasota, Fla., 6 and 5. Other quarter-final results:

Louise Suggs, Lithia Springs, Ga., beat Nancy McClave, Maplewood, N. J., 2 and 1; Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D., beat Mrs. Janet Zimmerer, Bloomfield, N. J., 6 and 5; Mary Jayne Garman, Sarasota, beat Mrs. Danny Williams, Caldwell, N. J., 7 and 6.

In tomorrow's semi-finals, Miss Williams meets Miss Garman and Miss Suggs' opponent will be Miss Tainter.

Nelson's 274 Wins $5,000 Oakland Golf

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 18 (AP).—Byron Nelson carded a 72 hole total of 274 to win the $5,000 Oakland Open golf tournament today, coming home with his fourth sub-par round of the meet.

Nelson pocketed $1,000 for his performance and wrote into his record the first victory in a California tournament.

He racked up a three under par 67 for the first round and followed that exploit with three 69s. Nelson led from start to finish, by one stroke after the first round, four shots at the half way mark, and the same number at the 54th hole.

Three Putts Two Greens.

Except for a lapse on the last nine holes, where he was guilty of three putting the 10th and 13th greens and missing a 4 foot putt on the 15th, Nelson played his shots with machine-like precision.

John Dawson, Hollywood amateur, finished second with 279, but will receive a defense bond instead of cash. Dawson ended with a 65, five under par and the lowest 18 hole score of the tournament.

Little, Harper Shoot 280.

The leaders and money winners:

PABST BOWLERS GET 3,133; PACE CLASSIC LEAGUE

The Pabst Blue Ribbons shot a 3,133 total last night to lead the Sunday division of the Classic league for the third time in four weeks, while Julius Sowa, league secretary, paced the indivduals with a 740 series on games of 279—192—269. The Monarchs, with three games in four figures, could win only one from the Pabsts. Paul Krumske of the Schlitz team was second in individual scoring with 727. Scores:

DROP NATIONAL CATHOLIC PREP MEET AT LOYOLA

The Rev. Edward F. Maher, S. J., yesterday announced that Loyola academy had canceled its 1942 national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament. Father Maher, who has been tournament director for two years, said the national emergency was a contributing factor in the decision to abandon the tourney, which started in 1924.

"Loyola academy shares campus facilities with Loyola university," Father Maher said. "The university has made arrangements with the navy to train its students for naval posts. We at Loyola university plan to devote our wholehearted efforts to furthering the naval training program. Everything else must go by the board."

EXPECT SELLOUT FOR NOTRE DAME DINNER TONIGHT

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 18 [Special].—Fewer than 100 tickets remained tonight for the civic testimonial dinner tomorrow night in honor of Coach Frank Leahy and the undefeated Notre Dame football team. It was learned today that Mayor Jesse I. Pavey of South Bend will be unable to make his customary address of welcome at the affair, due to an attack of flu.

BRUINS PUT END TO HAWK VICTORY STREAK, 4 TO 3

Harvey Jackson registered his second and the Bruins' fourth and winning goal in 6:42 of the third period. He and his fellow defenseman, Des Smith, took the puck in for a shot by Jackson. Lo Presti apparently made a routine save, but after the puck dropped down his shinguard to the ice it took a sinful bounce into the cage. Sammy made a frantic dive to grab the rubber, but couldn't quite make it.

Halfway thru the third period Harvey Jackson drew the only penalty of the game and the Hawks really went to work in the Boston defense zone. After some jamming around Brimsek, Max Bentley found a tiny opening between Brimsek's legs and the goal post and forthwith netted his second goal. Mush March and Doug Bentley earned assists and the time was 10:45. The play was about even after the Hawks' final goal.

Thursday night in the Stadium the Hawks will meet the league's new fifth placers, the Brooklyn Americans.

Davis, Joyce Meet Tonight at Marigold

Willie Joyce, Gary lightweight, who was beaten by Sammy Secreet, Cannonsburg, Pa., welterweight, in a handicap match a few weeks ago, will return to his own weight class in a 10 round bout against Bill Davis of Minersville, Pa., in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

Since Davis is unbeaten in three previous Chicago appearances and has scored five consecutive victories, Joyce is expected to encounter considerable opposition this evening. Bill's previous victims in this city include George Nyberg, Port Arthur, Ont., junior welterweight, who recently upset Secreet.

Despite his failure against Secreet, Joyce may score a victory over Davis, simply because his record prior to the embarrassment by Sammy is superior to that possessed by the aggressive fighter from Minersville. In 1941 he knocked out Ted Christie, fought to a draw decision with Aldo Spoldi, and defeated Quentin [Babe] Breese, Leonard Bennett, and Harvey Dubs.

Jimmy Crow, Danville, vs. Danny Villa [5], 150.
Jerry Hoffman, Milwaukee, vs. Willie Jones [4], 135.
Luther Brent vs. William Morton [4], 160.

VOTE EXPANSION IN PROGRAM OF SANDLOT BALL

Spurred by President Roosevelt's appeal to continue baseball on the same scale as in peacetime, the board of commissioners of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress yesterday unanimously approved plans to expand the sandlot program.

The board followed up the vote for expansion by polling approval of the enlistment of approximately 500,000 persons into sandlot baseball.

Board members estimated 70,000 clubs representing three divisions — army, industrial, and town—would start play simultaneously on May 3. Ten state umpire association charters were approved and a proposal to accept 2,000 individual applications for the 1942 season were accepted. The board ruled each application must be approved by the umpire organization in the applicant's area.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18 (AP).—The Brooklyn Americans took fifth place in the National Hockey league by dislodging the Detroit Red Wings with a 5 to 3 victory before 7,847 in an afternoon game today. It was Brooklyn's first victory on Detroit ice in two years.

The Americans made three goals in the second period to gain an insurmountable margin, altho Detroit attacked almost constantly in the last period. Harry Watson scored two goals to lead the Brooklyn surge, and Rookie Joe Krol and Defensemen Wilf Field and Tommy Anderson bagged the others. Murray Armstrong drew three assists.

Mud Bruneteau put Detroit in front in the first period with the first of his two goals, but Watson tied it up less than half a minute later and Brooklyn made sure of victory in the second period. The other Detroit goal was produced by Don Grosso.

FORT SHERIDAN RECRUIT WANTS A GOLDEN GLOVE

He's a Tough Lightweight Named McClintock.

Jack McClintock, from the recruit reception center, Fort Sheridan, Ill., wants a Golden Glove before he takes off for a foreign shore. McClintock is an agressive, hard hitting lightweight and you'll see him in the tournament at Loyola university next week.

Jack is an open division boxer and if he wins the north sectional title in the bouts at Loyola Jan. 28, 29, and 30 he'll be eligible to fight the lightweight champion from the south side tournament, which opens in the St. Sabina gymnasium Jan. 26. This battle for a Chicago title, and 15 others, will be held Feb. 12 in the Coliseum. This one night program matches the eight novice champions of the north and the south and the eight open division champions of the same sections.

CYO Examinations Tonight.

Tonight the CYO boxers will report for physical examinations in the CYO gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. The hours are from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. All experienced boxers, as well as novices, must report.

Entries for this year's Chicago tournaments will close at midnight Wednesday. The last physical examination will be held Friday night. Nearly 500 boys already have been assigned to the physical examination tomorrow night at Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street.

Wednesday Is Deadline.

If a CYO boxer cannot appear tonight he is eligible for either examination at Trafton's. This applies to boys assigned tomorrow night, for they can appear Friday if they wish. But a preliminary examination must be taken and a parental consent card filed with the clerks before an entry is accepted.

Most important Golden Gloves fact is that the deadline for filing an entry is Wednesday.

5 Titles Open in IAC 2 Night Ring Tourney

At least five new champions will be crowned tomorrow and Wednesday in the 11th Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing tournament in IAC gymnasium, 112 South Michigan avenue.

Hezzie Williams, light heavyweight, and Robert Earl, lightweight, vacated their 1941 titles when they turned professional, while Clayton Worlds, heavyweight title holder, has withdrawn because of illness.

The other winners of last year are Harold Dade, 112; Bertrand White, 118, and Ray Brown, 126, all members of the Catholic Youth organization. Whether they will compete in the 1942 event will be made known today.

Ray Murray is the organization's representative in the flyweight division and Jack McBurnie will be the CYO standard bearer in the bantamweight class.

Derrill McManis, 21 year old student at Eastern State Teachers college in Charleston, Ill., will try for the featherweight championship. Bob Winter of the Evanston YMCA will be among the welterweight contenders and Bill Sietman of the Northwest gymnasium will be included in the light heavyweight class.

WOOD, WALSH WIN 4-BALL GOLF FOR RED CROSS

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP).—Four masters of golf played the Normandy Isle course here today in a 4-ball exhibition which netted the American Red Cross more than $2,000. Craig Wood, National Open champion, resident professional at the city owned links, and his assistant, Frank Walsh, won, 5 and 4, over Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour.

The best ball score was 66 and Wood had the best individual score of 71. Walsh and Armour each made the round in 72, and Sarazen, his feet miserable in a pair of borrowed shoes, ran up a 75.

Nobody minded when the game was interrupted during the first nine holes while Al Jolson, referee, auctioned off the half dozen balls with which birdies were scored. They brought from $5 to $45 each, the top price being paid by J. W. Olsen, Chicago rug manufacturer, for a pellet Wood sank in three shots on the third.

Illini Defend Lead Tonight; Oppose Iowa

two years ago, there scarcely is any chance for repetition of the upset.

Northwestern and Iowa now are tied for fourth place, but Indiana university has practically the same berth since the Hoosiers have been beaten only twice. Indiana also does not play this evening because of examinations.

N. U. Hopes at Stake.

Art Mathisen of Illinois, 6 foot 5 inch center, and Milt Kuhl of Iowa, 6 feet 6 inches tall, will be rival centers again tonight. Last year Mathisen scored 19 points against Kuhl's 18 when the Illini beat the Hawkeyes on the Illinois floor. Kuhl counted 15 points against Ohio State Saturday. Iowa will have an advantage in experience with only one sophomore, Jim Youel, on a traveling squad of 13, while eight of the first 12 Illini are sophomores.

The Wildcats play in Columbus, O., and they must beat the Buckeyes tonight to have the slightest hope of winning the title. While Illinois probably can not continue its string of victories indefinitely, no team is likely to share in the championship with a record of more than three defeats. Defeat by Ohio State tonight would be the third consecutive loss for Northwestern.

Lead Badger Comeback.

Wisconsin has its chance tonight to pull up to a 50-50 rating. The defending Big 10 champions entertain Michigan in Madison and victory will give the Badgers three games won against defeats by Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa. Wisconsin was handicapped in early games by injuries and for a time Coach Bud Foster had to use 5 foot 10 inch players to defend under the backboard.

When Bud Hasse, who played against Wisconsin for the first time since the opening game, reaches peak condition the Wildcat five may get back into the winning column. At this time the trio of centers—Don Clawson, Ted Esser, and Ray Vincent—lack championship skill in ball handling. Don Kruger, a capable guard, is not a good shot. Thus, the burden of attack falls on Russ Wendland, who got nine field goals against the Badgers, and on Clason and Otto Graham.

Northwestern continues its grueling schedule by meeting Notre Dame at South Bend Wednesday night. On Saturday night Illinois faces another threat in Minnesota.

COLLEGE COURSE PLANNED TO AID DEFENSE WORK

Will Award Degrees in Physical Education.

Institution of an accredited college course in physical education as applied to civilian defense and physical fitness was announced last night by Carl Stockholm, director of the physical fitness division of the 6th civilian defense region. The courses will be offered on both undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

The program will be conducted in two sections. Section A will be held each Thursday from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. in the Central YMCA, 19 South La Salle street. It will begin Feb. 5 and continue thru May 14.

To Meet on Saturday.

Section B will meet each Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon in George Williams college, 5315 South Drexel avenue. This course will start Feb. 7 and will continue thru May 16.

Faculty members of the physical education departments of Northwestern university, the University of Chicago, George Williams college, and the American College of Physical Education will conduct the courses and offer instruction.

The two courses are expected to play a major rôle in the 6th civilian defense region's physical fitness program, since plans now being formed for the campaign would require the services of thousands of young men and women as instructors and assistants.

Hope to Produce Manual.

It is also hoped to culminate efforts of the group in the production of a manual to serve as a guide to large scale civilian conditioning efforts.

Registrations should be made before Feb. 2 in civilian defense offices at 20 North Wacker drive, or with the secretary of George Williams college. No fee is being charged for the courses.

WILSON PACKING PROFITS NEARLY DOUBLED IN '41

Firm Earns $2.55 on Common Stock.

Sharply higher profits and sales were shown yesterday in reports to stockholders of Wilson & Co. and the General Tire and Rubber company.

Edward F. Wilson, president of the packing company, in reporting on operations for the fiscal year ended Nov. 1, 1941, said that net earnings totaled $7,047,306, equal to $2.25 a share on common stock, compared with $3,624,645, or 84 cents a share in the preceding year.

Sales rose to $371,934,184, about 33 per cent above the $280,379,364 volume of the preceding year.

Wilson said that the largest portion of the sales dollar, about 55 per cent went for the purchase of live stock, producers receiving more than 200 million dollars.

Division of Sales Dollar.

About 21 per cent of the sales dollar went for the purchase of poultry, eggs, cream, vegetable oils, and other raw materials and products. Wages and operating salaries absorbed about 7½ per cent; selling and administrative salaries 3½ per cent, and supplies, 4 per cent, leaving 9 per cent with which to pay all other operating and selling expenses, interest, taxes and dividends.

ferred stock during the year, dividends in arrears on the preferred at the close of the year were $3 a share, compared with $7.50 at the end of the 1940 year.

"Prospects for greater employment and anticipated purchases of meat for shipment overseas indicate a strong demand for meats during the current year," Wilson said.

"However, the uncertainty created by the war makes it impossible to interpret prospective supply and demand conditions in terms of probable price trends or profits for the meat industry.

Assured Increased Volume.

"Important factors that cannot be foreseen include price control measures, taxes, labor costs, and the availability of supplies for maintaining and operating our plants and branches. We are, nevertheless, assured of an increased volume. An important part of our effort is to make available to the armed forces and the civilian population of our own and allied nations increased quantities of meat products."

General Tire and Rubber company yesterday reported net profit of $1,218,568 for the year ended Nov. 30, 1941, compared with $595,916 in 1940. Earnings were equivalent to $2.05 and 86 cents a share in the respective periods.

President William O'Neil announced net sales of $37,353,021 for fiscal 1941, more than 60 per cent above 1940's sales of $23,214,314. Tires for military purposes were an important factor in 1941 sales, he said.

"We believe," O'Neil said, "that with the existing stock pile of rubber, reclaiming facilities, speeding up of synthetic production and the development of guayule as a domestic source of real rubber, there is no occasion for fear or panic."

Dealers Unite for War Bond Sale Campaign

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—Several thousand securities dealers and brokers may qualify as sales agents for defense bonds, the treasury announced today, as a result of conferences with officials of the New York Stock exchange, Investment Bankers' association, National Association of Securities Dealers, and groups of dealers in government securities.

Qualification as sales agents may be arranged thru federal reserve banks. The basic requirements are membership in an association or exchange and a $25,000 deposit with the reserve bank.

Number Placed at 3,000.

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Enlistment of the nation's securities dealers in government bond selling will add about 3,000 outlets to a sales group previously composed of the postoffices and banks, it was estimated today.

For the second time in its history the New York Stock exchange will recommend the purchase of a security. In the first World war the exchange deviated from its set policy of recommending the buying and selling of nothing but simply supplying the medium of sale. Then it recommended that Liberty bonds be bought.

"We will use every ingenuity in placing these bonds," said Emil Schram, president of the exchange, in announcing the new national patriotic effort.

As he talked he was flanked by James F. Burns Jr., president of the Association of Stock Exchange Firms; John S. Fleek of Cleveland, president of the Investment Bankers' association; H. H. Dewar of San Antonio, Tex., chairman of the National Association of Securities Dealers, and Robert L. Stott, chairman of the board of the New York Stock exchange.

Confer on Details.

The group had been busy for several days working out the plan with Washington officials.

"These organizations represent a great sales force which should be utilized in the war effort," said Schram. "This movement will represent the entire industry coöperating with a united front."

He declared the concentrated selling effort would be without compensation and undertaken simply as a patriotic duty. It was explained that the government's announcement of the plan was permissive and not a requirement.

Not all firms would become issuing agencies, it was emphasized the bonds to be sold would be those of series E, limited to $5,000 a year to each buyer. They are not negotiable.

RESERVE SYSTEM BUYING FEWER U. S. SECURITIES

The federal reserve system purchased a smaller amount of United States government securities following America's entry into the war than it bought in the first few weeks after the European war began in 1939, a survey by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago showed yesterday.

Purchases by the system to support the market in four weeks ended Dec. 31, totaled 70 million dollars, the bank reported. In the five weeks ended Dec. 27, 1939, reserve holdings of federal bonds rose 405 million dollars. dollars.

Commenting on the treasury bill market the bank said that rates at which new treasury bill issues were sold rose steadily from mid-October to the end of December, average yields on the bills going up from 0.001 per cent on bills dated Oct. 15, to a Dec. 31 figure of 0.310 per cent, the highest since 1937.

AFL Sets Billion Dollar War Bond Sales Quota

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—A billion dollar quota for purchase of defense bonds by its members and affiliated unions during 1942 has been set by the American Federation of Labor. Announcing the quota today, President William Green said that a drive would be inaugurated Feb. 22 with a joint radio appeal by Green and Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau.

Lack of Scrap Expected to Become More Acute

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18 [Special].—Already suffering from lack of suitable scrap, steel mills anticipate a growing shortage this week, the magazine Steel said today in a review of the industry. Last week's national production was placed at 96 per cent of capacity, compared with 96½ per cent the week before.

PEOPLES GAS PROXY REPORT SHOWS $76,520 PAID RANNEY FOR 1941

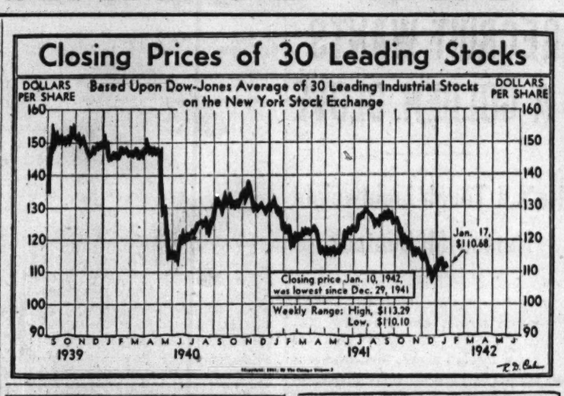
In addition, the company paid a final lump premium of $31,723 to an insurance company to provide Ranney with a retirement annuity of $6,000 a year, the maximum under the Peoples Gas service annuity plan. The company paid $18,277 in addition to provide annuities for 13 other officers covered by the plan, or a total of $50,000. Cash payments by the company to its directors and officers in 1941 amounted to $269,349.

The proxy statement showed that the present seven directors are slated for reëlection. The directors and their holdings of Peoples Gas shares at the end of 1941 follow: Sewell L. Avery, 101; Edward E. Brown, 100; Robert F. Carr, 101; Howard W. Fenton, 1; Charles B. Goodspeed, 101; Donald R. McLennan, 501, and Ranney, 2,000.

Closing Prices of 30 Leading Stocks



Price Ceilings Set on Army Uniform Wool

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—Price ceilings were established today on wool and yarn used by manufacturers in producing army O. D. serge, shirting flannel, and underwear. The Office of Price Administration said the ceilings, reflecting last Oct. 1 to 15 price levels, were designed especially to permit small manufacturers to bid on large army contracts when offers are accepted next Tuesday.

Ceilings on two grades of wool tops in domestic, foreign, and blend classes range from $1.30 to $1.44 a pound for oil combed. An increase of 2½ per cent in the maximum price was allowed in the same classifications for dry combed tops. Two types of serge yarn, one type of shirting flannel yarn and two types of underwear yarn were given ceilings ranging from $1.20 to $2.28 a pound.

Simultaneously, OPA announced ceilings on primary and secondary metallic cadmium. Maximums are 90 cents a pound, delivered to the buyers' plants, for sticks, and 95 cents for anodes and special shapes. The Office of Production Management yesterday prohibited use of cadmium, a rust preventative, in a variety of civilian articles after Feb. 1, and ordered its use stopped entirely after April 1 except in production of specified materials important in defense industries.

MOTOR DEALERS STUDY COURSE OF HARD HIT TRADE

Sixty automotive trade association managers considered problems of the hard hit industry yesterday in a closed session preparatory to the convention of the National Automobile Dealers' association which opens tomorrow. The managers will meet again today in the Palmer House, the scene of the large convention.

Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, and William S. Knudsen, war department production chief, are expected to address more than 1,200 dealers. Among other speakers will be Sen. Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia.]. On Wednesday six leading dealers will tell the convention how they intend to meet their new problems.

Strike Vote Threatens Transit Tieup in Detroit

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18 (AP).—Against the recommendations of their international officers, members of the Detroit City Employés' union [AFL] voted today to strike Friday to enforce demands for a 15 per cent wage increase. A union official, estimating that 15,000 employés would be affected, said that bus and street car service would be crippled.

Social Security Outlay Rises 25 Per Cent in Year

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP).—About 40 million workers received approximately 41 million dollars in wages taxable for Social Security purposes in 1941, representing a 5 million increase in number of workers and a 25 per cent increase in wages over 1940, Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security administrator, announced today.

OMITTED DIVIDEND.

I read a few days ago that the Brewster Aeronautical corporation decided to omit a year-end dividend. Does this action reflect lower earnings or was there another reason? What is the company's defense order backlog?—V. J.

Answer: Brewster Aeronautical corporation announced Dec. 29 no year-end dividend would be paid because it was advisable to conserve cash for working capital. Funds are needed to finance increased production, it was explained.

The company reported that about 50 million dollars in orders was received during 1941 and more were expected. At the end of last June unfilled orders were estimated to be 110 million dollars. Last month a new assembly plant at Johnsville, Pa., was completed. Mass production of a recently developed dive bomber is expected to begin by the end of this month. Other plants are in Long Island City and Newark, N. J., and an assembly and testing unit is maintained at Roosevelt field, New York.

Net profit for the four months thru last April was $752,277, or $1.46 a common share, compared with $270,195, or 59 cents a share, in the same 1940 period. Sales in the four months rose to $10,608,539 from $2,817,784 the preceding year. Earnings for years ended Dec. 31 follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1940	$10,112,301	$496,544	$ .96
1939	966,591	9,976	.02
1938	1,490,339	225,879	.66

A dividend of 30 cents was paid last July, compared with distributions of 25 cents in 1940, 20 cents in 1939, and 30 cents in 1938. Brewster's only stock is 513,911 shares of $1 par common.

NOTES AND BILLS.

What is the difference between United States treasury notes, bills, and certificates of indebtedness?—O. H. K.

Answer: Treasury notes, bills, and certificates of indebtedness are short term obligations as contrasted with long term bond issues. Notes are similar to bonds except that their maturity is between one and five years. Bills have a maturity of one year or less but do not bear interest, being discounted upon issue. Certificates are interest bearing obligations running for one year or less.

SAFEKEEPING.

Answer: The treasury department or federal reserve banks will hold defense savings bonds for safekeeping, giving the owner a receipt. There is no charge for this service.

Feast, Famine Contrasted on Big Exchanges

Two of the city's largest business institutions—the Chicago Mercantile exchange and the Board of Trade—hold their annual meetings today. One is the nation's largest market for trading in butter and egg futures; the other, the largest grain exchange.

Garrett B. Shawhan, president of the Mercantile exchange, is expected to have a far different story to tell the members than Philip R. O'Brien, president of the grain exchange, can tell the grain men.

Trade Hits Record Stride.

Last year was the second best in the 23 year history of the butter and egg market. It was probably the poorest in the 94 year history of the grain exchange.

Trading in butter, egg, and potato futures on the mercantile exchange hit a record stride early in 1941 as the United States initiated lend-lease buying to provision England. Home consumption of these products rose swiftly as the armament program got under way. Production of butter and eggs was at record levels and dealers traded heavily in the futures market as they hedged against wartime uncertainties.

Prices Above Normal.

But it was an entirely different situation on the grain exchange. Export markets had been lost, either shut off by the war or taken over by other surplus crop producing countries that could undersell the domestic grain.

Elevators and warehouses were bulging with grain carried over from other years. The government found itself with millions of bushels of wheat and corn in its possession. With the government in this position, the grain dealers found it increasingly difficult to conduct a profitable business.

CANADA PLACES WOODPULP UNDER EXPORT CONTROL

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 18 [Special].—Certain kinds of pulpwood have been added to the list of products for which export permits are required before they can be shipped from Canada, it was learned today. These include pulpwood of spruce, balsam, hemlock, jackpine or poplar, either in the form of cordwood or logs.

The measure has become necessary, it was said because of increased demand both in Canada and the United States, which has resulted in an apparent shortage. Prices have been rising and local shortages have been termed serious in some districts.

Trade and Commerce Minister James A. MacKinnon declared it was not intended to discriminate against established United States interests, normally deriving their supplies of pulpwood from Canada. As far as possible shipments to the United States will continue to bear the same relationship to the total available Canadian cut as in recent years, it was said. No action will be taken to interefere with contracts concluded prior to Jan. 15, it was understood.

Year's Copper Production Topped Only Twice Before

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18 (AP).—The United States bureau of mines today reported total mine production of recoverable copper in the United States, including Alaska, amounted to 957,394 short tons, an increase of 9 per cent over 1940. The output was one of the largest in history, being exceeded only in the peak year 1916 and the boom year 1929.

GERMANY 'WELL SUPPLIED' WITH WAR MINERALS

Allies Gain Rapidly, Survey Reveals.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Germany is "surprisingly well supplied with minerals for essential military needs," the department of interior said tonight in a special survey.

The report, prepared by Charles Will Wright of the foreign minerals division, emphasized the tasks that confront the United States in matching and overcoming the position of Germany in the production and supply of mineral raw materials vital to

"In the case of aluminum and magnesium, metals essential to the manufacture of airplanes and incendiary bombs," said the department, "Germany was out-producing the United States, Great Britain, and Canada up to 1941.

Allies Gaining Rapidly.

"By the end of 1941, it was expected that the combined aluminum output of the three allied countries would pull ahead of German dominated nations, and that the allies' 1941 figures would be nearly doubled by the end of 1942.

"In the case of magnesium, it is believed that American and British output is now equal to German production, while American output alone by 1943 will be more than four times Germany's expanded 1941 production.

"Germany is assured ample supplies of lead, zinc, and mercury for all essential needs, and controls enormous resources of iron ore, manganese, and coal capable of supporting an iron and steel industry that can compete with that of Great Britain and the United States.

Produce 44% of Pig Iron.

"Blast furnaces now within the German sphere of domination produced 44 per cent of the world's pig iron in 1940.

"Germany lacks copper, tin, tungsten, nickel, and petroleum but these deficiencies have been made up in part by substitution, reclamation, stock piling, and increased production mostly from submarginal deposits."

There is no immediate prospect of a collapse of the German military machine because of shortages of any of these minerals, the report concluded.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR!

PEARL HARBOR, on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, saw the worst disaster that has ever befallen the American navy. Lulled by a false sense of security, the Pacific fleet lay at its peacetime anchorage when swarms of Japanese planes appeared suddenly in the sky. Submarines struck at the same time. The defense forces were taken completely by surprise, and in the ensuing engagement the ships fought with virtually no air protection, since most of the American planes were destroyed on the ground. Against these odds, the sailors and marines rushed to their posts and made their resistance an epic of heroism. Aboard the great battleship Arizona, shown in flames in the center of the picture, they stuck to their guns as long as they could keep them firing. Men thrown into the water by detonation of bombs climbed to other ships and kept on fighting. Ensigns, a few months out of Annapolis, took destroyers to sea and fought them. Working craft of the fleet braved bombs and machine gun strafing to rescue hundreds of men from damaged vessels. The American toll was high, totaling 2,897 killed, 879 wounded, and 22 missing in the army and navy, but the attackers did not escape unscathed. Our navy and the army accounted for 41 Japanese planes and three submarines.
